REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS

In submitting their sixth annual report, the Commissioners of the Civil Service regret to find that the deplorable European war, which has involved Canada as a part of the British Empire, may interfere with the anticipated completion of the measures before Parliament for the much needed improvement of conditions in the Civil Service.

As partially indicated in previous reports, a number of defects, anomalies and omissions in the present Civil Service Acts have been revealed in practical operation, and which urgently call for adequate remedy. With this object in view, two Acts were introduced at the close of the last session of Parliament, which were expected to be dealt with during the coming session. It will be quite unfortunate should the urgency of matters connected with the war prevent these measures from being dealt with.

It is needless to enumerate the increasing difficulties which have been encountered in attempting to meet the requirements of the departments for the various qualifications now called for in the Dominion Service. Numerous practical difficulties in the operation of the Civil Service Acts, which could hardly be anticipated in advance, have entailed increasing friction through the expansion of the Inside Service of late years. Many of these defects are indicated in the sections of the new Bills, which were intended to remove, or at least mitigate them, though the proper application of the remedy is as essential to success as its provision.

The body of the report contains the usual detailed information as to the results of the year's operations, more particularly in the Inside Service. There is presented in tabular form the range and character of the regular examinations held at the various centres throughout the country; also the outcome of the various special and general examinations, whether competitive or merely qualifying. The resulting appointments of the successful candidates in the various grades are also given and the numerous temporary employments. Other tables designate the persons appointed to special positions as the result of individual nominations, accompanied by certificates of qualification from the Commission. Lastly, come the promotions in the Inside Service, which have been made within the year.

The significance of some of these returns may be briefly summarized as follows. During the past year, a total of 3,979 persons went up for Civil Service examinations. Of these, 1,914 were seeking to qualify for positions in the Outside Service, while 2,010 were candidates for positions in the Inside Service. There were 44 applicants for special sessional appointments in the House of Commons, and 11 sought to qualify as naval cadets.

Of those writing on the Outside Service examinations, 1,485 took the lower or preliminary examination, while 427 took the higher or qualifying examination. Of the 1,485 candidates taking the preliminary examination, 1,063 were successful, being 71½ per cent; while of 427 who took the higher or qualifying examination, 187 were successful, being 43¾ per cent. Three years ago these numbers compared as follows: Candidates for the preliminary examination, 479; for the qualifying examination, 608. The striking transfer from the higher to the lower examination in the Outside Service is due to the fact that recent legislation has greatly lowered the standard of qualification for positions in the Outside Postal Service. Clerical positions in the Outside Postal Service, which formerly required the minimum standard of the qualifying examination, since the passing of the Post Office Amendment Act of 1912, may be filled with the minimum standard of the preliminary examination, which, in the case of railway mail clerks, is valid for a salary up to $1,000. As a result, higher salaries can now be obtained in the Outside Service on the basis of this elementary examination than can be obtained in the Inside Service by the limited number who, under a competitive test, stand at the head of the Third Division list. This will explain why the number of candidates for the lower grade examination has increased over 300 per cent in the past three years while those for the qualifying examination have decreased about 50 per cent. Further, permanent appointments to the Outside Service do not require to be made in the order of merit. Hence, with a list of 1,063 successful candidates as the result of the preliminary examination, the relative standing in the examination plays but a minor part in the selection of those who may be appointed to positions in the Outside Service. As a matter of fact, most of the positions in the Outside Service are filled under the usual terms of the patronage system, and those who are temporarily appointed, on securing a place on the qualified list, are confirmed in their positions.

Of those writing on the examinations for the Inside Service, 102 were candidates for the lower grade positions of messenger, sorter, packer, etc. There were 746 candidates for the Third Division, and 221 for the Second Division. There were 687 candidates for various special positions which were advertised from time to time.

Of the Inside Service examinations for original appointment, the lower grade test is the only one which is not competitive, but merely of a qualifying character. Those appointed to this grade thus come under much the same conditions of patronage as the general appointments to the Outside Service. In consequence, the usual process is followed of selecting persons for appointment before examination, instead of taking them from the regular list of qualified candidates. Indeed, so few are now selected from the general lists that the Commission has found it inadvisable to continue to hold two regular semi-annual examinations for this grade. This would involve collecting examination fees from numerous candidates, who, on successfully passing the examination, would wait in vain for appointments, and, as experience proves, would continue to reproach the Commission for its inability to find positions for them. During the past year there were 102 candidates at the only lower grade examination, which was held in May, 1914. Of these, 67 were successful, but only 9 received appointments, whether permanent or temporary. At the same time, 57 special lower grade examinations were required to be held during the year, to test the qualification of 129 persons specially nominated for lower grade positions. Altogether, during the year, 146 specially nominated candidates received appointments, 81 in a permanent and 65 in a temporary capacity.

All other examinations for appointment to the Inside Service are on a competitive basis. The regular semi-annual examinations for the Third and Second Division were held in November and May. There were 230 vacancies advertised in the Third Division and, for these, 746 candidates went up for examination, 536 being women and 210 men. Of these, 71 men and 162 women were declared to be successful. As usual, owing to the low standard of salary, namely, $500, offered in the Third Division, only 64 qualified men could be secured to fill 120 vacancies as general clerks. At the same time, considerably more women were qualified than the 20 called for by the departments. As a result, 42 additional women were taken instead of the corresponding number of men. For 110 positions as stenographers, there were 107 successful candidates, but only 7 of these were men. In May last only 3 qualified male stenographers could be obtained for 20 vacancies advertised. Here also, the small number of qualified candidates applying is due to the fact that, under the existing Act, as interpreted by the Department of Justice, the Commission is authorized to advertise only the minimum of $500 as the initial salary. Nevertheless, for the three qualified men obtained under these conditions, Orders in Council were passed authorizing the payment, under section 33 of the Act, of initial salaries at the rate of $800 per annum, which is the regular salary of the Second Division. Undoubtedly, if the Commission had been authorized to offer an advance of 60 per cent on the standard salary, a much larger number of qualified candidates would have applied. This is merely one of the numerous anomalies requiring to be remedied under a new Civil Service Act.

In the Second Division examinations, 197 male candidates wrote in competition for 100 vacancies, and the required number of successful candidates was obtained. The fact that the Commission has always been much more successful in securing the required number of Second Division clerks than in the case of the Third Division clerks, is sufficient evidence that it is not the difficulty of the examination which discourages the candidates, but the low salary which is offered. The higher initial salary of the Second Division grade pretty successfully overcomes the much higher standard of educational qualification required for that grade of the Service.

Although no women were asked for in the Second Division grade, yet the regulation which permits those women who attain the Second Division standard to take positions in the Third Division, induced 17 women to successfully pass the Second Division examination. Of these, 15 have been appointed to the Third Division, while 1 secured a technical position in the Second Division under a subsequent special competition.

The annual examination for cadets for the Naval College at Halifax took place in May, 1914, and 10 candidates were declared successful.

During the year 30 competitions were held for special positions, chiefly of a technical nature, such as engineers, chemists, geologists, draughtsmen, translators, accountants, or other positions the qualifications for which were not covered by the regular Second Division examination. In a few cases, in the first instance, no suitable candidates were found. Such positions were either re-advertised or otherwise provided for. Altogether 50 persons were appointed to special positions in the Service as the result of open competition. Of these, 3 were appointed to positions graded in III B, 30 in II B, 14 in II A, 2 in I B, and 1 in I A. On the other hand, 37 persons were appointed to special positions as the result of nomination by the departments, without competitive selection. Of these, 18 were placed in II B, 10 in II A, 2 in I B, and 7 in I A. The fact that the majority of the higher grade special positions were filled by open competition and not by individual nomination, indicates that the effective pressure for appointments, under personal or political patronage, is not so great in the higher as in the lower grades of the Service.

During the past year there has been a still further increase in the number of temporary clerks employed by the various departments. Temporary employment, as contemplated by the Civil Service Act, is supposed to last only during a special pressure of work. In the great majority of cases, however, an appointment for temporary service once secured is retained to the full limit of the six months allowed under the Act; and constant efforts are made to have it extended beyond that time in spite of the legal limitation. One result is that quite a number of temporary employees manage to get their employment extended under the form of lower grade appointments, there being no time limit set for temporary employment in this grade. The rate of remuneration is precisely the same for the lower grades as for the clerical work of the Third Division. During the past year, no less than 429 temporary appointments were made to the Third Division. The majority of these ran to the limit of six months, while many of them were extended into the following fiscal year for another six months.

The total number of promotions during the year has amounted to 274. For these certificates of qualification were issued, while in 39 cases certificates were withheld. The promotions were distributed among the grades of the Service as follows:—

From	III B	to	III A	110
"	III B	"	II B	1
"	III A	"	II B	10
"	II B	"	II A	56
"	II B	"	I B	2
"	II A	"	I B	69
"	I B	"	I A	26

Although it has been found impossible to secure a general amendment to the Civil Service Act providing for higher initial salaries for entrance to the Service in the Third and Second Divisions, it is noteworthy that for the last five years a steadily increasing number of promotions has been made. In consequence the higher grades of the Service have been increased out of all proportion to the lower grades, on the basis of the relations existing in 1909-10. This has been chiefly due to the fact that comparatively few promotions have been made owing to the filling of vacancies in the higher grades, due to death or resignation. The great majority of promotions are proposed in order to increase the status and salary of certain persons without any specific change in the nature of the duties performed. In certain branches of the Service, however, an increasing volume of technical or scientific work to be done has accounted for a considerable increase in the number of higher positions provided for in those sections. These positions have been filled either directly from without, or after a limited probation in a lower grade. At the same time, most of the recruits to the Service, naturally, enter in the subdivisions of III B and II B. A survey of the records of the Service indicates that during the past six years, while the two highest grades of I A and I B have been increased from fifty to several hundred per cent, few of the departments show an increase in the grades of III B or II B. Indeed several of them show a very great decrease in these grades. The obvious tendency of this process is to create an army of superior officers while actually diminishing the numbers of the rank and file. The process can hardly be justified on the basis of the increased cost of living, because that is no respecter of persons, while the system of promotion works out quite unevenly as regards the increased salaries of individuals. The most important consideration, however, is that, so long as the entrance grades to the Service are maintained at too low a level of remuneration to attract the best available class of clerks, neither economy nor efficiency is promoted by the subsequent increase of salaries. In other words, a higher salary later in the career of a Civil Servant cannot possibly remedy the mistake of a defective system of recruiting the Service. While the recruiting of the Service on a competitive basis has greatly improved the system of selection, there must also be an adequate inducement for young men of good quality to enter the Service, especially in the Second Division, from which the higher positions are to be filled. In the case of the Third Division it is largely a question of getting enough male clerks for the work to be performed.

In conclusion, the Commissioners have much pleasure in reporting that the members of the staff have given entire satisfaction in the discharge of their duties.

M. G. LAROCHELLE,

APPENDIX

THE REGULATIONS OF THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION WITH REFERENCE TO ENTRANCE TO THE SERVICE AND PROMOTION IN THE SERVICE.

(Approved by His Excellency the Governor General in Council, on the 22nd day of February, 1911.)

In accordance with section 10, clause 2 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, requiring that the duties of the Civil Service Commission "shall be performed in accordance with regulations made by the Commission, and approved by the Governor in Council," the following regulations have been prepared by the Commission:—

EXAMINATIONS FOR ENTRANCE TO THE INSIDE SERVICE.

1. In order to comply with section 13 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, which states that "except as herein otherwise provided, appointment to positions in the Inside Service under that of deputy head shall be by competitive examination, which shall be of such a nature as will determine the qualifications of candidates for the particular positions to which they are to be appointed, and shall be held by the Commission from time to time in accordance with the regulations made by it and approved by the Governor in Council," the Commission will provide for general competitive examinations for entrance to the following divisions and subdivisions of the Inside Service:—

(a) Clerks for Subdivision B of the Third Division.

(b) Clerks for Subdivision B of the Second Division.

2. In accordance with section 15 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the number of competitors to be selected, for appointment to the Service, from those taking the examinations for the above divisions, shall be computed by the Commission on the basis of the reports from the several departments as to their probable requirements for the ensuing six months.

3. The general competitive examinations shall be held twice a year, in the months of May and November. Forms on which applications for these examinations shall be made will be provided by the Commission, and may be had on application to the Secretary of the Commission. Where not less than three candidates make application to take an examination at the same place, general competitive examinations shall be held at the following places: Sydney, Halifax, Yarmouth, Charlottetown, St. John, Fredericton, Moncton, Quebec, Sherbrooke, Montreal, Ottawa, Kingston, Hamilton, Toronto, London, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary, Edmonton, Nelson, Vancouver and Victoria. Examinations may also be held at such other places as may be selected by the Commission for the convenience of candidates applying for examination.

(2) Where competitive examinations are required involving technical or scientific subjects and necessitating the use of the scientific apparatus, it shall not be necessary to hold such examinations at each of the above places, but the Commission shall, as far as possible, arrange for at least one place in each province where such examinations may be taken.

4. Any examination may be taken in the English or French language, at the option of the candidate.

5. A general examination for messengers, porters, sorters and packers shall be held annually in the month of May, at the same places as the general examinations for the Third and Second Divisions, and shall include the following subjects of the ordinary public school standard: Writing, spelling and the first four rules of arithmetic. The minimum percentage of qualification shall be fifty per cent on each subject and sixty per cent on the whole examination.

6. Where messengers, porters, sorters and packers require certificates of qualification and fitness under section 22 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the Commission may require any or all of these to pass an examination which shall be as nearly as may be of the same standard as that set for those who take the general examination for entering that grade of the Service.

7. The general competitive examination for clerkships of Subdivision B of the Third Division shall include the following subjects: Writing and copying manuscripts, spelling, composition, arithmetic, geography, history, typewriting. The maximum number of marks for each subject shall be one hundred, except in the subjects of writing and copying manuscripts, for each of which the maximum number shall be fifty marks. No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in the Third Division who secures less than fifty per cent of the marks assigned to the subjects of spelling, composition and arithmetic and sixty per cent of the marks assigned to the whole examination. The standard of examination shall require a good general knowledge of the above subjects.

8. Candidates may take, in addition to the foregoing subjects, either or both of the subjects of stenography and book-keeping. Where candidates obtain over sixty per cent of the marks assigned to either or both of these subjects, the marks above sixty per cent may be added to the total of the marks obtained on the compulsory subjects in determining the relative standing of the candidates in the general examination.

9. Persons employed in the Civil Service, in the Third Division, may take the competitive examination for entrance to the Second Division under the following regulations:—

(1) Such persons must have passed the Third Division Examination at least one year before competing in such examination; also their records in the reports to be furnished under the Civil Service Amendment Act must be good.

(2) In cases of failure in such examination any person so failing shall not compete again within a year.

(3) Persons so failing may, if their records for conduct continue good, present themselves for examination a third time, but in case of failing a third time they shall not again be allowed to take the said examination.

10. To insure the availability of a sufficient number of competent typewriters and stenographers, the Commission may appoint a special competitive examination for typewriters and stenographers, for Subdivision B of the Third Division, which shall include the following subjects:—Typewriting, stenography, writing and copying manuscripts, spelling and composition. Successful candidates must obtain at least fifty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject and sixty per cent of the marks assigned to the whole examination.

(2) Where a sufficient number of typewriters and stenographers are not available among those who have taken the full examination for Subdivision B of the Third Division, the requirements of the departments may be supplied by appointing, in order of merit, those who have taken the special examination for typewriters and stenographers.

(3) No one appointed as the result of such special examination shall be considered as eligible for promotion to Subdivision A of the Third Division who has not subsequently qualified in the additional subjects of arithmetic, history and geography, as required for the regular examination for entrance to the Third Division.

11. Where candidates for employment as temporary clerks require certificates of qualification and fitness under section 23 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, the Commission may require any or all of these to pass an examination which shall be as nearly as may be of the same standard as that set for those who take the general examination for entering that grade of the service.

12. Candidates for the general competitive examination for clerkships of Subdivision B of the Second Division shall take all the subjects in group A of the following list, and any five in group B:—

Group A.—Writing, Spelling, Composition, Literature, Arithmetic.

Group B.—Algebra, Geometry, Physics, Chemistry, Geology (including mineralogy), Biology (animal and vegetable), French (for those taking the general examination in English), English (for those taking the general examination in French), Latin, German, History (modern), Political Science, Economics, Geography (general, physical and commercial), Philosophy (scholastic or general), Law (English or Civil).

(2) The maximum number of marks for each subject shall be one hundred, except in the subject of writing, for which the maximum number shall be fifty marks.

(3) No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in Subdivision B of the Second Division who secures less than forty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject in group A, and sixty per cent of the marks assigned to the whole group.

(4) No candidate shall be selected for appointment to a position in Subdivision B of the Second Division who secures less than thirty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject in group B, and forty per cent of the marks assigned to the five subjects selected.

(5) The standard of examination shall require a good general knowledge of the subjects selected from the above groups. In order that due regard may be had to the different educational systems in Canada, a curriculum shall be prepared by the Commission showing, with as much detail as possible, the ground to be covered under each of the subjects in the above groups A and B. A copy of this curriculum shall be supplied to any person on making application to the Secretary of the Commission.

13. Candidates may take, in addition to the foregoing subjects, any or all of the subjects of typewriting, stenography, and book-keeping. Where candidates obtain over sixty per cent of the marks assigned to any one or more of these subjects, the marks above sixty per cent may be added to the total of the marks obtained on the whole examination in determining the relative standing of the candidates.

14. Where the deputy head of a department applies to the Commission for a nomination to a clerkship in Subdivision B of the Third Division requiring special qualifications not covered by the general examination for that division, or for a nomination to a clerkship in Subdivision B of the Second Division requiring special qualifications in technical or scientific subjects, a special competitive examination may be provided by the Commission, instead of the general competitive examinations for either of these subdivisions. The subjects for such special examination shall be arranged between the Commission and the deputy head of such department.

15. Where the deputy head of a department applies to the Commission for a nomination to a position above that of Subdivision B of the Second Division, which requires to be filled by appointment from without the Service, the Commission shall, after consulting with the deputy head of the department in which the appointment is to be made, provide a special competitive examination or test, which may or may not involve written answers to questions, but which shall be of such a nature as to secure a person well qualified for the position to be so filled. In determining the qualifications of candidates for such positions, the examination or test shall have special reference to executive ability and tact, such special or professional training as may be required, and a successful experience in duties similar to those pertaining to the positions to be filled.

16. Where the appointment is one which is to be made under section 21 of the Civil Service Amendment Act inasmuch as the person to be appointed requires to obtain from the Commission a certificate that he possesses the requisite knowledge and ability, the Commission, with the consent and co-operation of the head and deputy head of the department in which the appointment is to be made, may arrange a form of examination or test, by which to determine whether the person is qualified. On satisfying the Commission that he is duly qualified, such person will receive the certificate of the Commission.

17. When the selection is made by the head and deputy head of the department without reference to the Commission, the Commission may make such inquiries and appoint such an examination or test to determine the qualifications of the persons so nominated as it may deem necessary for an intelligent and responsible discharge of its duties.

PROMOTIONS IN THE INSIDE SERVICE.

18. A candidate who is recommended by the head of a department for promotion, other than from the Third to the Second Division, in order to receive the prescribed certificate of qualification, must satisfy the Commission of his ability to perform the duties of the position to which he is to be promoted. For this purpose the Commission, if it considers an examination necessary, may, after consultation with the deputy head of the department in which the promotion is to take place, prescribe a promotion examination, having regard to the requirements of the subdivision to which the promotion is to be made, and the special duties of the position to be filled.

19. Where there are two or more persons in the employment of a department who are eligible for promotion to any vacant position, the Commission may, at the request of the head of the department, provide a competitive promotion examination limited to those who are declared eligible for promotion. Such an examination shall have regard to the requirements of the subdivision to which the promotion is to be made, and the special duties of the position to be filled. Upon the results of this examination, if satisfactory, the Commission shall issue the required certificate of qualification.

20. Candidates, who, under subsection 2 of section 26 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, 1908, are nominated by the head of a department for promotion from the Third to the Second Division must, in order to receive the prescribed certificate of qualification, satisfy the Commission that they are entitled to enter the Second Division. To this end, the Commission, after consultation with the head or deputy head of the department in which the promotion is proposed, shall prescribe a non-competitive promotion examination which, while having special reference to the requirements of the positions to be filled, shall nevertheless insure a qualification substantially equivalent to that required in the open competitive examination for entrance to the Second Division. Such non-competitive promotion examination shall include all of the subjects in group A under regulation 12, any three of the subjects in group B under regulation 12, and two papers on the work of the department in which the candidate for promotion is engaged. The minimum percentages required for passing on the subjects included in group A shall be not less than forty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject and sixty per cent of the marks assigned to the whole group. The minimum percentages required for passing on the subjects selected from group B shall be not less than thirty per cent of the marks assigned to each subject and forty per cent of the marks assigned to the three subjects, also that candidates must obtain at least fifty per cent on each of the papers on the work of the departments in which they are engaged. In the case of a candidate who does not obtain the minimum of forty per cent, assigned to the three subjects selected from group B, but who obtains an excess of marks above the minimum percentage required on each of the papers on the work of the department, such excess shall be added to the marks obtained by him on the subject selected from group B for the purpose of estimating his percentage on the whole group. Where a candidate, who has obtained the aggregate marks required on the promotion examination, fails in one subject only, not being one of the papers on the work of the department, such candidate may, on the recommendation of the deputy head of the department, complete the examination by writing on that subject alone at the ensuing examination. The minimum standard required on such subject shall be fifty per cent if the subject is in group A, and thirty per cent if the subject is in group B.

21. All general competitive examinations for entrance to the Service shall be advertised in the Canada Gazette at least four weeks before the examinations are to take place. Special competitive examinations shall be advertised in the Canada Gazette at least two weeks before the examinations are to take place. Such advertisements shall state the number of positions to be competed for, the conditions to be complied with by the competitors, the subjects to be covered by any special examinations, and the places at which the examinations may be held.

22. Within one month after the publication of the results of a Civil Service examination any candidate who considers that his answer papers have not been correctly valued, may make application to the Commission to have his papers re-read. Such application must be accompanied by a fee of $3 in the case of the Third Division or lower examinations, and $5 in the case of the Second Division or higher examinations. In cases where the appeal is sustained the fee will be returned.

2. The answer papers of all candidates at any Civil Service examination, after being valued by the examiners, shall be retained by the Commission for a period of six months from the date of publishing the results, and at the end of that period they shall be destroyed.

23. Every successful candidate, before receiving a permanent appointment to the Inside Service, must furnish the Commission with a certificate of good health, which shall be filled out on standard forms to be furnished by the Commission.

(2) There shall be appointed by the Governor General in Council in each place where an examination is held one or more medical examiners, from whom such certificates shall be obtained.

(3) The fees for the health certificate shall be:—For messengers, porters, sorters, packers, and for temporary clerks, two dollars ($2); for clerks of the Third Division, three dollars ($3); for clerks of the First and Second Divisions, five dollars ($5).

24. Every successful candidate, before receiving an appointment to the Inside Service, must furnish the Commission with references to at least three reputable persons who may be able to give adequate information as to the candidate's character and habits.

25. The following shall be the schedule of fees to be paid by the candidates at the several examinations held under the direction of the Commission:—

Examination for lower grade positions, a fee of	$ 2 00
Examinations for clerkships in Subdivision B of the Third Division, a fee of	4 00
Examinations for clerkships in Subdivision B of the Second Division, a fee of	8 00
Extra examinations which may be authorized from time to time for positions requiring special qualifications, a fee of	8 00
Promotion examinations:—
In the Third Division	2 00
To the Second Division	3 00
In the Second Division	4 00
For higher divisions	5 00

(2) No fee shall be required for the privilege of taking optional subjects.

(3) The fees for the regular Third and Second Division examinations, for lower grade examinations, and for any special examinations, shall be payable by the candidates when making appliction for examination. Should any candidate, after making application and paying the required fee, be unable to write on the examination, one half the fee may be returned.

26. Copies of the reports of the "conduct and efficiency of all officers, clerks and employees below the First Division" which, in accordance with section 40 of the Civil Service Amendment Act, are required to be made in each department, shall be furnished to the Commission by the deputy heads of the various departments every three months.

(2) To insure uniformity these reports shall be made out on forms prepared by the Commission which may be procured by the departments upon requisition to the Government Stationery Office.

27. The Secretary of the Treasury Board shall notify the Commission of all changes which take place in the organization of the offices in the several departments in the Inside Service, whether these changes result from the creation of new offices, the division or combination of existing offices, or the abolition of offices; also of all changes in the personnel of the officers holding respective offices in the several departments in the Inside Service, whether these changes result from original appointment promotion, transfer, death, resignation or dismissal.

28. The Commission shall select examiners duly qualified to prepare the necessary examination papers and to value the answers of the candidates, in connection with the general and special examinations provided for in the Civil Service Acts and in these regulations.

(2) Each of the examination papers for the First and Second Divisions of the Inside Service shall be prepared and the answers valued by two examiners.

(3) In the case of promotion examinations, and of special or technical examinations for the First and Second Divisions, as far as possible one of the two examiners shall be selected from within the department in which the appointment is to be made, and the other from without.

29. Examiners for the Inside Service shall be paid in accordance with the following scale of fees:—

To each examiner for setting a paper for the general competitive examinations for the First and Second Divisions. . . .	$15 00
Where the examination is one of a special or technical character for the First or Second Division of the Inside Service, and where not more than five candidates are taking the same examination, each examiner shall be allowed $20.00 for setting the paper and valuing the answers.
To each examiner for setting a paper for the Third Division examinations.	10 00
To each examiner for setting paper for the lower grade examinations.	5 00
To each presiding examiner at the various centres where the examinations are held:—
Per day.	10 00
Per half day.	5 00
Where the number of candidates at any centre exceeds twenty-five, an assistant examiner may be appointed for such additional number up to twenty-five, and other additional assistants may be appointed in like proportion, where the number of candidates exceeds fifty.

To each assistant to the presiding examiner:—

Per day	$5 00
Per half day	3 00

For valuing the answers in the case of the general competitive examinations, the compensation shall be as follows:—

For each paper in the examinations for the First or Second Divisions	0 50
For each paper in the examinations for the Third Division	0 20
For each paper in the examinations for the lower grades	0 10

OUTSIDE SERVICE EXAMINATIONS.

The Preliminary and Qualifying Examinations prescribed by the Civil Service Act for the Outside Division of the Civil Service shall be held semi-annually at the same times and places as the examinations for the Inside Division of the Civil Service, and shall be conducted in like manner and governed in all respects by the rules and regulations prescribed for the examinations for the Inside Service, with the following exceptions, viz.:—

(1) The Preliminary Examination shall include the following subjects of the ordinary public school standard: Writing, spelling, and the first four rules of arithmetic. The maximum number of marks in each subject shall be one hundred. The minimum percentage for qualification shall be forty per cent in each subject and fifty per cent on the whole examination.

(2) The Qualifying Examination shall include the following subjects: Writing and copying manuscripts, spelling (including dictation), arithmetic, geography, history, and composition. The maximum number of marks for each subject shall be one hundred, excepting in the subjects of writing and copying manuscripts, for each of which the maximum number shall be fifty marks. The minimum percentage for qualification shall be forty per cent in each subject and fifty per cent on the whole examination. The standard of examination shall require a good general knowledge of the above subjects.

(3) Candidates in the Qualifying Examination who fail in one subject only but who make the required aggregate of fifty per cent, or three hundred marks, may come up for the subject in which they failed at the next examination, but not afterwards, and the marks made in the other subjects at the previous examination will be allowed them, but candidates failing in more than one subject, or in the aggregate, if they come up for examination again, must take all the subjects.

(4) Every successful candidate at the Preliminary or Qualifying Examination will receive a certificate from the Commission.

EXAMINATION PAPERS

(A) REGULAR EXAMINATIONS.

(1) Preliminary Examination for the Outside Service, November, 1913.

WRITING.

Time: 30 minutes.

Value—100.

Copy the following extract:—

One of the chief differences between the great rivers of the United States and those of Canada is found in the fact that while the Mississippi, the Missouri and the Ohio are navigable for thousands of miles, and have, therefore, little water-power, the St. Lawrence and its tributaries, and in fact all the great rivers of Canada, east and west, are interrupted by rapids, chutes and cataracts, affording a great variety, quantity and quality of water-power.

From the Straits of Belle Isle to Montreal, and thence ascending the St. Lawrence, the tributaries of the St. Lawrence and of the Ottawa descend, through the Laurentian region, from elevations of from 1,000 to 1,800 feet above tide. In many cases they bring their principal cataracts very near their outfall, notably in the case of the famous Falls of Montmorency, which leap directly into the St. Lawrence from a height of 250 feet.

SPELLING.

Time: 30 minutes.

NOTE.—Copy the following, correcting the errors in spelling; 3 marks will be deducted for every misspelled word in your copy.

Danse and musiek whiled away the long wintre nites; and on sumer evnings the cassel coartyards resounded with the nois of football, restling, boxing, leeping, and the fearee joys of the bull-fite. But out of doars, when know fiting was on hand, the hound, the hock and the lanse atracted the energys and skill of the Norman gentelman.

The Normans probably dined at nine in the morning. When they rose they took a lite meal, and et something after there days work immediatly before going to bed. There cookry was more ellabrate, and in comparason more dellicate, than the Inglish feest; but the carieter for temperence which they brought with them from the continant soon vaniehed.

DICTATION.

Time: 30 minutes.

NOTE.—This paper should not be seen by the candidates. The Examiner will read over the whole extract once, and then reread it slowly and distinctly, indicating to the candidates the occurrence of each full stop. A third reading of the whole extract may be given if sufficient time remains. The whole time occupied should not be more than half an hour.

Pessimists tell us that the Chinese Republic has had to make a new start in education, which is quite true, and that this enthusiasm for the new learning is merely a flash in the pan and a nine days' wonder that will pass in due time. But that is not so. The man who does not rightly read the educational plan for China, fails to see the very source of the nation's new strength. The educational conquest of China is at hand. The new national scheme is of a very complete character, commencing with the elementary school and rising in stages through the secondary, the middle and the higher schools to the universities.

The government may not be able to carry out in full the ambitious scheme of education laid down last year. It may be able to attempt only half the scheme, and may find that only a very small amount of really effective educational work will be possible for some time to come, owing to lack of funds and other causes. But that the desire exists among both government and people cannot be denied.

ARITHMETIC.

Time: 1½ hours.

NOTE.—No marks will be allowed unless the full work is shown and the answer is absolutely correct.

Values.

5 1. Write in figures: Twenty million one hundred and ninety thousand and ninety.

5 2. Write in words: 400040440.

15 3. Add: 8795643; 97689589; 576846; 9687; 898768959; 896986; 79985768; 98766 and 887.

15 4. Subtract 798690998789̄65 from 8073600894786̄3.

15 5. Multiply 879675948 by 75089.

15 6. Divide 772570272888̄91 by 8796.

15 7. Four men bought a piece of land; the first man paid $350, the second paid $290, the third paid $280, and the fourth paid $90 less than half as much as the other three paid together. How much did the land cost them?

15 8. Four men agree to build a wall for $216 and share equally during the time they work. When half of the wall is built, two of the men quit work and the other two finish the job. How should the $216 be divided?

Untill well past the middel of the ninteenth century, the manner in which England had niglected the edication of her poor childern was a reproch to her civilization. For years the statesmen had been kept from any serius attemp to grapple with the eval, by the doctrin that popilar edication ought not to be the buisness of a Government. Privet charity was eked out in a parsimonious and miserable maner by a scanty doal from the State; and as a matter of coarse, where the direst poverty prevaled, and naturally brought the extremist need for assistence to edication, there the wants of the place were least efficently suplied. It therfore came about, that more than two-thirds of the childern of the country were absolutly without instruxion. One of the first great tasks which Gladstone's government undertook, was to reforme this condition of things and to provide England for the first time with a sistun of Nashunal Edication. The government did not see there way to a sistem of direct and universel compulshun; they therfor fell back on a compromise, by leeving the power to compell in the hands of the local authoreties. Existing schools were in many instanses to recieve government aid on condition that they posessed a certain amount of efficency, that they submitted themselves to the examenation of an undenominational inspecter, and that they admited a consciense clause as part of their regulations.

It is difficult, in the present advanced condition of all the arts and sciences which converge on the perfecting of our means of transport and communication, to form an adequate idea of the toils, inconveniences, and perils encountered by those who in the Seventeenth Century attempted the colonizing of this continent. To say nothing of the difficulties of land travel, the colonist, by the mere fact of crossing the ocean, placed a barrier of two or three months of perilous navigation between himself and the land that had been his home. In those days a ship coming to the St. Lawrence could make but one trip to and fro in the year. It is easy to see, there-force, in how critical a position a colony would be placed that depended in any large measure on supplies brought from the other side. The wreck or capture of one or two vessels might bring it to the verge of starvation.

Success in agriculture can only be looked for where there is peaceable and secure possession. If all the results of laborious tillage are liable to be carried off or destroyed at any moment by marauding foes, there is little encouragement to engage in that kind of industry. Thus it was that in the early days the Canadian settlers gave themselves up almost wholly to hunting and fur-trading.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my report for the year ending June 30th, 1905. In my report of one year ago, which was made shortly after my arrival in this State, I expressed the opinion, after a tour of careful investigation, that the "Old Hoosier State," as it is familiarly called, would before long contribute liberally towards swelling the tide of emigration to the Canadian West. In view of the known difficulties in the way of starting such a movement from this State, it is with rather more than ordinary satisfaction I am able to report that the work of the year, both as to its direct as well as its indirect results, has been such as to confirm me in this conviction. During the last twelve months upwards of 300 have gone to the Canadian North-west, and scores of others have assured me of their intention to do likewise before the end of the present calendar year. In addition, many others who have become interested in the North-west are planning to visit the country on a tour of inspection in the near future, with a view of selecting land, if they are suited, while not a few who but a short time ago lightly dismissed the subject with a mere wave of the hand, are now free to admit "the Canadian proposition is well worth careful consideration." Another encouraging feature of the work is the fact that several of the most intelligent and practical men among those who have gone from this State, are quite enthusiastic over the opportunities and prospects of the North-west, and by their letters and personal influence are inducing others to share in the advantages offered. On my arrival here I found, in addition to the usual obstacles in the way of a movement Canada-ward from States similarly situated, that this State has been thoroughly and systematically worked by agents from the Southern and Western States, aided by an army of local real estate men and farmers. As a result, the streams of emigration from this State all flowed in these directions. To such an extent was this true, that those were practically the only fields to be considered. To change all this, to turn the currents northward towards a country so "very far north," as in the minds of the people to be regarded dangerously near the regions of perpetual snow and ice, seemed, as one man significantly put it, like "trying to get water to flow uphill." However, by a persistent and energetic use of the best means at our command, a good beginning has been made in this direction, and if nothing unforeseen occurs, there is every indication that this stream will continue to enlarge and flow with increased momentum. One of the many suggestive evidences pointing to this fact is, that several of the most active and successful real estate men who had previously directed their clients south and west, are now, just as actively, directing them to the Canadian West. But a few days ago, one of those men assured me it was much easier to sell Canadian lands, and besides, a much larger proportion of his men remained on their farms. The State is a very large one, and as, for obvious reasons, it was important to come in contact with a large number of people at the earliest possible date, I found the most satisfactory way to do this was to hold meetings at different points. At each of those meetings an opportunity was given, at the close of my address, for all who desired to ask questions. In this way I was able to give more specific information than would otherwise have been possible in so short a time. To add to the practical benefits of these meetings, I brought with me such a collection of grains, grasses, etc., as would give a good idea of the variety and quality of our North-west products. Those meetings, usually well attended, were much appreciated, especially by those we were most anxious to reach—the farmers—and no doubt they will be productive of good results. Reviewing the work of the year, there is every reason to believe that, with continued favourable conditions in Western Canada, there will be an extensive movement from this State, and also from Kentucky.

Value—100.

1. My coal bin holds 9 tons and is 10 feet long and 6 feet wide. How deep is it, if a cubic foot of coal weighs 64 pounds?

2. A Savings Bank, which pays interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, makes up its interest on 31st December. Find the amount of Mr. Blank's account on 31st December, if on July 5th he deposits $800; on August 15th withdraws $400; on September 29th deposits $750; on November 12th withdraws $150, and on December 14th deposits $500.

3. A town, whose total assessment amounted to $1,500,000, built a school-house which cost $6000. Find the rate of taxation for that purpose, and the amount of this tax that was paid by a man whose income is $1800, if $400 is exempt from taxation.

4. A commission firm in Toronto received from a California fruit dealer a carload of oranges containing 380 crates. The firm paid $48.25 for freight, 2½ cents per crate for storage and 30 cents per $100 for a premium on an insurance of $750. They sold 175 crates of the oranges at $2 a crate and the remainder at $2.40 a crate, for which they charged a commission of 2½%. The balance, after deducting all these charges, they remitted to the dealer in California. How much did he receive?

5. Find the cost to the nearest cent of sixty-five 3-inch planks each 16 ft. long and 10 inches wide, and forty-eight pieces of 2 by 4 scantlings each 14 ft. long, at $24 per thousand board feet.

6. A contractor undertakes to build a piece of road in 60 days. He begins work with 35 men, but finds that he has completed only $\frac{5}{9}$ of the work in 40 days. How many additional men must he now engage to finish his contract on time?

7. 260^{00}. WINNIPEG, Mar. 27, 1913.

Three months after date, I promise to pay to the order of James Black, at the Bank of Montreal here, the sum of Two Hundred and Sixty Dollars, with interest at 6 per cent per annum. Value received.

HENRY HENDERSON.

The above note was discounted at the Bank on 15th April, 1913, at 7 per cent. Find proceeds.

8. A dealer bought four acres of land for $980. He subdivided it into town lots, each 33 feet frontage by 110 feet deep. One acre was taken up by streets. He sold the lots at $2.40 per foot frontage. If his expenses for surveying and advertising were $500, find (a) his net gain, (b) his gain per cent.

GEOGRAPHY.

Time: 2 hours.

NOTE.—Candidates will answer Question 1 and any five others.

Value—100.

1. Name the oceans, seas, countries, islands, peninsulas, rivers and lakes that are crossed by (a) the equator, (b) the 45th parallel of north latitude.

2. Define the following: (1) Mountain Chain, (2) Mountain System, (3) River Basin, (4) Plateau, (5) Plain, (6) Divide or Height of Land, (7) Cascade, (8) Gulf.

3. In what countries will transportation be affected by the opening of the Panama Canal? Explain.

4. Name the British Possessions in (a) North America, (b) South America, (c) Europe and Asia.

5. Describe the resources of (a) Nova Scotia, (b) Prince Edward Island, (c) Alberta, (d) British Columbia.

6. (a) Give the boundaries, area and population of the Province of Quebec.
(b) Name, in order of population, five commercial centres of that province.

7. Trace the course of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

8. Name the counties that border on the St. Lawrence from the Province of Quebec to Lake Ontario.

HISTORY.

Time: 2 hours.

NOTE.—Candidates must take Questions 1 and 2, and any four others—six questions in all.

Values.

20 1. Write brief notes upon any five of the following: Isaac Jogues, Dulac des Ormeaux, De Courcelles, Bigot, Father Hennepin, Governor Simcoe, Lord Selkirk, Wolfred Nelson, Joseph Howe, Cecil Rhodes, Lord Salisbury and Sir Walter Raleigh.

20 2. Write brief explanatory notes on any five of the following: Star Chamber Court, Bloody Assize, Ship Money, Trial of Seven Bishops, Mutiny at Spithead, Chrysler's Farm, Cut Knife Creek, Battle of Chateauguay.

15 3. Outline the quarrel of Charles I with the Long Parliament. How did the quarrel end?

15 4. Sketch the plans made by Napoleon I immediately after the Peace of Amiens in 1802. What, in your opinion, was the climax of the events following these plans? Why?

15 5. Tell what you know about the provision which has been made for education in Great Britain and Ireland.

15 6. What provision, if any, has been made by the people of Canada in the way of military or naval defence?

15 7. What is a Coalition Ministry? When, and under what circumstances, was such a ministry formed in Canada?

15 8. Write a brief account of Canadian Immigration under the following headings: (a) Causes of Immigration, (b) Parts of Canada most affected, (c) Nationalities making up the Immigration.

15 9. Why do Canadians attach so much importance to the events of 1791, 1840 and 1867?

15 10. Contrast the France of 1913 with the France of 1789, and show that Napoleon I had some considerable part in creating the modern France.

TYPEWRITING.

Time: 30 minutes.

Ottawa, November 26, 1912.

Value—100.

Hon. Frank Cochrane,
Minister of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir,—As requested, I have examined the profiles of the changes recently made in grade on contracts Nos. 13, 14 and 15, Districts "C" and "D," east and west of Cochrane.

These changes in grade will not affect the haulage capacity of the locomotives, will not increase the running time of either freight or passenger trains, and will not increase the operating or maintenance expenses; on the contrary, they will, by decreasing the cost of construction, reduce the interest charges.

The total cost of transportation is the sum of the operating expenses and the interest charges. A railway to handle a given traffic is the most effective commercially, or can handle the traffic at the least cost, when the sum of these two items is the least.

Any change of alignment, or grades, which reduces the fixed charges without increasing the operating or maintenance expenses, is, therefore, an improvement in the effective standard of the road.

These changes will reduce the interest charges without increasing the operating or maintenance expenses, or decreasing the haulage capacity or speed of the locomotive, and are, therefore, an improvement in the effective standard of the road.

I consider the Commissioner and engineers of the Transcontinental would have failed in their duty had they not made these changes.

Respectfully yours,
(Sgd.) W. F. TYE.

December 3, 1912.

Hon. Frank Cochrane, P.C.,
Minister of Railways and Canals,
Ottawa.

Dear Mr. Cochrane,—

In accordance with your verbal request for an expression of my opinion as to the use of velocity grades on this, or any other line, and with special regard to the recent use of velocity grades on District "C".

I may say, that, disregarding ordinary sags in long fills, or fills over soft ground, it has been considered inadvisable to bring up to profile grade at present and pay contractors' prices for this unnecessary work; there are, as you will see, only two cases that virtual grades have been adopted, and the saving effected by the slight change amounts to $27,797.

They are both well within velocity limits and will not affect the hauling capacity of a locomotive to the extent of a single pound.

The introduction of virtual grades in railway construction for the purpose of economy in first cost, and subsequent economy in operation by reason of reduced interest charges, cannot be considered other than a good business proposition.

In so far as this concerns the Transcontinental railway, I always was, and am still of opinion that virtual grades should have been used whenever it was practical and economical to do so.

A very large amount of money could have been saved by their use, as the standard of grade adopted, together with the general topography of the country traversed by this line, effect a combination in favour of a virtual grade that an engineer will rarely or ever meet with.

I may also add that, in so far as I am personally concerned in this matter, while I was employed on this line as a locating engineer, I used in my location virtual grades whenever it was practical, economical and common sense to do so.

I leave you to judge of my surprise when orders came from Ottawa that these grades would not be allowed, and that the profiles so made must be changed. This was accordingly done, which greatly increased the cost of construction, without in any way benefiting the line as regards operation.

Had these grades been adopted where conditions warranted, if they did, the sags so introduced could have been removed, wholly or in part, by the operating company, at one-half the cost of contractors' prices, and the same applies to the permanent structures that would have been, in such cases, left out until more economical conditions obtained for their construction.

Yours truly,

(Sgd.) GORDON GRANT,
Chief Engineer.

EIGHTY WORDS A MINUTE.

There is another matter that I brought to the attention of the minister last winter, when we had something up | in connection with the road. I refer to the necessity of supplying cars, not cold-storage cars, in which to | carry fish. In the fall of the year, in the part of the country I come from, it is impossible | to get sailing vessels to come in for the fish that are caught away north and right out into the | ocean. The market for these fish is in the New England States, Boston, New York and other places, and the | only way of sending the fish is over the Intercolonial railway. We have a steamer running down the shore. She | brings the fish to the end of the Intercolonial railway, and we could send it out, if we could get | the cars. Last year we could not get cars. We were told that fish gives a bad odour to a | car, and that possibly it would not be suitable for anything else. That is hardly a sufficient reason. I think | that there could be a few cars set apart, even if they had to be devoted altogether to this kind | of work. As the Intercolonial is our only railway, we should be given an opportunity of shipping our fish out | over it. In the fall of the year there is splendid fishing. Great runs of fish come in along the | coast.

ONE HUNDRED WORDS A MINUTE.

The suggestion that the convicts might be used in working on the roads adjacent to the penitentiary building is one that I think commends itself. | We have done some work of that kind, and I shall be glad to look into the possibilities of extending it further. We have also | done work of that kind in Manitoba. It has not only given satisfaction to the people of the neighbourhood, but has proved a useful method | of turning to good account the work of the convicts. I have also taken note of the suggestion that we might employ these men in | making tiles for drains. This whole question of productive work by convicts is one that presents very considerable difficulty. I entirely sympathize with the view | that it is highly important that we should find some method by which the labour done by the convicts in the institution should inure | to their advantage, and more especially should inure to the benefit of those dependent upon them and who by their imprisonment are, in fact, condemned | to a severe punishment, perhaps a more severe punishment than that which falls on the convict himself. I should be glad if we could devise | some method by which that most desirable object could be obtained without giving rise to justifiable complaint on the part of free labour outside. | For you have to consider that always. Since I first interested myself in penitentiaries, this question has been the subject of thought with me. | I have had representations on the subject from people who take an interest in the subject of improving the condition of convicts, and have made | inquiries into attempts that have been made elsewhere to meet this difficulty. In the efforts that were made in France, the results were not encouraging. |

1. Rule any form of columnar Cash-book you are familiar with, providing columns for Bank, Discount, Expense, Cash Purchases, Cash Sales, General Ledger, Accounts Receivable Ledger, and Accounts Payable Ledger, and, after entering the following transactions, rule off for closing at end of month:—

Cash on hand at commencement of period	$ 50 00
Bank Overdraft at commencement of period	100 00
Cheque received in payment of A. Brown's account for $50.00, one dollar being allowed him as discount	49 00
Deposit made for cheque for $49.00, Bank charging 15 cents for exchange	48 85
Merchandise sold for cash	500 00
Deposit made	525 00
Cheque drawn to settle James Robinson's account for $200.00, a cash discount of $5.00 being allowed by him	195 00

Cheque issued to book-keeper for month's salary	50 00
Cash drawn by cheque	25 00
Salaries paid in cash	35 00
Cheque drawn for landlord in payment of rent	40 00

The book-keeper's cheque for $50.00 and the rent cheque for $40.00 were not presented at the Bank until after the end of the month, so the balance in the Bank Pass-book did not agree with the balance in the Cash-book. Write out a Bank Reconciliation Statement; that is, a memo showing how the Bank Pass-book and the Cash-book may be reconciled.

2. J. JOHNSON and T. THOMPSON were in partnership, sharing profits in the proportions of three-fifths and two-fifths respectively. On 31/12/10 they sold their business to W. WILSON & Co., at which date their books showed:

Real Estate and Buildings		$40,000 00
Plant and Machinery		20,000 00
Furniture and Fixtures		5,000 00
Insurance prepaid		1,000 00

		35,000 00
J. J. Capital		40,000 00
T. T. Capital		20,000 00

The following was agreed:—There was to be a reduction of 5% on Book Debts considered good, and 50% on those considered doubtful, and on half the Stock there was to be an allowance of 17½%. The Purchasers were to pay $10,000 for Good-will. The Fixed Assets were to be taken over at a price to be settled by Valuators—their appraisal was $55,000.00. Messrs. Johnson & Thompson instruct you to make up accounts as between themselves on the dissolution of their partnership. Do so, showing the amount each will receive.

3. BROWN and BLACK are partners, and on June 30, 1910, the following Trial Balance was extracted from their books:—

In order to estemate justley the life, character, and genious of a man, it is neccesary to posses some knowledge of the envirenment and hercdety which produsced him. Any study of Voltaire which ignoars these influenses will fail, not only in doing him justice, but in comprechending his uneeke and exceptional place in history. The most carefull examination of these, together with the volumenus bibliographey relating to Voltaire, provided by French, German, and English litrature, still will leave him something of an inigma.

The stage propirties and seenery were prepared for the great Frenchman long before he apeared, as is always the case with the famus acters in the drama of history. The time in which he was born was that of Louis forteenth, king by devine right, who wore all the outward gise of regal office in his bearing, politness, adress, magnifisense and dignety, but who was sensuel, ferosious, ignorant and superstishus. His greatness was fictitious, his splendor superfishal and his character false. The glory of Versailles rose above the darkness of the nation, and the extravigences of the court were manetained at the expence of the people. The voluptious and luxureous pleasures of the nobilety were the measure of the poverty and sufering of the comon people. The aristocrasy enjoyed life as if it were a prolonged comidy, while the nation was moving toward the enackment of its greatest trajedy. In such an age and at such a time Voltaire was born.

DICTATION.

Japan has astonished the world by her marvellous strides to an acknowledged position among the first powers of the earth. Her development during the last half-century is in some respects more remarkable than that of the United States. Sixty years ago, when Commodore Perry rapped somewhat roughly at her gates, she was, in material progress, governmental administration, and educational development, little beyond where she stood a thousand years before. Now her snug little realm is traversed with railways and spotted with manifold industries, her political system compares favourably with the monarchies of Europe, and her colleges and schools are graduating hosts of young men fitted for every position of responsibility.

Her foreign commerce has expanded in thirty years from thirty to three hundred million per annum, a record unrivalled by any other country in the same or under similar conditions. Starting with no merchant marine, she now has her cargo and passenger steamers running to all parts of the globe in successful competition with the fleets of the older and richer nations. With no modern war vessels twenty years ago, she now has a navy ranking high among the other nations; with an army a few decades past that was barbaric in equipment, she possesses to-day a trained, armed force that in comparison with her area and population is second to none.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

Time: 3 hours.

NOTE.—Candidates are advised to give attention to their writing.

Values.

25 1. Write an essay of at least five paragraphs on one of the following subjects:—
(a) The Organization of a Debating Club.
(b) The Great Events of 1913.
(c) How Canada is Governed.
(d) A Runaway in a Crowded Street.
(e) Making Maple Sugar.

15 2. Write in full the subordinate or dependent clauses, and give the kind and relation of each:
(a) I was grieved when I heard how he had obtained the character which he bore among his neigbours.
(b) While there is life there is hope.
(c) She loved me for the dangers I had passed,
And I loved her that she did pity them.
(d) Who steals my purse steals trash.

10 3. Tell which of the suggested words is correct and, in each case, give a reason for your choice:
(a) None but [he, him] and [me, I] believe, [believes] that.
(b) The jury [has, have] retired from the courtroom.
(c) [Who, Whom] do men declare him to be?

15 4. Rewrite the following sentences correctly, and give a reason for each change you make:—
(a) More than one emperor prided himself upon his skill as a swordsman.
(b) No civil broils have since his death arose.
(c) While walking in my garden, an idea suddenly occurred to me.
(d) I expected to have been at home when you called.
(e) Montreal is larger than any city in Canada.

10 5. Divide each of the following words into syllables and indicate the accented syllable:—ally, recipe, deficit, adult, eligible, abdomen, industry, chastisement, vehement, finance, interesting, museum, adept, finale, discourse.

25 6. Set out in orderly form the gist of the following report. The synopsis should contain all the salient points and nothing that is unimportant. Attention should be given to spelling, punctuation, arrangement, and grammatical accuracy.

SURVEYS IN RAILWAY BELT, KAMLOOPS DISTRICT, BRITISH COLUMBIA.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report on my survey operations during the past season in the Kamloops District of the Railway Belt in British Columbia.

At the date of last season's report I was engaged on the survey of the boundary of the belt near the Spallumcheen river. Owing to the unfavourable weather, the impassable state of the roads for hauling or packing supplies, and the roughness of the country through which the boundary line passes, I found it would be almost impracticable to continue the survey through the winter. But, as the immediate object of the survey was to ascertain if the lands upon which timber was being cut lay within the Railway Belt, I decided to accomplish this by carrying a traverse line across the lumber trail to Mabel lake; this I succeeded in doing in a comparatively short time. On finishing here, I closed field operations and returned to Kamloops.

On April 17, after receiving instructions from you, I left Kamloops with two men for township 17, range 17, west of the 6th meridian, where I was engaged for a few days in making a traverse of part of Trapp lake.

On May 3, upon the receipt of further instructions from you, I went to Hat creek, where I made a partial subdivision of townships 19, 20 and 21, in ranges 26 and 27, west of the 6th meridian. The land surveyed in these townships lies chiefly in the Hat Creek valley. For a mile or two on each side of the creek the country is rolling and open, with considerable bench land, but the surface is so uneven and hummocky that but little of the land can be cultivated. Along the creek there are small patches of meadow and bottom land. The soil is alkaline in places. The country is well watered with numerous small streams, but the climate is so dry that irrigation has to be resorted to on the high lands; it is so cold that vegetables cannot be grown with much success: potatoes, however, do fairly well. Stock-raising is essentially the industry of the valley, but the small amount of hay-land will prevent it reaching great proportions. The settlement in the valley is small and scattered. The lands taken up lie chiefly along the creeks. There are a few quarter sections suitable for settlement yet unoccupied.

From here I went to the Bonaparte river, into which the Hat creek flows, and surveyed some lots along the river and the Cariboo road. Most of the land had been surveyed into provincial lots, some of which were taken up during the Cariboo gold excitement in 1862. The character of the country and climatic conditions are somewhat similar to those of Hat Creek valley, but the land is much lower and consequently the summer frosts do much less damage. The bottom land is of small area, and partly overflowed during high water in the Bonaparte. The bench land needs to be irrigated to ensure good crops. The settlers here are favoured with a good road to market and splendid mail accommodations.

One of the main objects of these surveys in British Columbia is to define the limits of the Railway Belt in as many places as possible. On the last two surveys I marked out the boundary in three places, viz., Lillooet road, Cariboo road and Bonaparte river. In all, this necessitated a survey nearly twenty miles in length.

From the Bonaparte I went to a point, nearly due south, on Barnes creek, where I made a partial subdivision of township 20, in ranges 23 and 24, west of the 6th meridian. The country here is undulating and hilly; it is partly open and partly well wooded with fir and bull pine of medium size. The soil is fairly good, though alkaline in places, and requires to be irrigated to be productive. The chief drawback is the scarcity of water for irrigation purposes. Some of the settlers propose storing the surplus water from the creeks, in ponds or reservoirs, for use during the dry season. Several have already succeeded fairly well by adopting this method.

From here I returned to the survey on Spallumcheen river, where I made a continuous section survey along the Spallumcheen to the east side of Mabel lake. I also marked out the southerly limit of the Railway Belt in the most accessible places to the south side of the river as far as the east side of Mabel lake. The soil varies from sand and gravel to a good clay loam. There is sufficient good agricultural land for a small settlement. At present there is but one settler located here. The chief drawback is the lack of a good road. In general, the land is well wooded; in a few places it is open and burnt. The timber on the land surveyed is scarcely valuable enough to be considered as timber limits. There are some good fir and white pine of medium size and a few large cedar, but the good timber is so scattered that it is a question if it would pay the cost of taking out. Along the river, the best of the timber has been cut. As I reported to you on the conclusion of the first survey I made here, nearly all the timber cut on the Spallumcheen river has been taken off Dominion lands. The greater part of the timber cut was, I understand, taken off the stream which empties into the north end of Mabel lake. The survey was not carried to this point, as it lies at least five or six miles within the Railway Belt. I have been informed by parties who have been on the ground, that there are good timber limits on the last-mentioned stream, as well as on Kingfisher creek, which flows into Spallumcheen river.

On October 15 I quit field operations and returned to Kamloops. Shortly after returning here, I received instructions from you by telegram to locate the northerly and easterly boundaries of timber berth No. 78. This was a matter of only a few days' work.

The past summer, like the previous one, was cool and wet, and the winter, so far, has been very mild.

ENGLISH LITERATURE.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted, or six only if the first question is included, as it has double value and will be reckoned as two questions.

Value.—100.

1. (a) Give the substance of the following lines in plain prose:—

"The world is too much with us; late and soon
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers:
Little we see in Nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
The Sea that bares her bosom to the moon;
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not.—Great God! I'd rather be
A Pagan suckled in a creed outworn;
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea;
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn."

(b) Intelligence Test—

(1) What is the name of this kind of poem?
(2) Give the rules for composing it.
(3) What are the two main thoughts in this poem?
(4) 'world' (l. 1), 'Nature' (l. 3). Explain these terms, as used here.
(5) 'We have given, etc.' (l. 4). Why is the 'giving' of 'our hearts' 'sordid'? Explain.

(6) What feeling prompts the outburst, beginning 'Great God!' (l. 9)?
(7) 'So' (l. 11). What is implied by the word 'So' in this place? Expand the idea.
(8) Who was Proteus? What is the meaning of 'Protean'?
(9) Who was Triton?
(10) Why 'wreathed horn'? Does it mean 'horn decorated with wreaths'? or 'horn shaped like a wreath'?

2. Name ten poems by Tennyson. Give some account of three of them.

3. Why are the poems of Robert Browning supposed to be hard to understand? Write out the substance of any one you may have read, pointing out and explaining the difficulties.

4. Name any historical work you may have read by Macaulay, or Carlyle, or Froude, or Green, or Freeman, or Parkman. Recount generally the events narrated, and state whether or not you found the work easy to read, giving reasons why.

5. Make a list of Scott's novels. Make a list of ten characters in his novels, adding to each a brief account of his (or her) character and actions.

6. Sketch the plot and name the chief characters in any one of Byron's or Scott's narrative poems.

7. In the case of each of the following works, name the author and mention one other work, either prose or poetry, by the same author: The Twa Dogs, Heroes and Hero-Worship, Pendennis, Nicholas Nickleby, Romola, King's Own, The Cloister and the Hearth, The Deserted Merman, Plain Tales From The Hills.

8. For what are the following authors noted: J. M. Barrie, R. L. Stevenson, John Galsworthy, G. B. Shaw, H. Belloc, G. K. Chesterton, Thomas Hardy, Alfred Noyes, George Meredith, "Ian Maclaren"?

9. Name five of Shakespeare's historical plays. Recount the plot and sketch three important characters in any one.

10. Name two works by each of the following authors: Milton, Dryden, Pope, Addison, Swift. Give some account of any one of these works.

11. Give a brief account of any one of the following: (a) The Rise of the Essay, (b) English Allegories, (c) The Novel in the Eighteenth Century, (d) English and Scottish Ballad-poetry, (e) The Elizabethan Drama.

ARITHMETIC.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Six questions only are to be attempted. The details of the work must be given.

Value.—100.

1. Simplify (a) $2\frac{5}{63} + 2\frac{17}{36} - 2\frac{15}{28}$. (b) $284\frac{1}{9} \times 0{\cdot}0075 \div 4{\cdot}26$.

2. The population of a certain city was 15740 in 1901, 16948 in 1902, 18327 in 1903, 19923 in 1904, 21733 in 1905, 23928 in 1906, 26665 in 1907, 29840 in 1908, 33514 in 1909, 38042 in 1910. Find (a) the average population from 1901 to 1910, (b) the average increase in population per year, (c) the increase per cent from 1901 to 1910.

3. A pond of two acres is covered with ice 1 foot 4 inches thick. Find the weight of this ice, in tons; given that water weighs 1000 oz. per cubic foot, and that its volume increases 10% in freezing.

4. Find to the nearest foot the length of a diagonal of a rectangular garden 50 yards long and 42 yards wide.

5. How much would a Canadian merchant have to pay for a bill of exchange to cancel a debt of £425 15*s.* in London, England, if exchange is quoted at $4.85¼ and brokerage is ⅛%?

6. A man bought a house for $6480. He has to pay each year taxes at the rate of 1½% on three-quarters of the value of the house, and insurance at the rate of ¾% on half its value. What per cent does he make on his money, if he obtains $550 annual rental?

7. What rate, simple interest, must be obtained on $2500 so that at the end of four years the amount may be the same as if 4% compound interest, computed yearly, had been obtained for the same time?

8. I owe today a debt of $1200. I give in payment a note payable in 90 days without interest. My creditor discounts the note at once at a bank, and receives $1200 for it. What was the face of the note, the discount being 6%?

9. What sum would a man have to invest in 4½% stock at 131¾, brokerage ⅛% in order to receive an annual revenue of $2025? What sum would the broker obtain through the transaction?

10. Find the length of cylindrical copper wire with diameter 1/15 in. that may be obtained from a cubic foot of this metal.

ALGEBRA.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. Simplify $4\left[a-\frac{3}{2}\left(b-\frac{4c}{3}\right)\right]\left[\frac{1}{2}\left(2a-b\right)+2\left(b-c\right)\right]$.

2. If $\frac{x}{y+z}=a, \frac{y}{x+z}=b, \frac{z}{x+y}=c,$ find the value of $\frac{a}{1+a}+\frac{b}{1+b}+\frac{c}{1+c}$.

3. (a) Given $C=\frac{5}{9}\left(F-32\right)$, express F in terms of C.
(b) Given $W(\theta-t)=wx(T-\theta)$, express θ in terms of the other quantities

4. Resolve (a) $x^8-1/256$ into four factors.
(b) $x^5-25x^3+6\frac{1}{4}-\frac{1}{4}x^4$ into four factors.
(c) $x^7+x^4-16x^3-16$ into five factors.

5. Solve (a) $\frac{2x+3}{x+1}=\frac{4x+5}{4x+4}+\frac{3x+3}{3x+1}$.

(b) $\frac{x}{2a}+\frac{y}{3b}=a+b,$

6. Find an equation whose roots shall be the squares of the roots of the equation $x^2+px+q=0$.

7. I bought a horse and carriage for $375. I sold the horse at a gain of 5 per cent and the carriage at a gain of 20 per cent, making on the whole a gain of 16 per cent. Find the original cost of the horse.

8. In how many ways may 2 red, 3 black, 1 white and 2 blue balls be selected from 4 red, 6 black, 2 white and 5 blue balls, and in how many ways may they be arranged?

9. Expand by the binomial theorem $(1+x)^{-\frac{3}{2}}$ to five terms, and write down and simplify the 10th term.

10. Find the amount of $100 in a hundred years, allowing compound interest at the rate of 5 per cent, payable quarterly; having given log $2=\cdot3010300$, log $3=\cdot4771213$, log $14390\cdot6=4\cdot158080$.

GEOMETRY.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. The bisectors of two adjacent angles formed by two intersecting lines AOB and COD cut at right angles.
   In the parallelogram ABCD the bisectors of the angles A and B are at right angles.

2. The sum of the three angles of any triangle is equal to two right angles.
   Find the sum of the angles of a polygon of 11 sides, and also the value of one of the angles when the polygon is regular.

3. In any triangle the square on a side opposite an acute angle is equal to the sum of the squares on the other two sides, diminished by twice the rectangle on one of these two sides and the projection of the other on it.
   The sides of a triangle are 8, 9, 10. Find the projection of the side 8 on the side 10.

4. The angle AOB at the centre of the circle ABC is twice the angle ACB at the circumference; and any two angles in the segment ACB are equal.
   What does this theorem become when C comes into coincidence with B?

5. If from a point outside a circle two secants be drawn to the circle, the rectangle on the segments of the one is equal to the rectangle on the segments of the other.

   What does this theorem become when (1) one of the secants becomes a tangent, (2) both secants become tangents?

6. Two triangles are similar when two sides of the one are proportional to two sides of the other and the contained angles are equal.
   The middle points of the sides of any quadrilateral are the vertices of a parallelogram.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 31

7. Circumscribe a circle about a given triangle.
In any triangle ABC, the rectangle on the two sides AB and AC is equal to the rectangle on the diameter of the circumscribed circle and the altitude to the side BC.

8. The areas of two similar triangles are proportional to the squares on homologous sides.
Show that the same theorem applies to two similar polygons and to two circles.

9. Find a mean proportional to two given line segments.
Construct a square equal in area to a given triangle.

10. In the triangle ABC the bisector AD of the angle A divides the side BC at D in two segments proportional to AB and AC.

If BC = a, CA = b, AB = c, prove that BD = $\frac{ac}{b+c}$ and DC = $\frac{ab}{b+c}$.

PHYSICS.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value.—100.

1. Neglecting currents, explain, with diagrams, how it is possible for a boat to sail in a direction other than that in which the wind blows.
A bullet leaves a rifle in a horizontal direction with a velocity of 1600 feet per second. Find its position at the end of two seconds.

2. State Boyle's and Charles' laws for gases. A litre of air under normal conditions of temperature and pressure has its temperature raised to 100° C., the volume remaining constant. What does the pressure become?

3. Define power and the units in which it is measured. What must be the power of an engine which will raise ore from a mine 550 feet deep at the rate of 2 tons per minute?

4. Define fundamental, overtone, pitch and quality in sound. Give the laws of vibrating strings.

5. Define coefficient of expansion. What allowance must be made for the expansion of an iron girder 40 feet long when the temperature change is 20° C.? (Coefficient of expansion of iron is ·000012.)

6. Define caloric, relative humidity, latent heat, dew-point. Explain the formation of dew and the cooling caused by evaporation.

7. Explain, with diagrams, the construction of the microscope and telescope. What method would you use to erect the image in the latter?

8. In which part of the spectrum is the most heat energy? Explain the natural colour of objects.

9. Define the practical units of current and resistance. A dynamo with a resistance of 20 ohms generates 110 volts. If the external resistance is 35 ohms, what current is flowing?

10. State Faraday's laws of electrolysis. Explain why the simple voltaic cell is inefficient as a source of electric current.

CHEMISTRY.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value.—100.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted. All definite chemical reactions should be expressed by equations.

1. A gaseous compound has the formula $C_2 H_4$. What percentage of carbon does it contain? What is its specific gravity and the weight of a litre of it at normal temperature and pressure? What volume of oxygen would be required for the complete combustion of a litre of it?

2. How could you prepare chlorine from common salt? Make a drawing of the apparatus you would use. Give an account of the properties of chlorine. Explain why it bleaches only in the presence of moisture.

3. Calculate (a) the volume, (b) the weight of ammonia that could be obtained from 10 grammes of ammonium chloride.

4. Describe the preparation and properties of carbon dioxide. What occurs when it is passed into (a) water, (b) lime water, (c) solution of sodium hydroxide?

5. Describe experiments that establish the composition of carbon dioxide,

6. What is the chief chemical change involved in malting vinegar from wine? Write an equation to represent it. How may the process be carried out?

7. What is steel? How does it differ in composition and properties from cast iron? Describe briefly any one method of making steel from cast iron.

8. It is observed that 50 cc. of a tenth-normal solution of sodium hydroxide just neutralizes 10 cc. of a solution of sulphuric acid. Express the concentration of the acid in grammes per litre. (S = 32.)

9. Describe what can be observed when a current of electricity is passed, by means of platinum electrodes, through water acidulated with sulphuric acid. How do you explain what occurs?

10. State the periodic law, and explain the periodic classification of the elements. In what groups in the periodic table do the following elements fall: oxygen, nitrogen, carbon, phosphorus, tin, sulphur, silicon?

GEOLOGY.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. Describe the following minerals, giving in each case their crystalline form, hardness, cleavage, colour and lustre. Give the chemical formula also in each case, and if the mineral is of any economic value, state for what purpose it is employed: Galena, Pyrite, Gypsum, Limonite, Quartz.

2. What do you understand by igneous rocks and sedimentary rocks? What are the respective characteristics by means of which they can be distinguished? To what class do the following belong: Diorite, Arkose, Argillite, Basalt?

3. State what you know of the origin and mode of occurrence of coal.

4. State what you know concerning the origin of the boulders which are found so widely distributed over the surface of Eastern Canada.

5. Give an outline of the Copernican and Ptolemaic theories, respectively.

6. What do you understand by the Geological Column? Give its chief subdivisions.

7. What do you know of the character and distribution of the rocks of the Laurentian age in Canada?

8. Mention any locality where the Cambrian rocks are extensively developed in the Dominion. Describe three typical Cambrian fossils, illustrating your description by sketches.

9. State what you know concerning the character and affinities of the Trilobites. At what time in Geological History do they appear, and at what time do they disappear? Describe any two genera of Trilobites, illustrating your description by sketches.

10. State what you know concerning the following. In which systems are they respectively found:—
    (a) Crinoids, or Stone Lilies?
    (b) Dinosaurs?
    (c) Calamites?

BIOLOGY.

Time, 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted: four in the first section and three in the second.

BOTANY.

1. Give an account of photosynthesis.

2. Discuss fermentation and decay.

3. Describe those modifications of fruits and seeds which ensure the wider dispersal of species.

4. Compare the vegetation of a mountainous region, a well-watered plain, a desert, and a swamp.

5. Describe three of the following genera: Spirogyra, Puccinia, Sphagnum, Lycopodium, Pinus.

6. Give a short account of six plants, belonging to different families, which are sources of food for man.

ZOOLOGY.

1. What are the chief organ-systems of a vertebrate animal, and what are their relative positions?

2. Describe the function of respiration in animals of different classes, and discuss so far as possible the importance of pure air supply to man.

3. Describe the external features and life-history of a distome, or of any other internal parasite of the flatworm type.

4. Give the natural habits and mode of life of the following animals: earthworm, crayfish, freshwater mussel, common grasshopper.

5. What is meant by a zoological classification, and of what value is it in the arrangement of animal groups?

1. Translate into French:

In choosing persons for all employments, they have more regard to good morals than to great abilities; for, since government is necessary to mankind, they believe that the common range of human understanding is fitted to some station or other; and that Providence never intended to make the management of public affairs a mystery to be comprehended only by a few persons of sublime genius, of which there seldom are three born in an age: but they suppose truth, justice, temperance, and the like, to be in every man's power; the practice of which virtues, assisted by experience and good intention, would qualify any man for the service of his country, except where a course of study is required. But they thought the want of moral virtues was so far from being supplied by superior endowments of the mind, that employments could never be put into such dangerous hands as those of persons so qualified; and, at least, that the mistakes committed by ignorance, in a virtuous disposition, would never be of such fatal consequence to the public weal, as the practices of a man whose inclinations led him to be corrupt, and who had great abilities, to manage, to multiply, and defend his corruptions.

2. Translate into English:

Ne serait-on pas vraiment tenté de croire que le caractère national d'un peuple dépend plus du sang dont il est sorti que des institutions politiques ou de la nature du pays? Voilà des Français mêlés depuis quatre-vingts ans à une population anglaise; soumis aux lois de l'Angleterre, plus séparés de la mère patrie que s'ils habitaient aux antipodes. Eh bien! Ce sont encore des Français trait pour trait; non seulement les vieux, mais tous, jusqu'au bambin qui fait tourner sa toupie. Comme nous, ils sont vifs, alertes, intelligents, railleurs, emportés, grands parleurs et fort difficiles à conduire quand leurs passions sont allumées. Ils sont guerriers par excellence et aiment le bruit plus que l'argent. A côté, et nés comme eux dans le pays, se trouvent des Anglais flegmatiques et logiciens comme aux bords de la Tamise; gens sages qui pensent que la guerre est le plus grand fléau de la race humaine, mais qui la feraient cependant aussi bien que d'autres, parce qu'ils ont calculé qu'il y a des choses plus difficiles à supporter que la mort.

Les avantages et les dangers de l'immigration.
Vouloir c'est pouvoir.
A quelles conditions peut-on être heureux?

1. Translate into French:

25 The opening of the 15th century saw a considerable development in the science of navigation. At this time the Venetians were employing in their extensive maritime trade vessels of large dimensions, and the methods of sailing these had likewise experienced considerable improvement. A rude sort of compass was now in use. As by these means the sea lost much of the mystery that had up to now enveloped it, competition for its dominion became more keen among those people who enjoyed a sea-board; and in the course of this competition many of the principles of sea power became more fully understood, and were therefore placed upon a firm basis.

25 2. Translate the following letter into French:

OTTAWA, October 31st, 1913.

E. FREY,
Director,
International Telegraph Bureau,
Berne, Switzerland.

SIR,—I have the honour to advise you that under Section 6 of Article 42 of the Service Regulations annexed to the London Convention, whereby Administrations are empowered to make arrangements with private Companies for the liquidation of accounts, the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of Canada operating certain coast stations on the Great Lakes and East coast of Canada are now authorized to render accounts for charges on messages directly to the Administrations or parties responsible for those charges.

Should any questions arise as to the correct rate applying in any particular case, it is requested that the matter will be referred to this Administration for adjustment.

I have the honour to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

Deputy Minister of the Naval Service of Canada.

25 3. Write a letter from the Deputy Minister to the High Commissioner for Canada in France asking when a reply may be expected to a previous letter requesting information regarding the administration of French dockyards.

25 4. Translate the following into English:

La méthode d'intercommunication consiste, d'après mon invention, à utiliser certains procédés et appareils dans le but de produire et de découvrir une série suffisamment prolongée d'oscillations électriques rapides et à les disposer de façon à ce que l'excitation d'une fréquence d'oscillations particulières à la station expéditrice puisse correspondre dans un appareil télégraphique d'une station éloignée, grâce à son association, par un relais ou autrement, avec un circuit auxiliaire capable d'oscillations électriques de cette même fréquence particulière.

ou de multiples ou sous-multiples de cette fréquence. Une autre station eloignée sera installée d'une façon similaire pour recevoir les messages en excitant aux stations expéditrices des alternations d'une différente fréquence et ainsi de suite; ainsi, les messages individuels peuvent être transmis à des stations individuelles sans déranger les dispositifs récepteurs des autres stations qui sont accordés, ou syntonisés à une période différente; chaque station sera pourvue ordinairement des appareils transmetteur et récepteur.

About A.D. 1000 Leif Ericson, a Norseman, led an expedition from Greenland to the shores of what is now Canada, but the first effective contact of Europeans with Canada was not until the end of the 15th century. John Cabot, sailing from Bristol, reached the shores of Canada in 1497. Soon after, fishermen from Europe began to go in considerable numbers to the Newfoundland banks, and in time to the coasts of the mainland of America. In 1534, a French expedition under Jacques Cartier, a seaman of St. Malo, sent out by Francis I., entered the Gulf of St. Lawrence. In the following year, Cartier sailed up the river as far as the Lachine rapids, to the spot where Montreal now stands. During the next sixty years, the fisheries and the fur trade received some attention, but no colonization was undertaken.

The harem of a Turkish house must always be to the male sex more or less of a mystery, but if the ladies who read these pages could enter one, they might be surprised to find there only one wife. For although allowed by law to have four wives, the Turk of the present day rarely has more than one. This fact is due in part to motives of economy; for every wife is legally entitled to her separate apartment and her private servants, and this, in these days, even in the Orient, involves a large outlay in money. Moreover, since a Mohammedan's wives must all be treated on a basis of perfect equality, any expense which the husband incurs for one, must be multiplied by the number of his wives. Hence we can understand the Turkish proverb which declares that a household with four wives is like a vessel in a storm.

In the conditions of modern society, polygamy, in large Oriental cities at least, is practically curing itself, save in the case of the Sultan or of wealthy officials.

The laying of the Atlantic cable conecting the old and the new worlds was the most importent forwerd step in civelezation and the most dareing ellectrecal feet ever undertaken up to that time. Before the year 1865, when the first successful cable was laid, all interchange of news between the two countries and between the two worlds was by means of letters and belaited newspapers caried by slow-going boats. In these days of the instentanious tellegraf it is hard to reelize this, for we now have the latist news from all over the world gathred into one sheet and read allmost as soon as it has hapened. It is easy to see the inormons advantiges which a cable of this kind renderd possible, the imedeate interchange of news and of thought helping civelezation and commirce in a way not possible by any other meens.

A great number of cables now stretch around the world, and these were formirly the soal methods of inter-osheanic tellegraf communication, but to-day we have the Marconi wireless telegraf, and it is probible that before many years have ellapsed, cables will be a thing of the past.

In the consideration of the question of the conservation and intelligent and economic use of our forest resources, the preservation of the forest from destruction by fire is undoubtedly the first and greatest need, as this danger is one that recurs every summer. In this instance the truth of the adage, that "prevention is better than cure," is most marked, as fire in a few hours will destroy what cannot be reproduced in a century, if ever. In the interest of the general public, as well as of the owners and manufacturers of timber, the safe-guarding of the forests from fire should be recognized by the various governments as being one of their most important functions, and the necessary funds for its accomplishment should be provided in a manner that is commensurate with the importance and magnitude of the work.

In British Columbia, for example, observation of land already cleared discloses the fact that there yet remains on the ground a considerable number of small fir, cedar, spruce and hemlock trees, together with a crop of seedlings. Protection from devastating fires is, therefore, the most important subject in this connection, and work to this end should be prosecuted in the most energetic manner.

1. The local postmaster has received from Cleveland, Ohio, a letter signed by Henry J. Doe, 864 Talbot avenue, asking for information regarding some relatives (family of Richard J. Doe) that used to live in those parts. To you, his assistant, the postmaster has given the following headings of a reply: Family not here now; moved west about twenty years ago; not sure of present address; might be Brandon, Man.; Does were intimate with family of Robert Jones; Jones live at ————————; might get further information from them.

   Write the letter.

2 Give in good form, within the limits of about 300 words, the substance of the following paragraphs on Trade Schools in London, England:—

In Evening Schools the trade classes are open only to those in the trade—workmen or apprentices—and that is really an agreement with the trades unions; that is, only a bricklayer can join a bricklayer's class; the ironmonger's man is not allowed to join the plumber's class, etc. If a man wants some training in woodwork, but is not a carpenter, he cannot join the carpenters' class, but is put in the Manual Training class, where there is just woodworking with tools. For 10 or 15 years the Council has had no trouble with trades unions. It does not matter whether a pupil belongs to the union, but he must be in the trade. The Council judges from investigation how many the trade can absorb, and trains them in that trade for local absorption. The Council would not take the stand that it was not right to train them for other places, say the colonies, because of the expense to London itself; on the contrary, they would be very glad if a boy were able to become a silversmith in Toronto, for example. As a rule, however, the boys have no thought of getting places anywhere except near home. These classes are only 5 or 6 years in existence, and are just developing, hence care must be taken that the boys trained are placed so that parents will have faith in the schools.

The success of the schools is largely attributable to two salient features of the system:

(1) The thoroughness of the investigation which is made into the conditions of a trade before seeking to establish a school or class. Information is collected by the organizer by personal visits to employers of every kind in each industry; workrooms are seen, and foremen and workers, as well as heads of firms, are consulted. The inquiry is, in fact, pursued exhaustively until the organizer has a full understanding of the existing conditions of the trade, the likelihood of their permanence, and the kind of skill that modern industry and modern social life are demanding. Every possible step is taken to make co-operation with the employers a reality.

(2) The appointment of Consultative Committees of experts. The functions of these committees are solely advisory. They advise in the selection of the trade teachers, and in the apparatus and scale of the operations. Either singly or collectively, they visit the schools, inspect the work, offer criticism on the work of the students in their presence, and do not spare them praise or blame, according to their merits. In this way the school and the trade meet on common ground, and each learns from the other. The members are chosen not only for their knowledge of the trade, but also because of their interest in the social uplifting of the workers. The composite nature of the membership of these committees has been one of their great values. Formed, as they are, of representatives of the Masters' and Workmen's Associations, members of City Companies connected with the craft concerned, members of important arts and crafts organizations, and of those engaged in the distributing trades, the bringing together of such men, holding, as they often do, divergent views on art and technical training, yet keenly interested in its advancement, has resulted in an interchange of ideas and an appreciation of ideals which have frequently been productive of most useful suggestions for the development of the work. On the one hand, there are among them those who contend that the training should be entirely utilitarian, and that the classes should merely provide such training as cannot be given in the workshop, or as may be required to meet the demand of the fashion of the day. On the other hand, there are those who represent the æsthetic side, who are equally insistent on the primary importance of training in the traditional styles of art, and of a knowledge of the history of the crafts concerned; on the necessity for training students to apprehend wherein beauty exists; and for fostering and encouraging individual expression of ideas. These urge that the schools should not only aim at training highly competent workmen, but should also be a means of cultivating a taste for beauty, and of diffusing a sound knowledge of craftsmanship, and of thus becoming a lever by which the general standard of æsthetic taste, not only of the worker, but also of the distributor and the purchaser, may be slowly but surely lifted. The interchange of ideas thus rendered possible by these meetings not infrequently results in the recognition of the value of technical training from both these points of view, and in the formulation of proposals for securing these ends.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

Time: 2½ hours.

1. You have received from a friend in England, who has never been in Canada, a letter asking for information about the country, particularly the section in which you live. Write a reply in a letter of about 300 words, describing your locality, the climate, the chief occupations of the people, their social customs and means of recreation.

2. The following is an extract from a speech delivered before the Royal Commission on Chinese and Japanese Immigration. Give the substance of it in a few well-constructed paragraphs. The synopsis should not exceed one and one-half pages of the answer-book. Correct punctuation and grammatical structure of sentences are essential.

There would seem to be three great centres of the earth's surface which seem to be specially adapted for the habitation and enjoyment of the human race—the white, the mongol and the negro—each in its own centre, namely, the white in Europe and the northern part of the American continent and possibly some portion of the southern part of the American continent, the mongol in the north-eastern part of Asia, and the negro in Equatorial Africa and apparently in some parts of the United States. Each in its own centre appears to reign supreme, and it would seem as if neither of the others in that particular locality could oust the one for which it seems to have been specially designed. On the borders of each of these three great areas of the earth they come into conflict, either industrial or military, and it is just such a conflict as that that we have here. The question then arises, which is it that in the contest for the industrial and political occupation of the north-west part of the North American continent shall prevail? The white man or the Oriental? Now, we have all the legal and political advantages; we are in possession, and we would be worse than fools, we would be blundering traitors, if we ever allowed ourselves to be ousted from the advantageous position we possess. We have got to meet this great people on their own ground, not industrially but politically, and we have got to see that they are excluded from our borders, so that our own people may be allowed to come in and possess and occupy the land. Immigration into the north-west part of Canada is at present really excluded by the Oriental. The white labourer or the intending immigrant will not face eastern competition, and he is wise in his generation. He does not go to China, and he does not go to Japan, but seeks a newer and wider field. In point of fact, the western man—the man of the British Islands, the great colonizing nation of the world—never went east but for the purpose of conquest. For the purpose of occupation and colonization, he leaves the east and goes towards the west. Merciless he may be in his progress. He may trample other races under his foot; he may either absorb or extinguish them, and, if they are people of his own type, he will absorb them. If they are people of an inferior type, they will be extinguished. When, however, he comes in or near the boundaries of either of the other two great races of mankind, then he meets them within their own territory, with a power equal to his. He meets a race incapable of extinguishment, and before which even he, with all his characteristic vigour and endurance, is bound to recoil. Let us then see that in this our land this conflict may be put an end to, and our industrial classes not brought into conflict with the races already referred to. We cannot allow one of the fairest portions of the earth's surface to be wrested from Canadians. The question is then not wholly economic and industrial, but, as I already pointed out, largely a national question.

We have commercial protection, and to that extent benefit both the Canadian labourer and Canadian capitalist. We have laws preventing the introduction of alien labour. Why should we not go one step further and prevent the voluntary immigration into our country of a class of labourers, not only aliens in race, but aliens in civilization?

TRANSCRIPTION AND WRITING.

Time: 1 hour.

Value—50 for each.

The candidate is required to make a neat, clean and correct copy of the manuscript handed to him with this slip, writing out all abbreviations at full length, and correcting any misspellings. The words scored through are to be omitted, and the interlineations and the marginal and other additions are to be inserted in their proper places as indicated. All changes or corrections, other than these, will be counted as errors. This paper will be taken as a test of writing also.

ARITHMETIC.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Candidates are to do all the questions. All work must be shown.

Value—100.

1. On May 1st, 1914, The Robert Simpson Co. of Toronto sold to Mr. James Rose the following: 56 yds. carpet at $1.12½ a yd.; 64 yds. matting at 19¼ cents a yd.; 8 small rugs at $2¾ each; 10 pairs of curtains at $8⅝ a pair; ½ dozen dining-room chairs at $3½ each; 25 yards cloth at $2.40 a yd., and 5 couch-covers at $4⅛ each. Make out the account and receipt it.

2. A man sold a city lot, losing thereby 25% of the cost of the lot, and with the proceeds he bought a house which he sold immediately for $3500, thereby gaining 16⅔%. Find cost of the lot and his total gain or loss per cent.

3. Find the cost of painting the walls and ceiling of a hall 60 ft. long, 10 ft. wide and 12 ft. high at 54c. per sq. yd., allowing for two doors each 6 ft. x 3 ft. and one window 10 ft. x 4 ft.

4. A man borrowed $560 from the Bank of Montreal on Feb. 1st, 1913, at 8 per cent per annum. At the end of a certain time he returned to the Bank $595.84, being Principal and Interest in full. On what date was the money returned? (1 year = 365 days.)

5. A farmer divided his farm among his three sons; to the first he gave 80 acres, to the second ⅕ of the farm, and to the third ⅔ as much as to both the others. How many acres did the farm contain?

6. A salesman was given his choice of the following offers: (a) A commission of 8½% on all sales, or (b) A salary of $40 a week together with 3½% commission on all sales. He accepted the former offer, which, at the end of the year, he found to be $1670 better than the latter. Find the value of the goods sold. (1 yr. = 52 weeks.)

7. A retail bookseller to whom the wholesale merchant allows discounts of 20% and 15%, buys a book of which the catalogue price is $2.50, and sells it at a profit of 30%. Find the retail dealer's selling price.

GEOGRAPHY.

Time: 2 hours.

NOTE.—Eight questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. How is the position of a place determined on the globe or on a map?

2. Draw a map of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence. Locate on it the chief ports on the lakes, and the cities on both shores of the river.

3. Describe the drainage of the province of Quebec.

4. Trace the course of the main lines and the most important branches of the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Railways.

5. What are the boundaries, the population and the area of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia?

6. In what parts of Canada are the following natural products found: (a) silver, (b) gold, (c) iron ores, (d) coal, (e) asbestos, (f) nickel?

7. Name the New England States and their capitals.

8. Show how Canadian transportation may be affected by the opening of the Hudson Bay Railway.

9. Draw an outline map of the British Isles, and locate on it the following cities: London, Liverpool, Dover, Dublin, Queenstown, and Glasgow.

10. Name the countries of Europe that border on the Mediterranean Sea.

HISTORY.

Time: 2 hours.

NOTE.—Candidates must take Questions 1 and 2, and any four others—six questions in all.

Value—100.

1. Write brief notes (four or five lines each) on any five of the following: Sir Robert Peel, James Hargreaves, Richard Cobden, Robert Baldwin, Louis Joseph Papineau, Roberval, Sir George Etienne Cartier, Sir John Abbott, Lord Strathcona, Sir Leonard Tilley.

2. Explain: vote by ballot, manhood franchise, plural voting, representation by population, nomination day, election by acclamation, returning officer, polling booth, scrutineer, spoiled ballot.

3. What is meant by saying that Britain exercises a Protectorate over Egypt? Explain as fully as you can the events that led up to this Protectorate.

4. What were the chief arguments advanced in favour of Canadian Confederation by those who brought it about? Discuss briefly to what extent Confederation has justified the main hopes of its founders.

5. Why is it necessary from time to time to increase the number of members in the Parliament of Canada? Explain clearly how this is done.

6. Describe as fully as you can how Canada was governed from 1759 to 1763.

7. Outline briefly the foreign and domestic policies of Louis XIV. Show with some detail how far he was successful in carrying out either of these policies.

8. Give as fully as you can the successive steps in the planning and building of the Canadian Pacific Railway from 1871 to 1885.

TYPEWRITING.

Time: 30 minutes.

Value—100.

Q. How do you explain the fact that although there is only a small fraction available of the number that existed fifteen or twenty years ago, the demand for furs is still being met, apparently?

A. I have already explained that more furs are worn on account of the prevailing fashion of living out-of-doors in automobiles. Of the more costly furs, it is true, there is only a small fraction taken compared with the number caught years ago. Of the cheaper grades there are more being caught at the present time, and the trappers are penetrating into remoter regions for the purpose of obtaining them. The costly furs, however, are not available to-day to the extent that they formerly were.

Q. You say that the increased use of furs is largely accounted for by the increased use of automobiles?

A. Yes.

Q. Well, people of that class are hardly using cheap furs. If costly furs are not available, these people must be using rabbit skins and all sorts of stuff.

A. If I understand your question correctly, I would say that the increased demand for furs has been met in this manner: The furrier saw the condition of the fur trade and realized that he could not get costly furs. Then he employed the dresser and dyer of furs to take a hand in the game. To supply the demand for cheaper furs, trappers penetrated into regions never before entered by them, and brought back marmots, ordinary rabbits, hares, cooneys and muskrats, hamsters, nutria, opossum, and all these cheaper grades of animals, and sent them to the dresser and dyer. By clipping, dyeing and dressing these pelts they are made into very respectable-looking furs for the shop window, and are given fancy names, such as silver fox, Alaska sable, Baltic seal, electric seal, Hudson Bay seal, fisher, beaver, mink, and so forth. For instance, the muskrat is called Hudson Bay seal, and a very respectable-looking and durable fur it is.

By the Chairman:

Q. In some cases they take the skins of jack rabbits?

A. Yes, and in some cases these may be sold as "black lynx." In 1910, over $2,000,000 rabbit skins were used in London alone, and in Australia thousands and thousands are used for felting. The nutria of South America is used for an imitation of beaver, so that a purchaser when ordering beaver may really be getting nutria. The demand for the cheaper grades of furs has become so great that very soon muskrat and skunk will be classed among the medium-priced furs, and the yet cheaper grades of furs will be hunted to the point of extinction.

The fox is an animal that is to be found nearly everywhere throughout Canada, and there are several species of them. Only the better grades of fox skins used to be sold, but to-day varieties of foxes are caught that trappers never bothered with before. Let me give you an approximation of the number of foxes caught in the Old and New Worlds, based on the figures for three years, 1907 to 1909, inclusive:

FOXES—YEARLY PRODUCTION.

	North America.	Europe.
Common Fox—Red	200,000	775,000
Cross	15,000
Silver	4,000
Karganer Fox
Kit Fox	4,000
Japan Fox
Grey Fox	50,000
Arctic Fox—Blue	6,000	1,000
White	30,000	5,000

Making a total of well over a million fox skins used in the whole world.

The Karganer fox is brought from the interior of Asia, but very few of them have come out this year, on account of the Turkish war. These fox skins, particularly those of the European fox, lend themselves to dyeing, and if you go down on the market and ask for fox to-day, that is what you will usually be shown.

SHORTHAND.

NOTE.—Both the following passages should be dictated to the candidates in a clear and distinct voice, at the rates indicated. No preliminary reading is to be given to the candidates. The bar-strokes will indicate to the reader his progress at the end of every fifteen seconds. Upon completion of the two readings, the candidates should be notified that they will be allowed one hour and a half for transcribing their shorthand notes in manuscript.

EIGHTY WORDS PER MINUTE.

The accommodation which the Port of London Authority has at its disposal for the reception and storing of all kinds | of produce is of a vast area, and nothing is spared to keep the whole equipment abreast of present-day | requirements. At the Commercial Docks, where almost the whole of the Canadian cheese and apples are landed, the cold-storage | warehouses are right alongside the docks, and all consignments are carefully and quickly handled. For delivering the cheese to the | merchants' vans, a kind of continuous travelling stairway is used which is very quick in delivery and helps to prevent | breakage of boxes. At this dock also the grain warehouses are very extensive, and there is cold-storage accommodation for | the equivalent of 75,000 sheep. Most of the frozen or chilled beef, mutton and lamb is discharged | at the Royal Victoria and Albert Docks, where the equipment for handling this produce is of the very latest type. | All the main railway lines run right alongside the dock, and the cold-storage sheds can discharge produce right | into the railway trucks. The accommodation here is equivalent to 552,000 sheep, and it is intended | to extend to another 250,000. In discharging chilled beef, a continuous band from the ship's | side is met on the covered road by an overhead runway, which connects with the ordinary railway trucks. |

ONE HUNDRED WORDS PER MINUTE.

I am very much interested in the transportation question. While two years ago our apples were carried to Winnipeg in five to seven days | on an average, this year the quickest despatch we have received has been ten days. I therefore claim that the railway companies are charging us | for a service that they are not giving, and under existing conditions we have no remedy. Carloads of feed and flour are carried from | Montreal to Nova Scotia at a rate of twenty-five cents per 100 pounds, and receive the same despatch and attention as carloads | of apples for which we have to pay thirty-two cents per 100 pounds. You will see by these figures that the railway companies | are levying on the apple industry a toll out of all proportion to the services rendered. In addition to this, they flatly refuse to grant | us clean bills of lading; endorsing all bills of lading, "As recorded by the shipper." A bill of lading so endorsed is perfectly worthless. | They claim that cars being loaded at our warehouses are loaded on private sidings, and for that reason we cannot obtain a clean bill of lading. | While the apples are certainly loaded at our warehouses, all of these warehouses with but one exception are at railway stations, so that the officials | have not to be away from their stations for the purpose of checking cars. We intend to purchase all the feed and flour required by | our members, and we estimate that we shall handle about 200 carloads of this material during the year, at a saving to our members | of about $20,000. Through co-operative selling and handling of the product of the orchards, apples can be sold at a lower price than ever | before.

In the work on the Panama Canal enjeneering sience met every ordinery problem of canal construcion besides some that were uneeke. The dificultees of great locks, emense cuts, quicksands and slides were but exagerrated examples of simmiler dificultees met in the building of any canal, but at Panama, climattic condishuns, dedly diseases and an extraordinery tropicil rainfall had to be provided for. That the problems presented were successfully combated, reflecks the greatest possible credet upon the enjeneers in charge of the jigantic undertakeing. All who read about the canal will find frekwent refferences to the Gatun Dam; this stupendus work was necesetated because the Chagres River goes on a rampaige after a rainfall and rises with a rapidety and voilence allmost impossеble to reelise. This great dam consirves the water for use, and the uneekness of its planning consists in the fact that it can at the same time dispose of any excessive rainfall without risk of dissaster. It allows much more water to floe away harmlessly than the rain has ever been known to bring down in the heviest freshit.

Formirly in canal construcion the exkavation was done laboriously by means of hand shovles and crood crains, but to acomplish this inormus enterprize great steam shovles and monstir cantileaver crains were emploied.

The physiography of North America, though it has its regional diversities, is characteristically as simple as the European continent is varied. In this respect it is better fitted for man, though it must fail in creating those rich and dissimilar physical and mental types which we see in the Old World. The lack of variety in physical conformation of the continent has its counterpart in the people. The human types are little diversified, and the mental characteristics, if not altogether uniform, correspond very closely to the same model. Nor have the political divisions produced much contrariety, and the little that has existed is every day yielding to the influences of travel and social and commercial intercourse. Even when the communities were isolated, there was not much divergence in habits and thought, beyond that which differentiates inland communities from maritime, and marks off a provincial and rural people from those that live in towns and acquire cosmopolitan manners and tastes. Nor among the aboriginal inhabitants of the continent do we find much mental differentiation, save that which distinguishes the forest from the prairie Indians, or is connected with minor variations from the general structural affinity of the tribal languages.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

25 7. Set out on not more than two pages in orderly form the gist of the following speech. Arrange your summary in such a manner as to enable a busy man readily to grasp all the salient points.

I would draw the attention of the House for a moment to the means adopted in other countries to reach that class of people and to secure the country against the concentration of credit in times of stringency of which we now complain. In France, they have a very limited number of banks indeed. The total number of banks is some 490, and their branches number about 1,730. The House will see that the total number of banks in the whole Republic of France is only about sixty per cent of the number of banks, including branches, that we have in Canada. The remainder of the banking facilities of France consist entirely of co-operative banks, which have been utilized in that country, as all over the world, to make up the deficiency of which I complain here. But in France the Bank of France, being the backbone, the very life-blood, of the banking system of that country, is so constructed and so organized that the State through its means protects itself against the evil complained of in this country. The State has taken care that the extremities of the country and the smaller towns shall not suffer, in comparison with the larger points, in the distribution of credit. The Bank of France has some 30,000 shareholders. These elect a council who control the affairs of the bank. But the governor and the sub-governors are appointed by the government; and in addition to this, the State takes care of the outlying districts by appointing the comptrollers or managers of the branch banks. Thus precaution is taken that no injustice shall be done to the extremities as against the larger centres.

Under the banking system of Germany, even greater precautions are taken. The Bank of Germany, the Reichbank as it is called, holds the same relation to the banking machinery of Germany that the Bank of France does to the banking machinery of France. The Reichbank is run by some nine directors, and these directors are named by the federal council; in other words, they are named by the government, and the governor himself and the sub-governors are similarly appointed. And over these directors sits a curatorium of five members, all named by the Government of Germany. And, while the funds are entirely private funds, while the shares are owned altogether by individuals, the State has taken care that each and every branch of the bank of that country is directly controlled by the office of State, with the result that they are able to protect the credit-seeking public from any concentration of bank assets, especially in times of banking stringency. The State has even gone further, and, in the last panic or semi-panic which was feared in that country, but which really did not befall with any great severity, the State prepared to deposit its funds in the small co-operative institutions among the agricultural population, so as to fortify them first and foremost against the effects of the panic.

In Belgium, which was selected by the plenipotentiaries of Japan as having the most perfect banking system in the world, the chief bank—because there, as well as in other countries, there is one to which the others are mere adjuncts, one which is the backbone, the centre of the banking system—the governments and sub-governments are named by the State. Furthermore, there is a bank commissioner, whose duty it is to go from branch to branch of that bank to see that each and every part is duly served, and to see that the public functions of the bank are duly discharged. In all the banks I have named, those of Germany, France and Belgium, care is taken that the needs of the outlying parts are served. These needs are under the special care of those interested in serving them, because special committees are appointed, and are compelled to be appointed by those in authority, consisting of prominent mercantile, industrial and agricultural citizens resident right at the point. It is their duty thus to control, to enlarge or to restrict the credit of any point. This important matter is thus in charge of those with local interests and local sympathies, and who stand themselves to gain or lose by the success or otherwise of the point so to be served.

The same might be said of Sweden; indeed in that country they have actually subsidized many of the banks, as a direct precaution against their leaving the smaller parts of the country. In Europe, therefore, in addition to the many great advantages provided, care has been taken that the smaller parts of the country, and especially the agricultural sections, do not suffer at the hands of those charged with the responsibility of distributing the funds centred in the banks.

In the United States they do not suffer as we do, and the report of the Comptroller of Currency for that country for the recent year makes it very clear that the multiplication of these small unit banks is proceeding at a wonderful rate. The individual banks have increased in number from 10,000 in 1900 to about 24,000 at the present time, and the amount of capital resident in the City of New York, which in 1900 was eleven per cent, was reduced to nine and a half in 1912; the total of the bank resources located in the City of New York in 1900 was 23·2 per cent, and this was reduced in 1912 to 18·9 per cent. It is evident, therefore, that in the United States they have guarded to a considerable extent against the extreme tendency of the money to flow to the large centres, especially under abnormal conditions or at financially stringent times.

ENGLISH LITERATURE.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1 Why is Chaucer important in the history of English poetry and of the English language? Describe the plan of the Canterbury Tales. Give in your own words Chaucer's description of any one of the pilgrims.

2 Name three of the minor poems of Milton. Give an account of any one of these, outlining the thought and describing the versification.

3 Name three important prose writers (not novelists) of the eighteenth century, mentioning two works of each. Give a brief summary and description of any one of the works you enumerate.

4. Why is "Robinson Crusoe" considered an important book in the history of English literature? Who wrote it? Mention two other novelists of the eighteenth century, and give the titles of two novels written by each.

5. Name three outstanding prose writers (not novelists) of the Victorian Era. Give a list of three works by each of them. Give the contents of any one of these works, and tell why you think it important.

6. Name three of the greater poets of the Victorian Era. Give a list of six poems by each of them. Which of the three do you consider greatest? Give reasons for your answer.

7. Name three of the greater novelists of the Victorian Era. Make a list of four novels by each of them. Compare any one of the three with Scott as a painter of men and manners, and as a social reformer.

8. Name and describe one work by each of the following: Spenser, Ben Jonson, Dryden, Pope, Sheridan, Cowper, Gray, Lamb, De Quincey, Coleridge, Green, Darwin.

9. Give an account of:

(a) The rise of the English drama from the earliest times to the death of Queen Elizabeth; or

(b) The development of the English drama from the accession of James I. to the end of the seventeenth century; or

(c) Essay-writing in the eighteenth century; or

(d) Historical writing in English; or

(e) English journalism in the nineteenth century.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted. The details of the work must be given.

Value—100.

1. Find the value of $\frac{4}{\sqrt{17}-3}$ correct to four places of decimals.

2. Find the greatest number which will exactly divide both 867502 and 1000369; find also the smallest number which is exactly divisible by both the numbers.

3. A rectangular carpet 21 feet 6 inches long and 16 feet 10½ inches wide is put down in a room, leaving a space of 16 inches wide along each side and 24 inches wide along each end, unoccupied. If the carpet cost $1.28 per square yard, and the remaining space is covered with inlaid woodwork, costing 16 cents per square foot, find the whole cost.

4. How long (in minutes) will it take to describe the boundary of a square field containing 13 acres 81 square yards, at the rate of 3¾ miles an hour?

5. A man sells 3½% stock at 92, and invests in 4½% stock at par. By what fraction is his income increased?

6. When is the bill due, if the Present Worth of $537.60 at 3 per cent is $480?

7. Find the difference between the simple and compound interest of $700 is three years at 4½ per cent per annum.

8. A copper wire $\frac{1}{10}$ inch in diameter is evenly wound about a cylinder, whose length is 6 inches and diameter 9·9 inches, so as to cover the curved surface. Find the length and weight of the wire, if 1 cubic inch of copper weighs 5·1 ounces ($\pi = 3{\cdot}146$.)

9. Three partners, A, B and C, own a business; B's capital is twice A's, and C's twice B's; their profits, which are 10% on the whole capital, amount to $11,655. What capital has each partner in the business?

10. The receipts of a shop for 12 days averaged $85; the average for the first four days was $75, and the average for the last seven days was $95. What were the receipts on the fifth day?

ALGEBRA.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. If $a=5$, $b=3$, $c=-2$, find the value of the expressions
   (i) $a^3b-3a^2bc^2+4abc-b^3-c^3$.
   (ii) $2^a+2^b+2^c+2^0$.

2. Simplify $\dfrac{1-2x}{4x-3-x^2}+\dfrac{3-x}{x^2-4+3x}+\dfrac{x+14}{12-x^2-x}$.

3. (i) Separate into two factors x^4+4y^4.
   (ii) Prove that $x-1$ and $x+1$ are two factors of the expression $x^{30}-24x^2+23$.

4. Solve (i) $\left(\dfrac{mx}{n}-a\right)\left(b-\dfrac{nx}{a}\right)=\dfrac{m}{a}\left(1+x\right)\left(1-x\right)$.
   (ii) $x+y-z=6x+y-3z=-12x+4y+6z=6$.

5. Solve $x^2+px+q=0$, showing the work in full: and give the conditions that the two roots may be real and unequal, real and equal, or imaginary.

6. Find the square root of $4x^6-20x^5+33x^4-32x^3+34x^2-12x+9$.

7. A body falling freely by the force of gravity passes through a distance that varies as the square of the time taken, and in the first second it falls 16½ feet. How long will it take a stone to fall 579 feet?

8. Draw the graph of the function $y=x^2+2x+2$; and show from the curve that the roots of the equation $x^2+2x+2=0$ are imaginary.

9. A business firm borrows $A, and promises to pay it back in n equal annual payments with compound interest at rate r. What is the amount of the annual payment?

10. (i) Given $x=yz^m$, express m in terms of the other quantities.
    (ii) Given log. 2 = ·30103, log. 3 = ·47712, log. 5·906 = ·77129, find the value of $\dfrac{8}{27}\sqrt[7]{125}$, correct to three places of decimals.

GEOMETRY.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. If two triangles have two sides of the one equal to two sides of the other, each to each, and the angles included by those sides are equal, then the triangles are equal in all respects.

   ABC is an isosceles triangle; from the equal sides AB, AC, two equal parts AX, AY are cut off, and BY and CX are joined. Prove that BY = CX.

2. If the diagonals bisect one another, the quadrilateral is a parallelogram.

   Through a given point P between two given straight lines draw a straight line terminated by the given lines and bisected at P.

3. In any triangle the sum of the squares on the two sides is equal to twice the square on half the base, together with twice the square on the median which bisects the base.

State the theorem for the particular case in which the vertex approaches the base and ultimately lies in the base or the base produced.

4. If a straight line touches a circle, the angles which it makes with a chord through the point of contact are equal to the angles in the alternate segments.

Three points A, B, C are taken on a circle, and a straight line parallel to the tangent at A intersects AB, AC in D, E; prove that a circle can be described through the four points B, C, D, E.

5. On a given straight line draw a segment of a circle containing an angle equal to a given angle.

In a given circle inscribe a triangle equiangular to a given triangle.

6. Inscribe a circle in a given triangle.

What is an escribed circle of a triangle? Show how one may be drawn.

7. Divide a given straight line in medial section, that is, so that the rectangle contained by the whole line and one part may be equal to the square on the other part.

If X is the point which divides the line AB in medial section, show $\frac{AX}{AB} = \frac{\sqrt{5} - 1}{2}$.

8. If the vertical angle of a triangle is bisected, the bisector divides the base into segments which have the same ratio as the other sides of the triangle.

Frame a construction, based on this proposition, for trisecting a straight line of given length.

9. Find a fourth proportional to three given straight lines.

Divide a straight line into segments proportional to three given straight lines.

10. The rectangle contained by the diagonals of a quadrilateral inscribed in a circle is equal to the sum of the two rectangles contained by its opposite sides.

If the diagonals in the above proposition are at right angles, the sum of the rectangles contained by the opposite sides is double the area of the figure.

PHYSICS.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. Express in kilometres the length of a wire whose cross-section is one-tenth of a square millimetre, if the specific gravity of the material of which it is made be 7·5, and the weight of the wire be 3 kilogrammes.

2. Explain the difference between velocity and acceleration.

If a mass of 5 kilogrammes falls from rest under gravity ($g = 981$) for three seconds, calculate the work done on the mass by gravity during this period. What is the kinetic energy of the mass at the end of this period?

3. Define moment of force about a point.
   A uniform bar 9 feet long has weights of 9 pounds and 4 pounds respectively, suspended from its extremities. If the bar be balanced by resting it on a support at a point distant 4 feet from the 9-pound weight, find the weight of the beam.

4. Explain the difference between a Centigrade and a Fahrenheit thermometer.
   Which has the greater capacity for heat, 5 cc. of mercury or 3 cc. of water? (Specific gravity of mercury = 13·6; specific heat of mercury = 0·033.)

5. If a certain mass of gas occupies 123·4 cc. at 170° C. and 752 mm. of mercury pressure, what volume will it occupy at 84° C. and 774 mm. pressure?

6. Explain the formation of the beats heard when two tuning-forks which are not quite in unison are sounded together.

7. Explain, with diagrams, the principle of a simple magnifying glass. Also, describe the optical system of the human eye, giving an account, with diagrams, of how the system adapts itself to vision at various distances.

8. Describe the construction and use of a spectroscope, and explain how you would use the instrument to obtain (1) a line spectrum and (2) a continuous spectrum. To what are the dark lines in the solar spectrum due?

9. Describe experiments to show that
   (a) Two bodies may become electrically charged by friction.
   (b) Opposite electric charges are always produced in equal amounts by friction.
   (c) Like charges repel and unlike charges attract.

10. Describe an experiment to show that water can be decomposed by an electric current.
    Show how an induction coil may be used to produce (1) cathode rays, (2) Röntgen rays. Also, state the chief properties of those two types of rays.

CHEMISTRY.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted. Equations must be written for all definite chemical changes.

1. State Avogadro's Hypothesis. Show how it follows from this hypothesis that the chemical interaction of chlorine and hydrogen splits the molecules of each of these gases into smaller particles.

2. Give the formula of ethyl alcohol. What is alcoholic fermentation? What are the substances used in the industrial manufacture of alcohol? What is the saccharification of starch?

3. Describe the amalgamation process and the cyanide process of obtaining gold from its ores? How is auric chloride acted upon by stannous chloride?

4. Define: combining weight of an element, catalysis, neutralization. How much zinc oxide is required to neutralize 20 grains of hydrochloric acid? (Zn = 65, O = 16, H = 1, Cl = 35·5.)

5. What is Javel Water (l'Eau de Javel)? What is chloride of lime? How is chloride of lime prepared? What is the available chlorine in chloride of lime? Uses of chloride of lime.

6. What is the vapour density of acetylene (from its formula)? Calculate the weight of 10 litres of this gas at normal temperature and pressure.

7. Define: Electrolysis, Cathode, Anode, Ions. Give an example of electrolysis accompanied by secondary reactions.

8. Does silicon occur free in nature? What is silica? What is water glass? How is it made? How is silicic acid obtained?

9. What is the molecular weight of cane sugar, if an aqueous solution of 10 grams of cane sugar per litre has an osmotic pressure of 521 mm. of mercury at 15° C.?

10. How many litres of ammonia at 20° C. and at a pressure of 540 mm. of mercury can be obtained from 60 grams of ammonium sulphate? (S = 32, O = 16, N = 14, H = 1.)

GEOLOGY.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. Give the composition, properties, and uses of the following minerals: hematite, biotite, calcite, pyrite, graphite, and corundum. Mention localities where they occur.

2. What is meant by a stratum, and what kinds of rocks show stratification? What is meant by cross-bedding and by lamination? Explain the terms dip and strike, illustrating by diagrams.

3. What is the significance of the word peneplain? What forces are at work in the world to produce peneplains? Mention a Canadian peneplain, and describe its present condition.

4. What relations have earthquakes to faults? Give examples of such relations. How are earthquake waves transmitted, and what instruments are used to record them? Mention two great earthquakes, and describe their effects.

5. How are the openings produced in which ores occur, and by what means are such ores deposited? Mention the chief silver ores and gangue minerals in the veins at Cobalt.

6. Give an account of the Cambrian, mentioning important fossils occurring in these rocks, and their distribution in Canada. How do you account for the sudden appearance of fossils of many types at the beginning of the Palæozoic?

7. Describe and sketch characteristic plants of the Carboniferous, and describe how coal-beds were formed. Where does coal of Carboniferous age occur in Canada and the United States? Where does the coal used in Quebec and in Ontario come from?

8. Give an outline of the history of plant life after Palæozoic times, showing the types of trees growing in Canada in Mesozoic and Cenozoic times. Was coal formed from the plants of these ages?

9. When do fishes first appear in the Geological Column, and of what character were the earliest fishes? When did the modern type of fishes begin? When did amphibians begin? How are they related to fishes?

10. What is meant by glacial centres, and how many are recognized in Canada? How much of Canada was covered with ice in the Glacial Period? In a general way, what effects had the ice-sheets on the soil and surface features of the country?

11. At what stage did man appear in Europe, and what animals are found in deposits containing the earliest stone weapons? Were these men acquainted with fire? Did they cultivate any other art than the making of weapons?

BIOLOGY.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Eight questions only to be attempted: four in each of the two sections.

BOTANY.

Value—100.

1. Describe three fungi which cause diseases of cultivated plants.

2. Write the life-history of a fern.

3. Discuss symbiosis.

4. Describe three Canadian trees which are of great commercial value.

5. Give an account of the sources and functions of the mineral substances absorbed by plants.

6. Discuss hybridization and its relation to agriculture and horticulture.

ZOOLOGY.

1. Describe the skeleton of the limb of a typical walking vertebrate.

2. Describe the structure and life-history of Paramœcium.

3. Explain the use of the terms "genus," "species," and "order," giving comparative examples.

4. Describe the form and arrangement of the appendages, including those of the head, in a typical insect.

5. Discuss the characteristics of the parasitic as opposed to the free-living animals.

FRENCH AND ENGLISH.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Translate into French:

The newspapers of the future will not contain less reading matter; nevertheless, they will be less bulky. The method of distribution will be more expeditious, and the circulation will be more far-reaching.

Aeroplanes will be used for sending newspapers to remote districts. Electric trains will also be used. In large centres, electric or pneumatic tubes will be used for the distribution of newspapers. Special editions will be published every hour, night and day.

News will be transmitted by means of the wireless telegraph, and the reporter will carry a portable telephone about with him, to enable him to communicate news immediately to his paper.

The news will be communicated to those present at picture palaces and concerts by means of a cinematograph, a gramophone or other instruments.

Those who cannot read, or who are too idle to read, will have special instruments which will read for them.

2. Translate into English:

Dès le début, les seigneurs jouèrent au Canada un beau rôle, celui de protecteurs, de conseillers du colon. Ils se montrèrent généreux et tolérants envers leurs censitaires, et ces nobles qualités se transmirent à leurs successeurs dans beaucoup de seigneuries. Le système seigneurial eut le succès qu'on en attendait: il fut bienfaisant. S'il eût été suivi conformément aux lois du pays, et à l'esprit qui avait présidé à son introduction, on aurait été longtemps encore avant d'en souhaiter ardemment l'abolition. Malheureusement certains seigneurs commencèrent, même sous la domination française, à insérer dans leurs contrats des stipulations illégales; plus tard, après la conquête, les abus furent continués par quelques seigneurs français et quelques étrangers qui achetèrent des seigneuries; les abus de ce système l'emportèrent à la fin de beaucoup sur les avantages, et les droits seigneuriaux furent abolis en 1854.

3. Write a French Composition (about 200 words) on ONE of the following subjects:

La fête nationale.
Les avantages de l'épargne.
Le respect de soi-même.

LATIN.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Candidates will translate two only of the three following extracts, answering the questions appended to the extracts selected.

Translate:—

1. Timoleon Corinthius sine dubio omnium judicio vir magnus fuit. Namque patriam, in qua natus est, oppressam a tyranno liberavit totamque Siciliam multos annos bello vexatam et a barbaris victam suo adventu in pristinum (former condition) restituit. In his rebus, id quod difficillimum putatur, multo sapientius tulit secundam

quam adversam fortunam. Cum patriam liberavisset imperium deposuit ac privatus Syracusis reliquam vitam vixit.

2. (a) Account for the case of judicio, annos, bello, adventu, Syracusis. (b) Decline together in the singular totam Siciliam, suo adventu. (c) Write all the degrees of comparison of magnus, multos, sapientius.

3. Porsena, rex Etruscorum, ad restituendos in regnum Tarquinios infesto exercitu Romam venit. Primo impetu Janiculum cepit. Nunquam antea tantus terror invasit Romanos, tam valida tum civitas Clusina erat magnumque Porsenae nomen. Ex agris in urbem demigrant. Alia urbis pars muris, alia Tiberi objecto tuta esse videbatur. Pons Sublicius iter hostibus delisset nisi unus vir fuisset Horatius Cocles, illo cognomine appellatus quod in proelio oculum amiserat.

4. (e) Write the genitive plural of rex, nomen, urbem, pars, pons, hostibus. Decline throughout iter, vir, and write the vocative singular of Horatius Cocles. (b) Romam, in urbem. Why the omission of the preposition in the first expression? In proelio. Why not in proelium? (c) Write an explanatory note on Janiculum.

5. Nec procul hinc Rhesi niveis tentoria velis
Agnoscit lacrimans, primo quae prodita somno
Tydides multa vastabat caede eruentus,
Ardentesque avertit equos in castra priusquam
Pabula gustassent Trojae Xanthumque bibissent.
Parte alia fugiens amissis Troilus armis,
Infelix puer atque impar congressus Achilli,
Fertur equis curruque haeret resupinus inani,
Lora tenens tamen; huic cervixque comaeque trahuntur
Per terram, et versa pulvis inscribitur hasta.

6. (a) Give the principal parts of agnoscit, bibissent, amissis, haeret, tenens, trahuntur. Write the uncontracted form of gustassent. (b) Parse parte, curru, huic, versa, being careful to give the syntax. (c) How are the gender, number, and case of quae determined? (d) What is the construction of equis? (e) Decline pulvis in the singular.

7. Translate into Latin SIX only of the following as numbered:

1. (a) I will write a letter. (b) He said that he would write a letter.
2. Did you inquire how great the forces of the enemy were?
3. Cæsar, having conquered Gaul, set out for Rome.
4. You and he praise the rivers of the country.
5. He says that he has come to see you.
6. He said that he would give me the book which he had left in the city.
7. Cannot wisdom alone make men happy?
8. The Romans fought so bravely that they defeated the enemy.
9. I have sent six men to plough the field.
10. Is this said to have been done by night or by day?
11. We learn to write by writing, to speak by speaking.
12. Who can love him whom he fears?

8. Candidates will attempt ONE only of these groups of questions:

A. (a) How many nouns of declension 2 in -us are neuter? Write them. (b) Give any class of nouns of declension 3 having the genitive plural in -ium. (c) Decline mare, nox, navis, vis, filia, dens. (d) Express in another way: Filius est melior quam pater. Could the same change be made in Filius dedit plures libros matri quam patri? Reasons for your answer.

B. (a) How many endings have nouns of declension 2 in the genitive plural? (b) What irregular ending is found in the dative and ablative plural of nouns of declension 4? Examples. (c) Of what gender are nouns of declension 3 ending in -o, -or, -x, -c, -l? Examples. (d) Compare similis, acer, inferus, dives, vetus, celeriter, bene. (e) Express in two ways: The love of making war.

C. (a) What declensions have no neuter nouns? (b) Of what gender are nouns of declension 5? Exceptions. How many of these nouns are complete? (c) Write in full the future indicative of possum, the imperfect subjunctive of volo, and the present subjunctive of fio. (d) Exemplify the construction of muto, to exchange, by translating: They exchanged peace for war. (e) Translate, pointing out errors: Ego et tu sunt fortes; Eo ad Romae ut patrem viderem: Dic mihi quis es; Patre a gladio interfectus est.

GERMAN.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Translate into English:

Die Bedienten zweier Offiziere trafen sich auf der Strasse. Natürlich kam das Gespräch bald auf ihre Herren. Der Eine lobte seinen Herrn ausserordentlich. Er ist höflich, nachsichtig und freundlich, sagte er, und wenn ich ihm nur die Kleider gut bürste, so ist er immer zufrieden. Aber jetzt will ich dir von meinem Herrn erzählen, unterbrach ihn der Andere. Der ist noch viel besser: er klopft meine Uniform jeden Morgen aus, nachdem ich mit der seinigen fertig bin. Wirklich? fragte der Erste. Jawohl. Nur mit dem Unterschiede, dass ich meinem Rock anhabe, wenn er ihn ausklopft.

2. Translate into English:

Ausser nach Grossbritannien und Oesterreich-Ungarn führt das deutsche Reich nach keinem andern Lande eine so starke Warenmenge aus, als nach den Vereinigten Staaten. Der Wert dieser Ausfuhr bezifferte sich beispielweise im Jahre 1910 auf 632 Millionen Mark. Der Umstand, dass die Nachfrage aus Amerika nach gewissen Erzeugnissen der deutschen Industrie, wie Kleiderstoffen, Bieren und Spirituosen, musikalischen Instrumenten, Eisen- und Galanteriewaren, Chemikalien, Büchern und Zeitschriften, sowie verschiedenen Nahrungsmitteln einen bedeutenden Umfang hat, ist zum nicht geringen Teil auf den massenhaften Verbrauch solcher Artikel seitens der Deutsch-Amerikaner zurückzuführen. Dies zeigt, wie zähe diese an ihren von dem Mutterlande mitgebrachten Gewohnheiten festhalten und wie gern sie deutschen Erzeugnissen den Vorzug geben.

3. Translate into German:

Thursday, March 19th, 1914.

Dear Fred,

I am very grateful for your kind invitation, which I accept with great pleasure. If you will permit me, I will bring with me a friend of mine who is at present here on a visit. It is William Robertson, of whom I have so often spoken. I am sure you will like him as well as I do, for he is, amongst other things, an excellent singer and can recite humorous poems in a very pleasing way.

You may expect us to-morrow evening, not later than six o'clock.

With cordial greeting to all the family,

Yours affectionately,

Jack.

4. Translate into German:

(a) The bread that we buy at the baker's is not the best, but it is better than none at all.

(b) When meat costs twenty-five cents a pound, and eggs sixty cents a dozen, what will the poor man eat?

(c) Our good old friend came to us on the fifteenth of June and remained until the tenth of July.

(d) I wish you could have seen him. It would have been as great a pleasure for him as for yourself.

5. Write a composition in German, of about one page in length on any ONE of the following subjects:—

(a) Ein Besuch auf dem Lande.

(b) Eine Reise die ich machen möchte.

(c) Durch Kanada vom Atlantischen bis zum Stillen Meere, und was man auf der Reise sieht.

(d) Meine Lieblingslektüre.

MODERN HISTORY.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Six questions only are to be attempted.

1. "The struggle between England and France from 1715 to 1815 was primarily a struggle for colonial and commercial supremacy." Discuss this statement.

2. Give an estimate of William Pitt the Younger as a statesman.

3. Why were the people of Lower Canada hostile to the French Revolution and to Napoleon?

4. Outline the early history of the United Empire Loyalists.

5. Outline the work of Sir John A. Macdonald from 1867 to 1891.

6. Describe (with a map, if possible) the territorial expansion of the United States since 1815.

7. What new factors were introduced into English politics by Benjamin Disraeli?

8. Give some account of:

(a) The Berlin Decrees.

(b) Lord Durham's Report.

(c) The Missouri Compromise.

9. By what treaties have the boundaries between the United States and Canada been fixed? Describe (if possible, with a sketch map) the boundaries at the present time.

POLITICAL SCIENCE.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Six questions only are to be attempted.

1. Discuss briefly City Government by Commission, comparing it with the form of City Government existing in your province.

2. By what principle or standard should claims to the exercise of the franchise be tested? What, if any, weight should be given to considerations of age, sex, colour, education, property?

3. What is meant by Direct Legislation? Where has it been most widely adopted? Is it in force in Canada? Should it be made a regular part of our Provincial and Federal Government system?

4. Compare the relations between the Federal and Provincial Governments in Canada with those between the Federal and State Governments in the United States.

5. What conditions must a Russian subject fulfil to become a British subject in Canada? What privileges, if any, will he possess in Canada, not enjoyed by resident aliens? What will be his status if he returns to Russia?

6. Define the terms "Federal Government," "Unitary Government," "Parliamentary or Cabinet Government," "Presidential or Non-Parliamentary Government," and classify any fifteen States under these headings.

7. Enumerate the Executive Departments of the Dominion Government, noting some of the more important duties assigned to each Department. Why does Canada require nearly twice as many Cabinet Ministers as the United States?

8. Write a note on the Social Contract doctrine, setting forth its chief versions and explaining both why it was once so widely believed and why it has now lost credence.

9. State and comment upon the views of any two writers on either:
   The Liberty of the Individual; or
   The Theory of Sovereignty.

ECONOMICS.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Six questions only are to be attempted.

1. Define these terms: debenture, unlisted stocks, funded debt, tontine annuities, a degressive tax, a graduated income tax, communism, surplus value, par in the exchanges, sabotage.

2. (a) State clearly what is meant by Production. (b) What factors are essential to production, and in what form is each factor remunerated? (c) What would you say to the view that only the extractive industries are really productive?

3. Explain the following headings, showing why they are used in the returns of the Chartered Banks of Canada to the Finance Minister: (a) the amount of rest or reserve fund, (b) deposits payable on demand, (c) deposits payable after notice or on a fixed day, (d) greatest amount of notes in circulation at any one time during the month, (e) deposits with the Finance Minister for the security of the note circulation, (f) deposits in the central gold reserve.

4. (a) Compare Canada's trade with the United Kingdom and the United States, indicating the chief articles of our exports to, and imports from, each country. (b) What are the relative advantages of these countries in obtaining a market in Canada? (c) Account for our excess of imports over exports.

5. Discuss the advisability of exempting improvements entirely from local taxation.

6. Describe the organization and functions of mediæval craft guilds, and indicate the conditions which led to their dissolution.

7. What reasons, if any, can you give to indicate an industrial depression or financial stringency in Canada and other countries during the past year? Account for such conditions.

8. Discuss the labour organizations in Canada, indicating (a) the international and national organizations, (b) the nature and function of the local unions and their relations to each other, (c) the percentage of our labouring men in the unions and the value of the unions for the labouring class.

9. Several Canadian cities and municipalities own many of their important utilities. Indicate the advantages and weaknesses that have developed from public ownership as a result of these experiments.

10. "Differences of wages may be classed under two heads, those that equalize the attractiveness of occupations, and those that persist in spite of their varying attractiveness." Explain.

GEOGRAPHY.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted: of these, three must be taken from any one group, and two from each of the two others.

POLITICAL GEOGRAPHY.

1. What are the chief geographical advantages and disadvantages of Canada, compared with the United States, for the development of a great nation?

2. Name the chief Indian tribes of Canada, and the provinces in which they are found.

3. Name the chief British ports touched or sighted in a voyage round the world, beginning at Vancouver.

PHYSICAL GEOGRAPHY.

4. Describe briefly the chief physical features of any one of the following parts of Canada: (a) The Maritime Provinces; (b) Ontario and Quebec; (c) The region draining into Hudson Bay; (d) British Columbia.

5. Explain the meaning of the following terms: equinox, perihelion, South Pole, Magnetic Pole.

6. How far can human activities alter the climate of a country? Illustrate your answer mainly from Canada.

COMMERCIAL GEOGRAPHY.

7. Draw a map of Canada, marking neatly the chief areas which produce (a) coal, (b) iron.

8. From what parts of the world does Canada mainly obtain the following articles: (a) tea, (b) coffee, (c) sugar, (d) pepper, (e) cocoa, (f) oranges?

9. "Quebec is the Canadian province most likely to become a great manufacturing centre." Give reasons for and against this statement.

ENGLISH LAW.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Seven questions only are to be attempted.

1. On what grounds may the Federal veto of Provincial laws be exercised? (Short explanation.)

2. What constitutional difficulties exist in connection with (a) the Insurance Act, (b) the Naturalization Act, (c) the Copyright Act?

3. Can a witness committed to prison by the House of Commons for breach of privilege appeal to the Civil Courts?

4. Describe generally the powers, duties and authority of provisional directors in a Joint-stock Company.

5. Define (a) a share, (b) a debenture, (c) authorized capital.

6. When fire insurance is effected by interim receipt, and a loss occurs before the policy issues, by what conditions is the insured bound?

7. In commercial sales, what are the obligations of the Vendor as to delivery?

8. When a loan is effected and debentures issued by a municipality, what taxes must be levied in connection therewith?

5 7. Can a Parcel Post packet posted in Canada, addressed to Germany, fully prepaid and bearing the necessary Customs Declaration, be registered?

10 8. Describe fully the treatment of a parcel posted in a Postal Union Country addressed to a person in a town in Canada in which there is no Customs House, and which reaches the Dead Letter Office as "Unclaimed at Customs."

5 9. Does enclosing a letter in an open cover diminish its liability to letter rate of postage, and if so, under what rate would it come?

10 10. State fully the action that would be taken in the event of a Postmaster sending into any Dead Letter Office a registered letter enclosed in an unregistered cover.

10 11. If a letter posted at Sorel, Que., prepaid with a one cent stamp which had apparently been previously used should reach the Dead Letter Office, how would it be dealt with, and what disposal would be made of it?

MONEY ORDER BRANCH.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value.

10 1. Describe the treatment accorded a Money Order paid in Canada from the time it reaches the Money Order Branch in a Postmaster's Return until finally disposed of.

10 2. What action is taken in regard to missing paid vouchers when Duplicate Accounts are received to replace originals lost in the mail?

15 3. State what should be done in the following cases:—
An Advice received instead of a paid Money Order.
A British Postal Order claimed by a Postmaster not authorized to cash the same.
A Money Order Error Notice to add $20 to issues entered in a Cash Account.
A paid Order bearing a payee's mark not witnessed.
An Order on the United Kingdom repaid without authority.

10 4. In what manner are paid United States Money Orders treated?
When and by whom is the Account between the United States and Canada prepared?
When are remittances made?

10 5. Name ten Countries with which Canada has an exchange of Money Orders by means of Lists, and state the equivalent of $1.00 in the money of each.

10 6. Describe in full the treatment of an application for repayment of a Money Order on Germany from the time of its receipt until the Order has been repaid and finally disposed of.

10 7. State the duties of an operator of an Adding Machine engaged on the final balancing of paid Money Orders.

10 8. What is the treatment accorded the lists and paid Canadian Money Orders received from the United States?

5 9. Explain the term "Bank Credit" as applied to Money Order Offices.

5 10. What is the object of the Monthly Circular, and what information does the Circular contain?

5 11. Give the rates of commission on Orders payable in Canada and also on Orders payable abroad.

(13) Examination for entrance to the Royal Naval College, May, 1914.

ARITHMETIC.

Time: $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

NOTE.—All work must be shown.

Value—100.

1. Simplify:
   (a) $\frac{5}{6} \times \frac{9}{10} - \frac{3}{7}$ of $\frac{7}{9} + \frac{6}{7} \times (\frac{2}{3} - \frac{1}{2})$
   (b) $\dfrac{\frac{6}{7} \times \frac{5}{6} \div 7}{\frac{1}{9} + \frac{2}{3} \times \frac{6}{7}}$.

2. Find the L.C.M. and G.C.M. of 442, 598, and 377.

3. Find the average correct to four places of decimals of $12\frac{14}{25}$, 21, $7\frac{3}{4}$, ·034, 3·125, 0, 24·58 and $12\frac{9}{20}$.

4. If the area of a postage stamp ($\frac{3}{4}$ inch by $\frac{7}{8}$ inch) be taken as the unit, find the measure of an envelope $3\frac{1}{3}$ inches by $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches.

5. The sum of $3,276 is to be divided among four persons in proportion to their ages, which are 17, 20, 24, and 30 years. How would you divide it?

6. Gun-metal is composed of 11 parts copper to 2 parts of tin. How much tin must be added to 2607 lbs. of copper to make gun-metal?

7. A owns 80% of a schooner, B owns the remainder. C sells the schooner for them and receives 4% of the selling price for his services. What per cent of the selling price does A receive? What amount will he receive if the schooner sells for $9,000?

8. If $510 amounts to $554.62 in $2\frac{1}{2}$ years at simple interest, what is the rate?

ALGEBRA.

Time: $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

Value—100.

1. Simplify the expression $11x+2y-[4x-3[7y-(8x+9y-3z)]]$; and find its value when $x=1$, $y=-\frac{1}{2}$, $z=-\frac{4}{3}$.

2. Simplify $\left(\frac{1}{2}+\frac{1}{3x}\right)\div\left(9x-\frac{4}{x}\right)$.

   Test your answer by putting $x=2$.

3. Resolve into factors:
   (a) $x^2+18x-175$.
   (b) x^4-625y^4.
   (c) $(x-2y)^3+y^3$.

4. Solve:

(a) $\frac{5x-7}{2}-\frac{3x-4}{3}=\frac{9-2x}{6}$.

(b) $\begin{cases} 3x-5y=6 \\ 4x+3y=37. \end{cases}$

Test your results in each case.

5. Divide $a^4-3a^3+2a^2-3a+1$ by $a-3$.
Check your division by putting $a=-2$.

6. A post which projects 7 feet above the surface of water is found to have $\frac{1}{3}$ of its length in water and $\frac{1}{4}$ its length in the mud at the bottom. Find its total length.

7. The sum of $15 is to be given away in three prizes. If the first prize is half as much again as the sum of the second and third prizes, and the second prize is half the sum of the first and third, find the value of each prize.

GEOMETRY.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Divide a given line in the ratio 3 : 4.
Measure the parts accurately and work out their ratio as a decimal.

2. Draw the triangle ABC, given BC = 2″·85, angle ABC = 42°, angle BAC = 97°.
Measure the remaining parts of the triangle.
Draw a circle through the vertices A, B and C. Measure the radius of this circle.

3. Prove that the sum of the angles of a triangle is two right angles.
In a certain triangle one base angle is double the other, and the angle at the vertex is half the sum of the two base angles. Calculate all the angles.

4. If two triangles have three sides of one equal to three sides of the other, each to each, the triangles are equal in every respect.
Give the construction for bisecting an angle, and prove it.

5. Parallelograms on the same base and between the same parallels are equal in area.
Prove that the area of a parallelogram is base × vertical height.
Draw a parallelogram, sides 3″·45 and 4″·6, containing an angle 68°. Construct an equivalent rhombus with every side 4″·6. Measure an acute angle of the rhombus.

6. Prove geometrically the identity $a^2-b^2=(a+b)(a-b)$.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

Part I.

Time: 1 hour.

Note.—Candidates are advised to give attention to spelling, punctuation and writing.

Value—100.

Write an essay of about 300 words on one of the following subjects:—

(1) A Canadian Industry.
(2) The Theatre as a Means of Education.
(3) Speech-day at Your School.
(4) "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."
(5) The Growth of the British Empire.
(6) Patriotism.

Part II.

Time: 1½ hours. Dictation, ½ hour. Reproduction, 1 hour.

Note.—This part is not to be seen by the candidates. The Examiner in charge will advise them to give attention to spelling, punctuation and writing.

The following is to be twice read aloud: once as a whole to give the meaning, and once by phrases to enable the candidates to write.

I. In the midst of his pecuniary difficulties, Scott's wife—a French lady by birth, Mademoiselle Charpentier—died.

Four years later he was seized with apoplexy. His physicians ordered him abroad, and a ship of war—the Barham—placed at his disposal by the Government, conveyed him to Malta and Naples. But the change of climate and scene proved of no avail, and yearning for his native land, the poet insisted on returning to Abbotsford.

His last wish was fulfilled. He gazed once more on his home, and surrounded by his children, he fell gently asleep on a golden September afternoon; lulled to that last peaceful slumber by the ripple of his beloved Tweed, which was audible through the open windows of his chamber.

Life "chimed to evensong" early for him. He died at the age of sixty-one, leaving four children, all of whom are since dead, but Scott's name can never perish while the language he has enriched remains to preserve the works which are the Poet's true representatives.—Introduction to Lansdowne edition of Scott's poems.

The following is to be twice read aloud to the candidates, who will then write the gist of it in their own words.

The Talking Crow.

II. After the victory of Actium, amongst those who came to congratulate Augustus, there approached him a certain man, having with him a crow which he had taught to say, "Hail, Cæsar, Conqueror, Emperor!" Cæsar, struck with the cleverness of the bird, bought it for twenty thousand sesterces. Being greeted in a like manner by a parrot, he ordered it to be purchased. He was amused in the same way with a magpie, and it also he bought. These instances induced a poor shoemaker to teach a crow a similar salutation. Often when wearied with his task, he would say to the bird, when it did not give the required answer, "I have lost my time and my trouble." At length, however, the crow learned to speak the address. Then he brought the bird to Augustus. He, however, upon hearing the crow's greeting, remarked, "I have plenty of such saluters at home." Whereupon the crow added very opportunely, "I have lost my time and my trouble." At this Augustus laughed, and ordered the bird to be purchased at a higher price than he had hitherto given for the others.

GEOGRAPHY.

Time: 2 hours.

NOTE.—Six questions only are to be attempted.

Value—100.

1. Draw an outline map of the province in which you live, marking the principal towns, rivers, mountains, etc. State, as accurately as you can, the population of the towns mentioned.

FRENCH.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Traduisez en anglais:

(a) Si vous examinez la carte de l'Amérique du Nord, vous verrez une grande baie, nommée la baie d'Hudson. Hudson était un marin anglais qui vivait au commencement du dix-septième siècle. Vous savez qu'à cette époque, toutes les nations de l'ouest de l'Europe équipaient des expéditions de découverte. Parmi les hardis marins qui rendirent fameux ce siècle, on compte particulièrement Henri Hudson. Jamais personne ne connut mieux le métier de marin. Son courage était à l'épreuve de tous les événements, et sa constance infatigable. Le but de ses voyages était de trouver un passage pour aller aux Indes par le nord-ouest.

(b) UNE JOYEUSE HARANGUE.

Un roi de France visitait son royaume (kingdom). Un jour, il arriva aux portes d'une petite ville où il fut reçu par le curé (parish-priest), accompagné de toute la population.

Ce curé était un original. Quand il arriva auprès du roi, il le salua très humblement et lui dit: "Sire, je n'ai pas l'intention de vous faire un long discours; mais, à l'occasion de votre visite, j'ai composé une petite chanson que je désire vous chanter." Et il entonna aussitôt une chanson dans laquelle il souhaitait au monarque la bienvenue (welcome) et un long règne. Le roi applaudit et cria: "Encore! encore!" Pour lui témoigner sa satisfaction, le roi lui donna dix louis. Celui-ci en les recevant, cria à son tour: "Encore! encore! sire." Le roi, charmé de l'esprit (wit) du curé, doubla la somme.

2. Traduisez en français:

(a) Good morning! How are you?

(b) Not very well, thanks. I slept badly last night, and I have a headache this morning.

(c) He is in his garden every day at half-past three o'clock.

(d) Give me my hat and coat, I am going for a walk.

(e) Did you speak to me? Yes, I spoke to you: Louis has given me this book for you. I shall thank him when I meet him. But have you not brought me also a letter from him? No, he did not give me any letter, but he said that he would visit you to-morrow.

3. Questions de grammaire:

(a) Mettez au pluriel: couche-toi; moi; je prends le livre; le roi; le bijou; la voix de l'oiseau; le verrou de la porte; le médecin de l'hôpital; le bal chez le général.

(b) Mettez au féminin: le roi; son frère; mon ami; un paysan; le voyageur; un acteur audacieux.

(c) Ecrivez le présent de l'indicatif de: finir, commencer, recevoir; le passé défini de: être, vendre, arriver; les temps primitifs de: punir, avoir, jeter, concevoir, aller.

(d) Mettez au négatif: dans ce panier il y a de la viande et du pain; couche-toi; à l'interrogatif: le lièvre disait au renard: dans ce panier il y a de la viande.

(e) Ecrivez en toutes lettres: 61; 71; 80; 2499; Napoléon I; Georges V.

GERMAN.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Translate into English:

(a) Die kluge Katze.

Eine Dame hatte einen zahmen Vogel, den sie alle Tage auf dem Käfig liess. Sie hatte auch eine Katze, die grosse Liebe zu dem Vogel zeigte. Eines Morgens hüpfte der Vogel wie gewöhnlich auf dem Fussboden umher und pickte Brotkrumen. Plötzlich ergriff die Katze den Vogel und sprang mit ihm auf den Tisch. Die Dame war sehr bestürzt (alarmed), aber sie entdecte bald die Ursache (cause). Die Tür war offen, und eine fremde Katze hatte sich ins Zimmer geschlichen. Als die Dame diese hinausgejagt hatte, sprang ihre eigne Katze vom Tisch herunter und liess den Vogel los, ohne ihm etwas zu tun.

(b) Zwei kleine Knaben spielten unter einem Walnussbaum. Da fiel eine Walnuss herab. Einer der Knaben hob sie auf. Der andre sagte: "Die Nuss ist mien, ich habe sie fallen sehen!" "Nein," sagte der andre, "sie gehört mir, denn ich habe sie aufgehoben." Da kam gerade ein grösserer Knabe vorbei und sagte: "Worüber streitet (quarrel) ihr euch denn?" Die kleinen Knaben sagten es ihm. "Gebt mir die Nuss, ich will die Sache schon entscheiden (decide)." Darauf knackte er die Nuss und gab die eine Hälfte der Schale dem einen Knaben, indem er sagte: "Dies ist dein Teil, weil du gesehen hast, wie die Nuss herabfiel." Dann gab er dem andern Knaben die zweite Hälfte der Schale und sagte: "Dies ist für dich, weil du die Nuss aufgehoben hast." Darauf steckte er den Kern in den Mund und sagte: "Und das ist mein Teil, weil ich die Nuss geknaekt habe."

2. Translate into German:

(a) What are you doing there? We are learning our lesson.

(b) How many days has the month of February? Twenty-eight.

(c) What o'clock is it now? It is half-past eight.

(d) Do you think that he will accompany us? No, for I know that he must stay at home.

(e) How is your brother? I hope he is quite well again. Yes, I thank you, he is much better.

3. Write, in German, answers to the following questions:

(a) Um wie viel Uhr stehst du im Winter auf?

(b) Wie lang sind deine Ferien zu Ostern?

(c) Was tut man gern, wenn man hungrig und durstig ist?

(d) Welche Nachmittage hast du frei?

(e) Wo kann man das Nest eines Vogels finden?

4. Grammer questions:

(a) Give, with the definite article, the genitive singular and the nominative plural of: Hand; Garten; Bäuerin; Knabe; Dach; Hügel; Mann; Vogel; Strasse; Wald; Baum.

(b) Decline in the singular and in the plural: ein guter Vater; dieser alte Wald; das scharfe Messer.

(c) Give the comparative and the superlative of: schön, gross, viel, hoch, langsam.

(d) Write the present indicative of: haben, sein, werden, geben, sehen; the imperfect indicative of können, antworten, gehen; the principal parts of: kommen, verlieren, sagen, brechen.

(e) Give the German for: 5; 17; 33; 101; on the 14th May; at 10 o'clock in the morning; 2½ pounds of bread.

LATIN.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

1. Translate into English:

(a) Qua de causa Gesslerus malum consilium cepit. Parvum Telli puerum in via conlocari et malum in capite poni iussit. In malum Tellius sagittam mittere iussus est. Pater territus id quod Gesslerus iusserat facere paratus non erat. Sed malus ille homo ei dixit: "Nonne hoc facies? Si non facies, filium tuum interficiam." Itaque Tellius sagittam misit, quae in malum venit. Clamore magno omnes qui viderant Telli factum laudaverunt. Sed Gesslerus "Cur alteram cepisti sagittam?" inquit. "Haec sagitta," inquit Tellius, "in tuam mortem servata est."

(b) Ita uno tempore et longas naves, quibus Caesar exercitum transportaverat, quasque in aridum subduxerat, aestus complebat, et onerarias, quae ad ancoras erant deligatae, tempestas afflictabat; neque ulla nostris facultas aut administrandi aut auxiliandi dabatur. Complures naves fractae sunt; reliquae, funibus, ancoris, reliquisque armamentis amissis, erant ad navigandum inutiles; itaque magna totius exercitus perturbatio facta est.

II. Translate into Latin:

(1) All the ships are in the harbour.
(2) The lieutenants had eight soldiers with them.
(3) The signal had been given by Caesar.
(4) They thought that the gods would give them help.
(5) Are you not going to Rome, next year?
(6) Where are they? I know where they are.
(7) Two legions were sent to make an attack.
(8) The storm was so great that ten of the ships could not reach port.

III. Decline in the singular and in the plural: dux peritus; bonus nauta; iter; homo; vir; dies; domus; acer (all genders); hic (all genders).

IV. Give the comparative and superlative of: latus; pulcher; similis; parvus; fortiter; facile; male.

V. Write the imperfect indicative of moneo, capio; the future indicative of duco, amo; the present subjunctive of volo, eo, rogo; the imperfect subjunctive (passive) of audio, capio, and the principal parts of fero, sequor, sustineo.

VI. Give the Latin for: Ten; tenth; the top of the mountain; by land and sea; at Rome; in Italy in winter; this is easy to do.

ELEMENTARY SCIENCE.

Time: 2½ hours.

NOTE.—Diagrams and sketches must be neat.

Value—100.

1. What is your idea of a force? Name the forces acting in the following cases: a stone falling in the air, a ship floating in water, a ship sinking in water, a balloon rising in the air. What do the words work and energy mean, as used in Science?

2. How do we know that the air has weight? What experiment can we perform to measure how heavy air is? How would you show by a careful experiment that iron is eight times as heavy as liquid turpentine?

3. Show that you understand clearly the difference between the meaning of the following terms:—

Evaporating and boiling;
Melting and dissolving;
To compress steam and to condense steam;
A hot body conducting heat and radiating heat.

4. Describe any two kinds of thermometer with which you are acquainted, pointing out any advantages each has over the other. What is a thermometer really for?

5 Describe, with sketches, three simple experiments to prove that heat causes solids, liquids, and gases, respectively, to expand. Is there any substance which does not expand when heated?

6. Explain carefully what happens in the following cases:—
   Steam is passed over red-hot iron;
   Air is passed over red-hot copper;
   Hydrogen gas burns in air;
   A piece of sulphur burns in oxygen gas, and water is then poured in.

7. Define the term element. Name six common non-metallic elements and six that are metals. How would you show that air and water have a common element? What is it?

8. Define the term chemical compound. How does this differ from a mixture? In which class would you place chalk, gunpowder, granite, common salt, and coal-gas?

DRAWING.

Time: 2½ hours.

Value—100.

Part I.—Mechanical Drawing.

1. From the accompanying rough sketches of a Gudgeon Pin (marked "A" on the sheet handed to you with this Paper) make scale drawings of the sectional and end elevations.

2. A rectangular wooden box, open at the top, has the following dimensions:—
   Length, 6″; Breadth, 4″; Depth, 3″; and is made of wood ⅛″ thick. It is divided into two equal parts by a partition $\frac{1}{16}$″ thick, which makes an angle of 45° with the longer side.
   Make full-sized working drawings showing plan, and side and end elevations.

Part II.—Freehand Drawing.

3. Make a sketch of the box referred to in Question 2, in perspective, showing the shadows you would expect to be cast if the source of light were in the top right-hand corner of the paper making an angle of 45° with the Horizontal.

4. Make a pen-and-ink drawing of the accompanying Sketch (marked "B" on the sheet handed to you with this paper).

(B) SPECIAL EXAMINATIONS.

(1) Competitive Examination for Sessional Stenographers, House of Commons Staff, January 7, 1914.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.

Time: 30 minutes.

Values.

50 1. Write a letter, of not more than one page in length, to John Jones, 377 Yonge Street, Toronto, Ont., applying for a position as stenographer and typewriter, and stating your qualifications.

25 2. Rewrite the following sentences, making such corrections as you consider necessary:—

(a) I am one of those who cannot describe what I do not see.
(b) Whom do you take me to be?
(c) Revenge is one of the many weaknesses of which mankind is heir to.
(d) A summary of the results of the different examinations appear in this report.
(e) Having spent thousands to popularize this scheme among the workers, the latter refused to accept it.

SHORTHAND, SPELLING AND PUNCTUATION.

NOTE.—The following passages should be dictated to the candidates in a clear and distinct voice, at the rates indicated. No preliminary reading of the passages is to be given. The bar strokes indicate the point at which the reader should be at the end of every fifteen seconds. Upon completion of the four readings, the candidates should be allowed one hour for transcribing their shorthand notes in either pencil or ink. The notes and the transcription should be collected promptly at the end of this period. The candidates should also be notified that this paper will be taken as a test of their spelling and punctuation.

EIGHTY WORDS A MINUTE.

Sir, I enclose a statement showing the interest collected from subsidized railways during the last three years, classified by Departments.|

Apart from the Post Office Department, it is a question if the other departments shown on this statement have not | paid to the subsidized railways more than the amounts retained and credited to this account.

I would call attention to | the Departments from which nothing appears, such as Agriculture, Marine and Fisheries, Public Works and Railways and Canals.

I understand | that all the Departments have been furnished with a list of railways subsidized.

Would it not be well that each Department should be required to furnish quarterly statements showing the amounts retained from these Companies and if nothing has been | retained stating that no services had been performed by them.

EIGHTY WORDS A MINUTE.

Value—25.

SIR,—I beg to enclose herewith a copy of two letters which I sent to the various Departments on February | 1, 1907, and June 16, 1909, in the matter of deductions to be made from transportation charges of the various | railway companies receiving subsidies under the several Acts passed since 1899. The Government, as you are aware, is permitted | to retain three per cent per annum of the subsidy received by such railway Company.

The suggestion made in the concluding | paragraph of my letter of June 16, 1909, for the adoption of a system of requisitions whereby all transportation charges | would be paid for at headquarters, thus affording an opportunity for making any deductions which might fall within the | provisions of the three per cent clause of these several Acts, has been adopted by some of the Departments, and in | such cases an increased revenue has resulted from this source.

ONE HUNDRED WORDS A MINUTE.

Value—25.

SIR,—In reply to yours of the 29th ultimo requesting that moneys received for sales of military books be credited to militia revenue instead of | printing and stationery, I have the honour to point out that the books in question are purchased and kept in store for the convenience of | militia officers who buy as they require them from time to time; and that for the most part the purchase by the department and the | sale of the book to the militia occur within a short period. It would, therefore, be unfair to this department to insist upon having these | sales credited to militia revenue, as in so doing the expenditure under head of printing and stationery for this department would appear in the public | reports very much greater than actually was the case.

I wish to explain further that your department was consulted some time ago in respect of | this matter and concurrence obtained verbally before crediting these sales to printing and stationery vote.

I shall be glad if you will re-consider the question. |

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY WORDS A MINUTE.

Value—25.

SIR,—I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 17th instant in reference to exhausted appropriations, asking me if I can suggest any way out of the difficulty | in so far as the Trade Commissioner Service is concerned.

In reply I beg to say that I know of no legal way in which the appropriations can be exceeded. | Parliament being in session, the way is open to get supplementary estimates passed immediately if the trade conditions make it imperative that the government must spend more money than has | already been provided by parliament. It is clearly irregular to obtain money from the banks, either with or without interest, in excess of appropriations. I understand that the banks have | been instructed not to make any financial arrangements other than through the Department of Finance, and I am aware that an order in council has been passed and transmitted to | the departments informing them that no new or additional expenditure must be incurred which has not been provided for in the estimates without first having obtained the consent of council. |

TYPEWRITING.

Time: 15 minutes.

Value—100.

NOTE.—Candidates are required to copy as much of the following matter as they can in the time allowed. The paper is primarily a test of speed, but accuracy, neatness, and general appearance of work will also be considered.

The Coast Station service has been maintained and operated at the general high standard of efficiency, and the increase in the number of words handled (1910-11, 1,826,895 words, 1911-12, 2,851,350 words) is very satisfactory.

On the West Coast a great increase is noted in the inter-station paid business, that is to say, business between fixed points, such as Victoria and Prince Rupert. The figures are as follows:—1910-11, 33,303 words, 1911-12, 69,721.

This increase is due to the fact that the reliability of our service is becoming more widely known among the mercantile houses, as we make no special effort to obtain such business, except for the Queen Charlotte Islands, with which point the service is the only connecting link. Up to the present we have not entered into active competition with any land lines, the existing telegraph rates between any two points have been maintained, and it is left to the sender to route his messages as he may see fit.

It should be borne in mind that the wireless service is primarily intended for communication with ships at sea, as an aid to navigation, and, should the stations be loaded up to their capacity with inter-station business, the real object of their maintenance would be defeated.

Cable interruptions are a source of considerable revenue for the service. Two breaks of importance occurred during the year, one on the United States Government Alaskan cable between Seattle and Alaska, the other on the cable between Prince Edward Island and the mainland. In the former case a large number of messages were handled via the Commercial Wireless Station at Ketchihan, Alaska, and our Prince Rupert Station, and in the latter all the messages to and from Prince Edward Island were handled via the stations at Pictou and Cape Bear.

The above business was handled without difficulty, and the utility of the wireless service thus further demonstrated.

The general shortage of telegraph operators throughout the country has also been felt in the service, and we have found it difficult at times to maintain a 24-hour watch at all the stations; in fact, so acute has this shortage become on the Pacific Coast that we have ben compelled to inaugurate a learners' division for the training of operators. The procedure adopted in this connection is as follows:—An inexperienced man is attached to a station without salary until such time as he is capable of passing our "Learners' Examination," which calls for a general elementary knowledge of the apparatus and organization, and an operating speed of 15 words per minute in the International Morse Code.

A learner who has successfully passed this examination is then admitted to the "Junior Operator" division at a salary of $45 per month, and is regularly attached to a station to assist in its operation. He remains in this division until he has successfully passed the "Third Operators' Examination," which calls for a thorough knowledge of the adjustment of apparatus, organization, etc., and an operating speed of 20 words per minute; he then receives a permanent appointment.

Un de mes plus grands plaisirs est de parcourir les lieux qu'ont habités les hommes que j'ai connus, admirés, aimés, révérés. La terre qu'un grand homme a habitée et préférée pendant le peu d'années qu'il a vécu, m'a toujours paru la plus sûre et la plus parlante relique qu'il nous ait laissée de lui-même. Jeune, j'ai passé des heures, des demi-journées même, couché sous le dais mobile des oliviers qui ombragent les jardins d'Horace, en vue des cascades tout éblouissantes de Tibur; je me suis étendu souvent, le soir, au bruit de la belle mer de Naples, sous les rameaux pendants des vignes, auprès du lieu où Virgile a voulu que reposât sa cendre parce que c'était le plus beau et le plus doux site où se fût reposée sa vue. Plus tard, combien de matins et de soirs j'ai passés dans ce petit vallon des Charmettes, où les souvenir de Jean-Jacques Rousseau m'attirait par la sympathie de ses impressions, de son génie, des malheurs qu'il a eu à supporter! Ainsi de maints autres écrivains ou grands hommes, dont le nom ou les écrits ont fortement retenti en moi. J'ai voulu les étudier, les connaître dans les lieux mêmes qui les ont vus naître ou qui les ont inspirés; et presque toujours un coup d'œil intelligent m'a découvert une analogie secrète et profonde entre la patrie et l'homme, entre la scène et l'acteur, entre la nature et le génie qui en fut formé et inspiré.

"Les femmes ne savent plus sourire!" disait un vieillard qui s'était aventuré dans une salle de bal, et qui n'y avait pas retrouvé les enchantements de ses jeunes années. On aurait pu lui répondre: Si vous préférez les sourires d'autrefois à ceux d'aujourd'hui, c'est que vous voyez les derniers avec vos yeux que les années ont affaiblis, et que vous considérez les autres avec votre imagination où votre vie s'est réfugiée. Tel est le secret de cette illusion à laquelle aucun homme n'échappe. On transfigure son enfance, et les bonheurs dont elle fut pleine, parce qu'on se représente que ces bonheurs on en jouissait alors comme on se sent capable d'en jouir en souvenir. Et cependant, la faculté même de jouir, elle est en nous l'œuvre des années. On se représente qu'enfant on joignait à la fraîcheur des premières sensations cette délicatesse de perception et cette profondeur dans les impressions que peuvent seules développer la vie et les années. L'enfant ne pense pas assez pour jouir de lui-même; aussi ne jouit-on pleinement de son enfance qu'après l'avoir perdue.

Pareillement, par l'effet d'une illusion semblable, les sociétés vieillies aiment à retourner en imagination aux jeunes années de l'humanité, elles se complaisent aux rêves d'une vie innocente, passée sous un beau ciel et dans l'intimité de la nature, loin des agitations stériles et des gênes factices de la civilisation, sous le règne de la loi naturelle bien supérieure à toutes ces conventions artificielles qui régissent les Etats policés. Elles s'empressent vers le berceau de l'humanité; elles voudraient s'y coucher, y goûter la douceur de leurs premiers sommeils et surtout le charme de ces réveils où un regard vague, incertain, se promène au hasard parmi les formes enchantées d'une nature encore jeune. Voir pour la première fois le ciel, les arbres, les nuages! entendre pour la première fois le bruit du vent dans les feuilles, quelle ivresse!

Les sociétés oublient que pour que ce bonheur de l'homme naturel, de l'humanité naissante, fût autre chose qu'une fiction, il faut supposer à cet homme naturel la délicatesse de sentiment, la richesse d'imagination et de pensée, et cette pleine conscience de soi-même que la civilisation seule peut donner. L'enfant qui sentirait en enfant et penserait en vieillard, l'homme naturel qui joindrait à la vivacité des premières sensations la sagesse réfléchie du civilisé, ce serait là le bonheur suprême. Mais ce bonheur est une chimère; car il suppose qu'on peut avoir tous les âges en même temps, et malheureusement le cadran de nos années ne marque jamais plus d'une heure à la fois.

Traduire en français les deux extraits suivants:

(a) Prof. Schneider thinks that perhaps the best statement of the fundamental idea is this: "The practice of engineering cannot be learned in a university; it can be learned only where engineering is practised, namely, in the shop or field. The theory underlying the practice may be obtained outside of the university, but can be best obtained in an organized system of instruction under skilled teachers."

It should not require much argument, he adds, to show that the practice and the theory underlying it should be taught simultaneously, if possible. "As a matter of fact, the whole argument for the co-operative course, together with the investigation which led to it, would make a long and involved statement, and while it might prove more conclusive than any simple expression, we have always felt that a demonstration of the scheme, together with a statement of the results achieved year by year, would be more effective. While we still believe the actual demonstration to be better than the argument, we find that many erroneous impressions prevail concerning the work.

"Curiously enough, many people think that the basic idea in the co-operative system is the alternate-week arrangement. The plan by which theory and practice are combined and co-ordinated is merely a detail, and the alternate-week scheme which we use is the one which happens to fit our local conditions the best. Even in our own school we are devising different systems of co-operation.

"For instance, after four years of experiment, we decided to operate the co-operative courses in electrical, mechanical and metallurgical engineering on the alternate-week plan for eleven months in the year, reducing the length of the courses from six to five years.

"In civil engineering we have the alternate-week scheme eight months in the year, and for the summer months we have made an arrangement with the Union Pacific Railroad Company whereby our students obtain field-work in railroading, together with instruction given by the railroad company. In chemical engineering there will be a marked departure, according to our present plans, from both of these details of operation."

(b) North Branch, Brazeau River.—The north branch of Brazeau river rises in the outer ranges of the Rocky mountains in two well-defined valleys that join at the eastern edge of the northern coal-field. The stream, a short distance below the junction, crosses a fold east of the fault (faille) which brought up the ridge to the north, and this fold may represent a continuation of the Bighorn basin. On the south fork the stream crosses the measures nearly at right angles, and several exposed coal streams (couches) have been prospected. In descending the stream from the trail crossing, sandstones are encountered, supposed to be of the Dakota formation, though the line of demarcation between them and the underlying Kootanie is not apparent. These sandstones are not over 500 feet thick, and coal seams occur just beneath them. The first or upper seam dips nearly south at an angle of 55°, and has a thickness of 10′ 5″ (including 8 inches of dirty coal occurring in two streaks near the middle of the seam). An analysis of samples taken across the seam shows it to be a good quality coal.

Trop petites pour demeurer gazeuses, les planettes et les comettes se sont graduellement condensé en masss incandesçantes et liquides; enveloppées d'une couche gazuse, de faible température, constituant leur atmosphere; la masse incandesçante s est ensuite solidifié, sa surface, retenant autour d'elle, une atmosphère, d'autant plus épaisse et plus lourde, qu'elle était elle-même plus considérable; les choses semblent être demeuré en cet état pour beaucoup de planettes, pour la terre en particulier qui parait contenir une masse en fusion; mais chez la plupart des satélites, l'atmosphère s'est rapidement dissipé, les gazs contenus dans la masse centrale en sont même sorti par une sorte de rochage couvrant l'astre d'enormes bulles dont les debris ont constitué les célèbres sirques de la Lune; puis la consolidation a gagné l'astre tout entier. Quelques-uns de ces astres morts se sont brisé, s'éparpillant sur leur orbitre; telles sont les Comèttes périodiques dont les débris, quant ils traversent notre atmosphere, constituent les Etoiles filantes.

Si bien agencée que soit une définition, elle est un système clos de concepts, que l'esprit substitue à la réalité. Or, comment s'assurer que la réalité tient vraiment dans nos formules? En fait, on sait bien que le concept ne pourra jamais embrasser exactement le réel; que celui-ci ne saurait se confondre avec l'extrait que l'on en recueille dans un récipient préparé d'avance. On se rassure, il est vrai, en supposant que ce qui demeure en dehors ne peut manquer d'être analogue à ce que l'on a retenu après un sérieux examen. Mais on ne fait, en cela, que prendre pour accordé ce qui est en question. Supposez que la faculté de produire du nouveau soit, non une pure apparence, mais une réalite; et il sera véritablement contradictoire et impossible que nos concepts, fermés et fixes, expriment jamais la réalité tout entière. Incapables d'être jamais définitifs, ils devront constamment être confrontés avec le réel, et refondus, de manière à en imiter, autant qu'il est en eux, l'essentielle puissance de l'évolution. Il y a plus: ce résidu, que ne peuvent s'assimiler nos concepts moraux, s'il n'est autre que la vie inhérente à notre nature d'hommes, doit posséder une propriété qui paraît caractéristique de la vie en général, celle de se jouer de nombre d'incompatibilités que se plaît à décréter notre logique.

La ligne de démarcation sur la rive gauche est plus difficile à établir. Toutefois, nous avons une indication de premier ordre dans le diplôme de Charles le Simple déjà cité. Le roi cède à l'abbaye de Saint-Germain des Prés l'abbaye de la Croix-Saint-Ouen, "sauf la partie déjà abandonnée aux Normands." L'Eure était frontière à cet endroit, puisque nous voyons qu'une partie cédée aux Normands ne peut être que celle qui se trouvait sur la rive gauche, c'est-à-dire du côté d'Evreux: c'était la moins considérable puisque l'abbaye, comme le village actuel, était sur la rive droite. La donation même du roi l'indique; car ce qu'il cède en 918, c'est l'abbaye; ce qu'il déclare avoir cédé en 911, c'en est "une partie." De ce texte résulte une importante constatation: Evreux, c'est-à-dire le diocèse d'Evreux, a été cédé aux Normands dès 911, ce qui nous étonne d'autant moins que nous ne voyons pas quand ni comment il l'aurait été plus tard. Mais il en résulte aussi que l'Eure marquait la frontière de la Normandie à la hauteur de la Croix-Saint-Leufroy, ce qui n'est pas la frontière classique. Il restait ainsi en dehors de la Normandie le plateau péninsulaire situé entre la Seine et le cours inférieur de l'Eure, ce qu'on appelait alors le pays de Madrie. Cette opinion est confirmée par les noms de village. Sur le plateau, on n'en trouve plus, preuve que les Normands ne s'y sont établis que plus tard, postérieurement à leur conversion qui les faisait changer de nom. On a remarqué aussi ailleurs, dans le pays de Caux par exemple, que les Normands se sont fixés dans les vallées avant d'aborder les plateaux. L'Eure, qui forme encore la limite de la Normandie en amont de Bueil, la formait donc aussi en aval, sinon jusqu'à son embouchure même, du moins jusque vers la plaine où sa vallée se confond avec celle de la Seine. Il y aurait d'ailleurs puérilité à vouloir préciser plus qu'on ne le fit sans doute à Saint-Clair-sur-Epte. Au sud, la limite était déjà la limite traditionnelle, l'Avre, frontière immuable du pagus, de la cité, du diocèse et du comté d'Evreux, à travers les âges. Des sept diocèses composant la province de Rouen, en voilà deux, Rouen et Evreux, incontestablement aux mains des Normands dès 911. Celui de Lisieux eut le même sort. En voici la preuve. Flodoard, auquel on ne saurait trop recourir, nous apprend qu'en 924 le territoire normand fut accru du Maine et du Bessin. C'était le premier agrandissement depuis l'entrevue de Saint-Clair-sur-Epte.

(a) But it is not the duty of the minister to slip through votes, even in hurried moments, without giving to the House at least the elementary information with regard to them. And if the minister had a vote for $2,000 for work which he knew could not be completed for that amount, he was not treating the House fairly, if he did not tell the House, in all frankness, that it would cost more to complete the work. The minister's duty is clear, and I am sure no one sees it more clearly than he does. Here is a public work, the quantities and estimated cost of which are known. An appropriation is made for it. The minister makes a contract for the construction, which contract binds him to pay for the work so much on progress estimates, as the work is done. Nobody can tell just how much will be done. It will depend very much upon the circumstances that meet the contractor as he proceeds. But the contract is plain: if the contractor finishes that work, he is to receive so much money. The contract is plain, because parliament has agreed to the expenditure of that large amount of money for that work, and it proposes to pay for it, and authorizes its minister to enter into a contract to get the work done. This case is entirely different. Here is a piece of work which is done by day's labour. The minister does not tell the House, when he brings down his estimates and gets his $2,000, that it is to cost more. If he had told the House that it was to cost $6,000, he would then have been obliged to let it by tender and contract, or to have got the authority of council in order to allow the work to be done by day's work.

(b) All these causes of destruction have been in operation for century upon century and have been offset by the enormous powers of reproduction of the oyster, of repair to injuries, and of accommodation to changing conditions. Before the advent of man, and at the present time when man does not interfere, the oyster was and is capable of holding its own in the struggle for existence. But where man interferes, with his reasoned methods of fishing and his selfish disregard for the future of the fishery, he disturbs the balance which has obtained between the natural and opposed powers of production and destruction, and in a comparatively few years reduces the productivity of the natural beds to the verge of depletion. The oyster, in its simple, undesigned, mechanical mode of life, hampered by its loss of sensory and locomotory organs, cannot evade or defend itself against the persistence and contrivances of man. If the oyster could reason, it would regard man as its greatest enemy, for he not only calculatingly takes every specimen that he finds, but in various ways destroys others that he cannot see, and almost maliciously interferes with the habitats of all stages of the developing young.

(4) Special Examinations for Lower Grade positions, held throughout the year.

The subjects were: Writing, Spelling, Dictation and Arithmetic; the papers were similar to those given on page 136.

DEPARTMENT

PUBLIC PRINTING AND STATIONERY

ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 1914

PRINTED BY ORDER OF PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA
PRINTED BY J. DE L. TACHÉ, PRINTER TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY 1915

[No. 32—1915.]

To Field Marshal, His Royal Highness, Arthur William Patrick Albert, Duke of Connaught and of Strathearn, K.G., K.T., K.P., etc., etc., etc., Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

SIR,—

The undersigned has the honour to present to Your Royal Highness the Annual Report of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery for the year ended March 31, 1914.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your Royal Highness's most obedient servant,

LOUIS CODERRE,
Secretary of State.

31st March, 1915.

OTTAWA, March 15, 1915.

Hon. LOUIS CODERRE, K.C., M.P.,
Secretary of State.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the annual report of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery for the year ending March 31, 1914.

My appointment as Chief Officer of this department only dating back to the 16th of March, 1914, the reported transactions were almost wholly carried on during the administration of the late King's Printer or during the interim between his death and my taking charge of the office.

I may be permitted to say here that my predecessor, the lamented Charles H. Parmelee, by his fairness, geniality and kind regard for all who came in contact with him, won the esteem of all officers and employees, and their deep sympathy on the occasion of a protracted illness resulting in his death. He was accompanied to his last rest by the general regrets of our departmental force.

The report is as usual divided into three main parts:—

I. Accountant's Branch Report (pages 1 to 23);
II. Printing Branch Report (pages 25 to 51);
III. Stationery Branch Report (pages 53 to 80).

Besides the transactions proper of these branches of our department, the report of the officers in charge of the Canada Gazette, of the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways Printing Audit Branch, and the Government Advertising Audit Branch are included in the Accountant's Branch report; and the report of the officer in charge of the Distribution and Sale of Statutes and Parliamentary Publications is included in the Stationery Branch report.

For the purpose of giving a clearer view of our receipts or sources of revenue, and of our expenditure, we have in the present report introduced a slight change in the form of the general financial statement of our department.

Our receipts and expenditures are classified under three general headings:—

I. King's Printer's Advance Account;
II. Casual Revenue Account;
III. Appropriations Account.

The mechanism of the accounting operations in connection with the above is explained in the following table:—

DEBIT.	CREDIT.
I. King's Printer's Advance Account.	I. King's Printer's Advance Account.
Printing Branch— Treasury advances providing funds to pay for the expenditure contra (by Letters of credit issued under the authority of chap. 80, s. 42, R.S.C.)	Printing Branch— (a) Salaries of officers not in the Civil Service, and wages of workmen's force. (b) Printing material (current). (c) Paper stock. (d) Sundry expenses. (e) Outside work (executed by outside establishments).
Stationery Branch— Treasury advances providing funds to pay for the expenditure contra (under same authority).	Stationery Branch— (a) Salaries of officers not in the Civil Service, and wages of working force of Stationery Branch. (b) Stationery stock. (c) Sundry expenses.

II. Casual Revenue Account.	II. Casual Revenue Account.
Proceeds of the sale of— (a) Parliamentary publications. (b) Canada Gazette subscriptions, insertion of notices, transient numbers, etc. (c) Voters' lists. (d) Waste paper, etc., etc. (e) Surplus of revenue of Printing and Stationery Branches.	Deposit to credit of Receiver General of all Casual Revenue receipts.
III. Appropriations Account.	III. Appropriations Account.
Proceeds of all amounts voted by Parliament for— (a) Gratuities and compassionate allowances. (b) Civil government: Salaries. (c) Civil Government: Contingencies. (d) Annual statutes. (e) Contingent expense in connection with voters' lists. (f) Plant—New. (g) Plant—Renewals. (h) Miscellaneous printing. (See memorandum, page x.) (i) Canada Gazette. (j) Distribution of Parliamentary documents.	Payments to or for— (a) Beneficiaries. (b) Civil Government: Salaries. (c) Civil Government: contingent expenses. (d) Cost of printing and binding of Statutes. (e) Contingent expenses, voters' lists. (f) Purchases of new plant. (g) Maintenance of plant. (h) Publications ordered by departments and specially chargeable to Miscellaneous, under the authority of Orders in Council (annual reports and appendices, (see Memorandum, page x), and cost of a few sundry publications not otherwise provided for. (i) Printing and distribution of Canada Gazette. (j) Contribution to cost of distribution (which is now mainly supported by the Stationery Branch).

As will be seen by referring to the above and to the general financial statement, pages 2 to 5, the Casual Revenue receipts are cleared by the deposit of the same to the credit of the Receiver General, and the Appropriations receipts are also definitely cleared by the payment to beneficiaries or to the specific expenditure for which they are voted.

But in the case of the King's Printer's advance account (which is not a parliamentary appropriation account), after the proceeds of the Letters of Credit Advances have been used to provide for the cost of publications (salaries, wages, or stock—Printing Branch), or to meet the cost of stationery goods taken in stock (Stationery Branch), our department has to refund the Treasury advances, by collecting value for the publications or for the stationery stock, from Parliament or from the departments by whom they have been ordered. Hence the further accounting operations to be found in the general financial statement, viz.:—

Debit.	Credit.
King's Printer's Advance Account.	King's Printer's Advance Account.
(a) Printing Branch— Inventory value of printing, binding, etc., and other work completed and chargeable to Departments, Parliament or Appropriations.	(a) Printing Branch— Deposit to Dominion Government (Receiver General) of the direct remittances from Parliament, Departments or Appropriaions.
(b) Stationery Branch— Inventory value of goods in stock ordered by Parliament or Departments.	(b) Stationery Branch— Deposit to Receiver General of the remittances from Parliament or Departments, for such goods.
(c) Printing Branch— Inventory debits or realized price of occasional goods which have to be disposed of.	(c) Printing Branch— Deposits of proceeds to Receiver General.

It may be noted here that the business of the Printing and Stationery Branches of our Department is mainly carried on with the advances made from time to time by the Treasury Department under the authority of Sec. 42, Chap. 80, R.S.C., and which must not at any time exceed $200,000. If it is considered that the total actual turn-over or productive business transacted under the King's Printer's advance account alone reaches $2,779,514.79, it will be apparent that this limit of $200,000 for the advances made to this Department is not excessive and that our Accounting Department is fairly kept busy with the invoicing against the departments and collecting the due amounts. The total expenditure provided for by Parliamentary appropriations only amounts to $293,240.02.

The business of the department has been very much larger this year then usual. The reports for the departments, and the special editions of publications for free distribution, are increasing yearly, and the supply of stationery to the departments is also on the increase, in consequence of the larger business transacted. But, in connection with the Stationery Department transactions, it must be noted that a special effort has been made in the last years by the Superintendent of Stationery to supply the paper not only for work executed inside, but also for work executed outside, this policy affording a better means of control on prices and a better hold on carrying out the general order for the use of "Made in Canada" goods and supplies.

The following summary of the transactions of the Printing and Stationery Branches during four years, shows the general increase:—

"CANADA GAZETTE."

The proceeds of the subscriptions to the Gazette showed a slight increase of $64. But the proceeds of advertisements present the substantial decrease of $7,741.71. The Canada Gazette has been on a self-supporting condition since 1910, but in the three last years the revenue has been dwindling down, as demonstrated in the following figures:—

1912 surplus	$ 9,074 11
1913 "	4,843 25
1914 "	2,112 80

Hence we had to recommend this year (1914-15), a change in the rates for the insertion of notices and for translation.

RAILWAY PRINTING AUDIT.

This department shows the large increase of $38,046.95 in the amount of audited accounts.

GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

This department shows an increase of $42,714.74 in the amount of audited accounts.

The accommodation of the Printing and Stationery Branches has been generally improved by the moving, at the end of the fiscal year, of the Stationery Office and stock not specially wanted for the Printing Bureau, to the commodious (although not too large) premises on Dalhousie Street, and of the Distribution office to the so-called "Naval Building" on Sussex street. The capacity of the bindery department, which suffered most from the congestion, has been specially benefited by this change, as the results for the current year will later show.

The conditions brought on by the tremendous European war have perhaps indefinitely postponed the possibility of a new printing establishment. From several cursory discussions with our officers of the present Printing Bureau premises and accommodation, I have gleaned a pretty general feeling that the available space can largely be increased at comparatively low cost by the addition of a north wing to the present construction, and the refitting of the inner court of the building. The subject may be brought to your attention at a later date.

The question of cheapening the cost of government publications, and of the distribution of the same, has lately been resurrected.

For the benefit of the discussion of this mooted subject, the annexed memorandum has been prepared, for the Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons.

I have the honour to be, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

J. DE L. TACHÉ.
King's Printer and Controller of Stationery.

MEMORANDUM.

It is assumed that the object of the query submitted to the Department of Public Printing and Stationery is to secure a summary of the views of the Department—

(1) As to the means of reducing the original cost of parliamentary and departmental publications.

(2) As to the means of avoiding waste and cheapening distribution.

Preliminary Remarks.

On several recent occasions, public commissions or committees, both in Canada and in the United States, have reported upon this very subject.

1. In January, 1906, a "Committee on Department Methods" reported to the President of the United States on the query: "How much too much is printed of Government Publications?"

2. In 1908, a Canadian Public Service Commission incidentally reported on the preparation of blue books in the departments (page 43 of the report, Sess. Paper No. 29 A, 1908).

3. In 1908, a special inquiry into the methods of the Public Printing and Stationery Department was instituted by the then Secretary of State (Sess. Paper No. 39, 1911).

4. In December, 1911, a Commission on "Economy and Efficiency" reported to the President of the United States on the centralization of the distribution of the government publications (U. S. Senate Document No. 293, 1912.)

5. In 1912, a Dominion Public Service Commission, amongst other matters, investigated the working of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery, and their own report is accompanied by a sub-report of Messrs. Price, Waterhouse and Company (Sess. Paper No. 57, 1913).

6. The Royal Commission appointed to inquire into the state of records of the Public Departments, whose advance report has been communicated to us, made an inquiry, several features of which apply to the subject matter of these notes.

The above-mentioned United States reports apply to our Canadian problem, as the conditions in Washington will be found to have been almost identical to conditions in Ottawa.

The conclusions of these American and Canadian reports cover the subject fully and well, are very plain, and based on findings of common practices.

I. Reduction of Cost of Publications.

Excessive expenditure in public printing may be classified under the following heads:—

1. Excessive cost in the execution of printing work in the Government Printing Office.

2. Excessive size of documents and printing of unimportant documents for Parliament or the Departments.

3. Excessive editions of such publications.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 32

1. Cost of Printing.

The cost of printing has been, in the late years, the object of a good deal of study and improvement in the Printing Bureau. The suggestions of the 1910 and 1912 inquiries have been mainly carried into practice, and this, coupled with certain changes in the personnel, and the use of modern machinery previously introduced and kept up, has certainly brought the Bureau to a satisfactory state of efficiency, if one considers the drawbacks inherent to the working of a government institution, and those resulting from more or less congestion in several portions of the department.

The output of the Printing Bureau per head of its force will favourably compare with the output of a large number of outside printing establishments and this showing would be still more conclusive if the Government Bureau were allowed to charge Parliament and the departments for their publications according to the rates allowed to outside printing establishments on work executed for the Government. Wages, stock, and a few overhead charges are only permitted to be charged by the Printing Bureau against the departments, nothing being included in the overhead charges to cover Civil Service salaries, heat, light, and power, depreciation and maintenance of building, plant and capital equipment, nor for interest on the investment, insurance, etc.

As the technical working of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery has already been inquired into, we abstain from going further int details.

2. Excessive Size of Publications.

3. Excessive Editions of Publications.

If these two items are considered in the light of the responsibility for the size of the documents and for the excessive editions of same, they may be studied together.

The copy or subject matter of publications is, of course, prepared in the several departments.

The original requisitions or orders on the Department of Public Printing and Stationery for the printing of publications are issued by each of the departments (including Parliament) wanting them.

The publications are classified into two main divisions:—

(a) Parliamentary publications which are ultimately intended to be collected and bound in the annual series designated as "Sessional Papers." All the annual reports of the departments, in several cases with appendices, are included in that division.

(b) Departmental publications proper, which include all publications not otherwise belonging to the first division (technical reports, monographs, monthly publications, bulletins, and also all forms, account books, etc., etc., wanted for the sundry services.)

The present notes are only dealing with the publications of the first of these divisions.[1]

The total edition of any given publication going into the Sessional Papers is not wholly ordered by any one department. The total edition is made up of the number of copies ordered separately by the House of Commons, by the departments, and by the Distribution Office.

The edition of blue-books or number of copies of "all printed matter over which the Joint Committee on Printing has jurisdiction" is apparently regulated by report of the committee dated May 1, 1902 (still in force), and which approved of distribution lists laid before them then, and followed since, corrections having been made from time to time in consequence of events (deaths, removals, etc.).

[1]At the same time the remarks made as to preparation of copy, size of publications, editions, etc., etc., will generally apply.

The editions or number of copies intended for the departments are requisitioned for, or ordered printed, by the departments under the authority of an Order in Council of the 16th January, 1893, fixing the limit of the number of copies to be printed for distribution by them to 500 copies. From time to time since, this Order in Council has been severally amended by other Orders in Council, according to a list annexed to the present memorandum.

The Distribution Office of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery issues its own requisitions under the authority of the Order in Council of January, 1893, which provides that the "Queen's Printer be authorized to reserve for purposes of sale such numbers of the departmental reports and to arrange for their sale in such manner as may be deemed advisable by the Secretary of State."

Apparently, therefore, each department is responsible for the quantities of reports ordered for its own services. But, by a peculiar practice, the exact origin of which we cannot trace, the quantities ordered for the departments proper (not for the House or Senate), under the authority of Orders in Council, are not charged against the departments.

The departments only pay for the number of copies which they order in excess of the quantities fixed by the Order in Council. The number of copies ordered by them under the authority of Orders in Council (even though printed exclusively for them and until now distributed by them) are charged against the parliamentary appropriation voted to the Department of Public Printing and Stationery under the appellation of "Miscellaneous Printing."

The amounts required to cover this "Miscellaneous Printing" are increasing at a great pace. A table annexed to this report shows that the appropriation in 1900 was only $30,000; in 1910-11, it reached $85,000; in 1911-12, it was made $100,000; and this year the Main Estimates of $100,000 have been increased by $50,000 in the Supplementary Estimates.

The opening of this appropriation and account of "Miscellaneous Printing" had likely for its object the centralization under one head of the expense of printing the annual reports of the several departments. However, if it is thought that excessive expense, in size and in editions, results directly from the authorized requisitions of the departments, it seems that the responsibility would be more directly traceable to the departments, if each one had to have its appropriation for printing voted singly and annually, in lieu of the lump appropriation voted to all departments under the general heading "Miscellaneous Printing."

Of this "Miscellaneous" appropriation the departments can only use what Orders in Council allow them to use, but there seems to be no definite limit to the passing of Orders in Council, and the "Miscellaneous Printing" may be considered as only a covering appropriation, for which supplementary estimates have been several times voted or will be more and more needed in the future.

We will now examine items 2 and 3 singly.

To eliminate waste in the unnecessary size of public documents, the United States Committee of 1906 made the following recommendations, which are undoubtedly applicable to the Dominion publications:—

(a) There should be in each department of the government a committee advisory to the head of the department on the subject of printing and publications;

(b) This committee should examine the copy for the reports with a view to the exclusion of unnecessary matter;

(c) It should see that such copy is edited carefully before, and not after, going to the printing office;

(d) It should see that the statistical matter is kept within reasonable bounds and compiled in condensed form;

(e) It should give its special supervision to the question of costly and unnecessary illustration of public documents;

(f) It should prevent the duplication of matter in different departments.

And the same committee laid down, amongst others, the following rules to govern all classes of publications:—

(a) Annual reports should be confined to concise accounts of work done and expenditure incurred during the period covered by the report, with recommendations relating to the future, including plans for work about to be undertaken.

(b) Contributions to knowledge in the form of scientific treatises and general discussion have no place in an annual report. Observance of this rule would, they say, exclude an immense quantity of matter from annual reports as now printed. (And the committee here point out the tendency of departments to have the cost of their printing charged against other appropriations than their own, which gives further ground to our previous remarks about "Miscellaneous" appropriation.)

(c) Illustrations in annual reports should be excluded, except maps or diagrams indispensable to the understanding of the text, views of monuments begun or erected during the period covered by the report, etc.

(d) Inserted material written or compiled by persons not connected with the reporting office, and biographical and eulogistic matter relating to the past or present personnel of the office, should be rigorously excluded.

(e) The reports of officers who do not report directly to the head of an executive department should not be printed, but may be summarized in the reports of their head officers, etc., etc.

To eliminate waste by excessive editions, the measures recommended to do away with excessive size of documents may be applied with good results.

How many copies of each publication are really needed, or wanted, is a piece of information which few officials can fully and authoritatively supply. It seems to have been a very general impression in the several Canadian Commissions, and with the members and officers of Parliament who have handled the subject in or before Parliament, that a great waste takes place.

It has been affirmed time and again and lately reported that a large number of copies are refused by persons entitled to receive them in Parliament, and are piling up in the storerooms of Parliament and the departments, ultimately to find their way to the junk stores or waste-paper dealers.

But even an inventory of the accumulation of documents in the different departments would afford only a partial demonstration of this fact, as a large number of publications have already found their way to junk stores and waste-paper dealers' yards.

Excessive editions contribute directly to the waste in distribution, and the remedies against such waste will afford the control and the means of guarding against printing unnecessary numbers of copies, and reciprocally.

But it must not be assumed that a very great saving can be effected by reducing the editions (number of copies) of the publications. It has been estimated by officers of the Printing Bureau that cutting down the edition or number of copies of average so-called blue books will not result in a saving of more that 25 cents for each unit of 500 pages. The first and heaviest cost of publication being that of composition, revising, make-up and preparation for press, it will only matter to that extent of 25 cents per unit of 500 pages, if any given edition be increased or decreased. This figure cannot possibly apply to all cases, but it is given as an average basis for calculations.

The cutting out of unnecessary copy or subject matter of reports will much more effectively influence the total cost than the reduction of the number of copies to be printed, except when the cutting may unmercifully be applied to very large editions.

II. Avoiding Waste and Cheapening Distribution.

A large number of persons, in the Senate and the House of Commons, or through the members of the same, officials in the Provincial Governments, judges, etc., etc.—or of institutions, libraries, educational establishments, etc., etc., are entitled to or do receive government publications. All the departments distribute copies of their own reports. Many of these are again bound up in the Sessionals and sent again to libraries, etc. An American official appointed to inquire into the itinerary of public documents so sent broadcast (in the United States) was able to write, in 1905:—

> "Since the establishment of this office, in 1895, 800,000 duplicate documents have been returned to the Superintendent of Documents by libraries receiving more than one copy, and applications have been made for the return of several hundred thousand additional volumes, which were declined owing to lack of storage facilities."

And the report from which this quotation is taken adds:—

> "These figures relate solely to duplication of distribution to libraries, and take no account whatever of very large duplication in distribution to individuals."

The processes of handling by which documents, after printing, successively pass to the hands of packers in the shipping rooms, to the wagons and conveyances, to the members of the Senate and the House of Commons, to the departments, from the departments to other departments, or through the mailing clerks to the public, and from them all to post offices and railway stations, are both slow and costly. It has been calculated by the United States Committee on Economy and Efficiency that the handling of the publications from the Government Printing Office to the post offices and railway stations in Washington, via the departments, entailed the expenditure of the vast annual sum of $327,000.

With these and similar findings before them, what do the above reports suggest in order to avoid waste in and cheapen distribution? Unanimously, the centralization of the distribution of Government publications.

The 1911 United States Commission on Efficiency Report covers the ground so effectively and completely that we insert their conclusions:—

> "1. That the work of distributing documents be centralized in the office of the Superintendent of Documents of the Government Printing Office, instead of being performed as at present by the departments, establishments, and bureaus issuing such documents.
> "2. That each department and establishment retain only such part of its present organization and facilities for the handling of documents as is needed to prepare and issue orders for the mailing of publications.

"3. That the use of teams and trucks, and operators in connection therewith, as well as the other equipment now used in conveying publications from the Government Printing Office to the several departments and establishments, and from such departments and establishments to the post office, and from the post office to the Union station, be discontinued.

"4. That such portion of the forces of the various departments and independent establishments now engaged in addressing, wrapping, sealing, and otherwise handling publications for distribution, as may be necessary, be transferred from the departments and establishments in which they are now employed to the office of the Superintendent of Documents of the Government Printing Office.

"5. That, if necessary for the direct conveyance of publications from the Government Printing Office to the Union station, a sub-post office station be established in or adjacent to the mailing room, for the purpose of giving such postal supervision as may be required in the distribution, routing, etc., of documents."

What legislative provisions would have to be passed in order to permit the centralization of distribution of government publications in Ottawa? Likely none at all.

It is important here to note the wording of the Order in Council of 1893, relating to distribution, and to compare it with the law respecting Public Printing and Stationery:—

"On a report dated 16th January, 1893, from the Minister of Finance, the Minister finds that the number (of copies) required for Parliamentary inside and outside distribution is, as to most of the departmental reports, 1,800 each, and as to five of the most important, 2,500 each. The numbers ordered by the different departments for their own distribution vary from 350 to 10,000, as will be seen from the annexed list. The Minister is of opinion that it is desirable to secure greater uniformity and economy in the orders from the various departments, and that the numbers ordered by each should be based on the call for necessary official distribution. The Minister, therefore, recommends that each department be authorized to order within its discretion, for its own distribution, copies of its reports not to exceed a maximum of 500 copies of each, and that the Queen's Printer be authorized to reserve for purposes of sale such number of the departmental reports and to arrange for their sale in such manner as may be deemed advisable by the Secretary of State."

. . . . . .

Now the law respecting Public Printing and Stationery reads thus, chap. 80, R.S.C.

"Sec 5. The department shall be charged exclusively with the following duties in relation to service required for the Senate and House of Commons and the several departments of the Government, . . .

"(b) The purchase and distribution of all paper, books, and other articles of stationery of whatsoever kind, except books which are required for the Library of Parliament, etc.

"Sec. 22, ss. 2. The Superintendent of Stationery shall also have charge of the sale of all the official publications of the Parliament and Government of Canada, which are issued for sale, as well as of the dis- tribution of all public documents and papers to the officials and other persons who are entitled to receive the same without payment."

With this statutory enactment, it seems that if the Order in Council of 1893 and the amending ones are valid as to the number of copies of publications to be printed, they cannot be interpreted as lawfully establishing a right to, or a justification for, the distribution of the publications by the departments as carried on now.

Attention is only drawn to this peculiar situation for the purpose of pointing out that if the central distribution is to be considered and recommended as the actual and best remedy against the waste of printed publications, and the most effective means of cheapening distribution, no legislation need be resorted to to carry it into effect. It is already provided for, and never, at any time, in our statutes, since the institution of the Department of Public Printing and Stationery, was it contemplated that the actual work of distribution should be carried by departments.

The President of the United States, in adding his recommendation of the report of this committee to the favourable consideration of Congress, added this explanation:—

> "The plan (of centralizing distribution) does not contemplate any change in the authority which determines the persons to whom documents shall be sent, but, only that the physical work of wrapping, addressing, and mailing the documents shall be done at one place, and that the place of manufacture."

9. RAILWAY PRINTING AUDIT.

The amount of accounts audited at this department during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, for printing, binding, lithographing, etc., for the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways, was $148,575.71, showing an increase of $38,046.95 over that of the fiscal year 1912–13. These accounts being paid by the railway for which the printing is done, the amount is not included in the statement of receipts and expenditure of this department.

The number of accounts audited was greatly in excess of that of the fiscal year 1912–13; and the number of letters received and sent, together with the audit notices issued, was correspondingly heavy.

Below is a statement, showing the increase in the amount of the accounts audited at this department, for printing, binding, lithographing, etc., for the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railways.

10. GOVERNMENT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

The total amount certified by this department for government advertising during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, was $247,477.61, the details of which are set forth in a statement on page 23. These accounts being paid by the several departments for which the advertising is done, the amount is not included in the statement of receipts and expenditure of this department.

The number of advertising accounts audited was 13,291, circulars issued 8,752.

There was, moreover, a considerable amount of correspondence in connection therewith.

Below is a statement of the total amount of advertising accounts audited by this department from the year 1876 to the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, inclusive.

REPORT OF THE UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

The Right Honourable
Sir Robert Borden, G.C.M.G.,
Secretary of State for External Affairs,
Ottawa.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my customary annual report on the more important matters which have been the subject of correspondence during the year 1913–14.

RELATIONS WITH FOREIGN POWERS.

NORTH ATLANTIC COAST FISHERIES.

Progress has been made in the constitution of the Permanent Mixed Fishery Commission for Canada as provided by the Agreement with the United States of the 20th July, 1912, Dr. William Wakeham having been appointed as the British Commissioner. The two Governments had further agreed to request the appointment of Dr. P. P. C. Hoek, by the Queen of the Netherlands, as the neutral Commissioner, but the regrettable death of that gentleman prevented the fulfilment of their intention. The neutral and the United States Commissioners are, therefore, still to be appointed.

PECUNIARY CLAIMS AGREEMENT.

Further sittings of the Arbitration Tribunal were held in Washington in March and April, 1914, to hear claims included in the first schedule to the Agreement.

Negotiations for the arrangement of a second schedule of claims are still in progress.

INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY WATERS.

(1) Pollution of Boundary Waters.

A progress report on this question was presented by the International Joint Commission in January, 1914, in which detailed information was submitted regarding the localities where the pollution had occurred, as well as the causes and extent of such pollution. The branch of the inquiry concerning the means of remedying or preventing the pollution is still being pursued.

(2) St. Mary's River—Applications of Michigan Northern Power Company and Algoma Steel Corporation, Limited.

The commission's approval was sought by the Michigan Northern Power Company for a plan for the diversion of water from the St. Mary's river to its power canal, and for the construction of compensating works in that river on the United States' side of the international boundary at Sault Ste. Marie, and also by the Algoma Steel Corporation, Limited, for a similar diversion and construction on the Canadian side of the boundary in the same vicinity.

The approval was given in both cases on conditions as to construction laid down by the commission, and further conditions as to the control and operation of the compensating works and power canals, which were to be under the supervision of a joint board of control consisting of two members appointed one by either Government.

(3) Diversion of Waters of Shoal Lake.

Application was also made by the Greater Winnipeg Water District for the Joint Commission's approval of the diversion for domestic and sanitary purposes of water from Shoal lake. In view of the possible effect on the level of the lake of the Woods, to which Shoal lake is tributary, the Canadian Government sanctioned the matter being considered by the commission, and, the United States Government making no objection to the proposed diversion, approval was given to the project, with the provision that such approval should not prevail against any recommendations or report to be made on the lake of the Woods reference still under consideration.

(4) Lake of the Woods Reference.

A progress report was presented by the commission on the 16th January' 1914, describing the steps taken in the investigation of the problems to be considered, and in accumulating and arranging the data and information upon which their final conclusions must be based.

TREATY WITH THE UNITED STATES FOR THE REGULATION OF FISHERIES IN WATERS CONTIGUOUS TO THE INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY.

In the continued absence of indications of a disposition on the part of the United States Congress to pass the legislation necessary to give effect to the regulations prepared under the treaty, it is probable that Canada will be compelled to resume her liberty of action in this matter.

PELAGIC SEALING (TREATY OF 1911).

Early in 1914 the United States Government paid over the sum of $10,000 to Canada, the first of the annual payments due under the treaty during the period for which land killing of seals is suspended on the Pribyloff islands.

It was considered desirable by Canada and Japan that a commission of experts, representing those Governments and that of the United States, should go to the Pribyloff islands for the purpose of investigating the conditions of the seal herd and making a joint report thereon; but on such a proposal being made it was not found possible by the United States to agree to it. As, however, they were sending experts on their own account for the purpose referred to, they readily consented to allow Canadian and Japanese experts to accompany them. Messrs. J. M. Macoun, of the Department of Mines, and B. F. Harmon, of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, were accordingly despatched on this mission as the Canadian experts.

ALASKA BOUNDARY DEMARCATION.

From the Yukon south to mount Natazhat, the work of demarcation has been completed by the inspection of the line, placing of certain new monuments, and numbering the monuments. Further progress has been made in the portion of the work between mount Natazhat and mount St. Elias.

TREATY RATIFICATIONS.

On the 2nd June, 1913, ratification was made by Great Britain of the International Radiotelegraphic Convention concluded at London, 5th July, 1912, Canada being included in such ratification.

On the 25th August, 1913, notice was given of Canada's accession to the International Convention for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic, signed at Paris 4th May, 1910.

RELATIONS WITH OTHER PORTIONS OF THE EMPIRE.

ROYAL COMMISSION ON TRADE AND RESOURCES OF THE EMPIRE.

A vacancy on the commission caused by the death of the South African representative, Sir Richard Solomon, was filled by the appointment on the 12th February, 1914, of Sir Jan W. S. Langerman, member of the House of Assembly of the South African Union.

A second interim report covering the activities of the commission in Australia and New Zealand was issued in January, 1914; and the visit of the commissioners to South Africa in the months of February, March, and April furnished material for a third interim report, published on the 26th June, 1914.

It only remains for me to express my satisfaction with the manner in which the various members of the staff have discharged their duties.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH POPE,

Under Secretary of State for External Affairs.

OTTAWA, 30th June, 1914.

PASSPORT REQUIREMENTS OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

NOTE.—British subjects travelling abroad are recommended to furnish themselves with passports, for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory they are found to be useful as affording a ready means of identification in case of need.

ARGENTINE REPUBLIC.—Passengers for the Argentine Republic should carry passports, and are advised to also carry certificates of birth. Persons born in His Majesty's dominions should, if they intend to become resident, even for a short time, obtain from a British Consulate in the Republic a Certificate of Nationality for purposes of indentification, and to secure exemption from military service.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.—Persons entering Hungary from Servia or Roumania must be provided with passports. Although, in other cases, passports are not legally necessary, travellers are advised to carry them. For purposes of residence a passport or other document to prove identity is necessary.

BELGIUM.—It is desirable for travellers to possess passports. For purposes of residence, registration at the Police Office of the district is required, and a passport is accepted as evidence of identity.

BOLIVIA.—See Peru.

BRAZIL.—Passports not actually required, but travellers are advised to carry them for purposes of identification. If intending to become resident they should register their names and addresses at the nearest British Consulate.

BULGARIA.—Travellers should carry passports of recent date. Bulgarian visa not required. Residents should provide themselves annually with certificates of registration under the Ottoman Order in Council.

CENTRAL AMERICA.—Possession of passports desirable both for personal security and purposes of identification.

Costa Rica.—No regulations in force.

Guatemala.—Alien residents are required to present at the Guatemalan Foreign Office passports vises by the Diplomatic or Consular Officer in Guatemala of their native country.

Honduras.—No regulations except in times of disturbance.

Nicaragua.—No regulations in time of peace. To leave the country a local passport has, however, to be obtained from the Ministry of War.

Salvador.—Travellers should carry passports, and should, in addition, obtain passports from the Government of Salvador. (Charge for latter, 25 cents.)

CHILE.—No regulations in force.

CHINA.—Passports are not required at open ports. For travelling into the interior a special passport must be obtained from a British Consul, which is valid for one year. (Cost, 3 dol. 50c. Mexican.)

COLOMBIA.—British subjects proceeding to the Republic of Colombia must provide themselves with passports, vises by the Colombian Minister or by a Consul of the Republic in Canada. For travelling in the interior it is advisable to obtain special passport from a British Consul (charge, sixty cents). Immigrants without resources must be provided with a passport issued gratis by the Colombian Consul at port of departure.

COREA.—Passports are not required within a radius of 100 li (33 miles) from the open ports. Persons travelling in the interior must obtain a passport through the British Consul. (Fee, 3.50 yen, about $1.75.)

CUBA.—Although passports are not legally necessary, travellers are advised to carry them. Persons intending to reside in Cuba for any length of time should have their names registered at the British Consulate-General.

DENMARK.—No regulations in force. But passports or similar documents may be required by the police from persons accepting employment in Denmark before furnishing them with an "opholdsbog" (situation book), and also from music hall artistes.

Iceland.—No regulations in force.

St. Thomas.—No regulations in force. A local government passport must, however, be produced when leaving the island, the cost of which varies according to destination.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—Passport necessary.

ECUADOR.—See Peru.

EGYPT.—Passports not required by law, but travellers are advised to carry them. For travelling in other parts of the Ottoman Dominions, see TURKISH EMPIRE.

Sudan.—Persons desiring to enter the Sudan, travelling third-class, unless they are officials of the government, or are travelling on Government warrants, or are bona fide natives of the Sudan, must apply for permits to the Sudan Agent, Cairo, the Sudan Government Railways Agent at Alexandria, the Sudan Government Agent at Suez, the Governor of Halfa, the Governor of the Red Sea Province, or the Inspector at Port Sudan.

Persons proceeding south or west of El Obeid or Bara must obtain a permit from the Governor of Kordofan or his representative at El Obeid or Bara.

All Europeans are recommended to report their arrival, personally or in writing, at any place where an official holding the post of Sub-Mamur, or any superior post, is stationed.

FRANCE.—The possession of a passport is advisable, since evidence of identity may at any time be required for permanent residence, or in order to exercise profession or trade. A declaration, furnishing particulars with respect to the family, nationality, profession, etc., of the person making the declaration, is required in all parts of France, within a few days of arrival. In Paris, it should be made at the "Préfecture de Police" and, in the provinces, at the "Mairie" of the Commune. In default of a passport or a British Birth Certificate (bearing a 1d. stamp) for this purpose, the person should make, before the nearest British Consular Officer, a declaration of British nationality to be taken to the police authorities. For this purpose satisfactory evidence has to be produced. Proof of identity is always required in France at the post office for withdrawing registered letters or even at the "Post Restante." Either a passport, vised at a British Consulate, or a certificate of British nationality from the nearest Consular Officer is usually required for this purpose.

Algeria.—Regulations similar to France, both as regards passports and residence, etc.

French Guiana.—Regulations similar to France, both as regards passports and residence, etc.

Madagascar.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

Martinique.—
Réunion.—
Saigon.—
Regulations similar to France, both as regards passports and residence, etc.

New Caledonia.—Possession of passport desirable in view of existence of penal establishment.

Tahiti.—No regulations affecting Europeans in force.

Tunis.—Regulations similar to France, both as regards passports and residence, etc.

German Empire.—Military officers travelling to Germany should be provided with passports; and although in other cases the possession of a passport is not obligatory yet as evidence of identity may at any time be required, travellers are advised to carry them. For residence of more than three weeks a passport is absolutely necessary. Children sent to schools in Germany should carry passports.

Greece.—No regulations in force, except as regards persons entering the country by the land frontier, who are sometimes required to be in possession of passports.

Hayti.—A passport (visé by a Haytian Consul) must, on arrival, be shown at the Port Office. It should also be produced and registered at the nearest British Consulate. Persons travelling to Hayti are required to make a declaration before the Communal Police or, at Port-au-Prince, the Minister of the Interior, within three days of their arrival, in order to obtain the required certificate (costing $2.) This certificate must be visé on moving from one commune to another. On leaving the country a Haytian permit has to be obtained, as to which the British Consul should be consulted.

Italy.—The possession of a passport is not obligatory, but travellers may, at any time be required to give a satisfactory account of themselves, and to establish their identity.

British subjects producing passports at Italian post offices for purposes of personal identification may be required to obtain certified translations of the same from the British Consul.

Eritrea.—Travellers proceeding to Italian Colonies should, unless they carry special letters of recommendation to the authorities, provide themselves with passports, and obtain a visé from an Italian Consulate.

Tripoli.—Travellers should be provided with passports bearing the visa of an Italian Consular Officer.

JAPAN.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

LIBERIA.—No regulations in force, but a passport issued by the Liberian Secretary of State is required from residents leaving the country. For this 50 cents is charged.

MEXICO.—No regulations in force.

MONTENEGRO.—No special regulations exist, but a passport properly visé is required for travelling through the surrounding Turkish and Austrian territories. Persons travelling in Montenegro otherwise than by the main roads ("routes nationales"), or for purposes of science or exploration, must obtain permission from the Ministry of the Interior through their own Legation or Consulate.

MOROCCO.—It is advisable for travellers to be provided with passports, which are sometimes necessary, e. g., for travelling inland, or for embarking on board the French steamers for Oran. Anyone wishing to travel into the interior should consult His Majesty's Minister at Tangier or the British Consulate for the district through which his route lies.

British subjects residing for more than one month in Morocco are required, under the Morocco Order in Council, 1889, to register themselves at the British Consulate.

MUSCAT.—No regulations exist. Travelling in the interior is unsafe without an armed escort.

NETHERLANDS.—The possession of a passport is not strictly necessary, but is recommended for purposes of identification.

Dutch Guiana.—Curaçao and Dependencies.—No regulations in force. Travellers are advised to provide themselves with passports as evidence of nationality.

Netherland East Indies.—Travellers on arrival, must register themselves at the office of the chief local authority. For travelling inland in the islands, or for residence, a passport must also be obtained from the local authorities, respecting which the British Consul should be considered.

NORWAY.—No regulations in force.

PARAGUAY.—No regulations in force. Neither passports nor certificates of nationality are required from foreigners by the local authorities. It is as well, however, for persons travelling in the interior of the country to be provided with passports.

Persia.—A passport bearing the visa of a Persian Consular officer must be produced on entering Persia and the passport should be countersigned by the Persian passport officer before leaving the country.

Peru, Ecuador and Bolivia.—A passport is not actually necessary, but it is desirable to possess one in order to be able to obtain from a British Diplomatic or Consular officer the certificate of nationality required in the event of civil disturbances.

Portugal.—Travellers are advised to provide themselves with passports. For residence in Portugal or Portugese Colonies, a passport or other proof of nationality is required in order to obtain the necessary permission.

Azores.—The possession of a passport is advisable.

Cape Verde Islands.—Passports are not actually required, except in times of public danger, but they are useful in view of the fact that all foreigners have to personally register themselves at the Mayor's Office as soon as possible after arrival.

Loanda.—Passport necessary.

Madeira.—No regulations in force.

Mozambique.—Travellers should be provided with passports.

Roumania.—Persons travelling to Roumania must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Roumanian Consul. A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. On arrival they should at once obtain the visa of the British Legation or of a British Consulate and then within twenty-four hours of arrival, apply to the Roumanian authorities for a permit to reside in the country. For a stay of less than eight days this formality may be dispensed with, and the permit will be stated upon the passport by the police officials at the frontier.

Russia.—Visitors to Russia must be provided with passports bearing the visa of a Russian Diplomatic or Consular officer. This visa must be within six months of the date of entering Russia. Without such visa they will not be allowed to enter the country. To persons of the Jewish faith the visa is only granted in special circumstances, as to which the Russian Consular officer should be consulted, and in any case such persons are subject to special regulations in Russia.

The passport will enable the holder to reside in Russia for six months, when it must be exchanged at the prefecture of St. Petersburg, or at the Chancery of a provincial Governor, for a Russian "Billet de Séjour," to be renewed annually.

The cost of such "Billet de Séjour" varies from 7r. 15c. to 1r. 29c. Each "Billet de Séjour", on first issue or renewal, must be delivered to the local police officer for inscription or visa. For non-renewal of a "Billet de Séjour" at the time of its expiration a fine is exacted.

On leaving Russia a police certificate must be obtained, which is granted on the first visit of the traveller to Russia at a cost of 75 copecks. On subsequent visits 6r. 50c. is charged. If a "Billet de Séjour" has been obtained it must be returned, when the passport will be handed back to the owner with the necessary authorization to leave.

In the case of persons travelling through Russia, without stopping at any point within the Empire, the visa of a German Consular officer "to travel through Russia" will be accepted as sufficient both for the purpose of entering and leaving the country, without obligation to obtain the police authorization to leave, necessary in case of a stay in Russia.

Travellers passing through Tashkend or Askabad should place themselves in communication with the Russian officials at those towns.

SERVIA.—Travellers should be provided with passports, which are required by the Hungarian frontier officials.

SIAM.—No special regulations in force, but British subjects are required to register themselves at the British Consulate-General within one month of arrival. For travelling in the interior a passport must be obtained from the Siamese Government. Fee for registration, sixty cents; and for passport, fifty cents.

SPAIN.—It is most advisable for travellers to be provided with passports. The visa of a Spanish Consul is not necessary, but will be found useful in travelling in provincial towns and country districts.

In the province of Barcelona, British subjects should, upon arrival, personally show their passports to His Majesty's Consul-General, who will thereupon furnish them with a certificate, which they are required to present, within twenty-four hours after their arrival in Barcelona, at the Office of the Civil Governor (in country towns and villages at the Office of the Mayor), in order that their names, descriptions, etc., may be registered. A fine, and possibly expulsion, may result from non-compliance with this regulation.

Canary Islands.—No regulations in force.

Ceuta.—British subjects desiring to visit Ceuta should apply through the British Vice-Consul at Algeciras for an order from the Commandante-General.

SWEDEN.—No regulations in force.

SWITZERLAND.—A passport is necessary in order to obtain a "Permis de Séjour", which must be taken out, after their arrival, by persons intending to reside in Switzerland. Children sent to schools in Switzerland should carry passports.

TURKISH EMPIRE.—Persons travelling to Turkey must be provided with a passport bearing the visa of a Turkish Consular officer. Without such passport they will be refused admission to the country. A fresh visa must be obtained for each journey. On leaving Turkey the visa of a British Consul should be obtained.

UNITED STATES.—No regulations in force.

Hawaiian Islands.—No regulations in force.

Philippine Islands.—Passports not required.

Porto Rico.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

URUGUAY.—No regulations affecting Europeans in force. Travellers are, however, advised to have passports as evidence of nationality, in case of need.

VENEZUELA.—Travellers are advised to carry passports.

DEPARTMENT OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS,
APRIL, 1914.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING PASSPORTS.

1. Applications for passports should be made in writing and enclosed in a cover addressed to "The Honourable the Secretary of State for External Affairs, Ottawa."

2. The charge for a passport, whatever number of persons may be named in it, is two dollars. The fee payable must accompany the application. Postage stamps will not be received as payment.

3. Passports are granted only to British-born subjects or to persons naturalized in the Dominion of Canada. A married woman is deemed to be a subject of the state of which her husband is for the time being a subject.

4. Passports are not valid after five years from the date of issue. Fresh passports must then be obtained. When the party is a naturalized British subject he will be so designated in his passport.

5. Passports are granted to all persons either known to the Secretary of State for External Affairs or recommended to him by some person who is known to him; or upon the production of a declaration by the applicant, a blank form of which may be obtained at this department, verified by a declaration made by any banking firm, or by any mayor, magistrate, justice of the peace, minister of religion, surgeon, solicitor, or notary resident in the Dominion of Canada. In certain cases, the applicant's certificate of birth must be produced in addition to the declaration.

6. If the applicant for a passport be a NATURALIZED BRITISH SUBJECT, his certificate of naturalization must be forwarded to the Department of External Affairs with the declaration; and his certificate of naturalization will be returned with the passport to the person who has communicated with this department in the applicant's behalf for delivery to the latter. A statutory declaration to the effect that the proposed visit abroad is of a temporary character —giving the probable duration of the same—and that the applicant intends to return to Canada and reside here permanently, must accompany the application for a passport.

7. A passport cannot be issued by the Department of External Affairs on behalf of a person already abroad; such person should apply for one to the nearest British Mission or Consulate.

8. Travellers who may have any intention of visiting the Russian Empire, the Turkish Dominions, the Kingdom of Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Hayti, or Eritrea, at any time in the course of their travels, must first have their passports visés at the nearest Russian, Turkish, Roumanian, Persian, Colombian, Haytian, or Italian Consulate as the case may be. For the information of travellers proceeding to any of these countries via Great Britain, it may be stated that the addresses in London of these consulates are respectively as follows: The Russian Consulate-General, Windsor Chambers, 20 Great St. Helen's, E.C.; the Consulate-General of the Sublime Porte, 7 Union Court, Old Broad street, E.C.; the Roumanian Consulate-General, 3 Mincing Lane, E.C.; the Persian Con-sulate-General, 82 Victoria street, S.W.; the Colombian Consulate-General, Friars House, New Broad street, E.C.; the Haytian Consulate, 32 Fenchurch street, E. C.; the Italian Consulate-General (for Eritrea) 44 Finsbury Square, E.C. Passports may also be visés at any of the other Consulates of Russia, Turkey, Roumania, Persia, Colombia, Hayti or Italy in the United Kingdom. Travellers about to proceed to any other country need not obtain the visa of the Diplomatic or Consular Agents of such country.

N.B.—Although travellers are now free to enter most foreign countries without passports, British subjects travelling abroad are recommended not to omit to provide themselves with passports, for even in those countries where they are no longer obligatory, they are found to be useful as affording a ready means of identification in case of need. British subjects intending to reside in Germany or Switzerland should provide themselves with passports.

It will be noted that the issue of licenses is being extended year by year without any appreciable increase in the percentage of lapses. More than 20 per cent of the inmates have in this way been given a "second chance," with very satisfactory results. The report of the Dominion Parole Officer (Appendix A) indicates that great care has been exercised in the placing and supervision of licensed convicts.

The following table shows the extent to which clemency has been exercised since the adoption of the system of parole in 1899:—

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF PAROLES AND PARDONS.

—	Paroles.	Pardons.	—	Paroles.	Pardons.
1899-0	71	70	1907-8	215	29
1900-1	122	36	1908-9	244	14
1901-2	157	43	1909-10	286	17
1902-3	113	35	1910-11	334	15
1903-4	122	31	1911-12	380	17
1904-5	126	50	1912-13	445	3
1905-6	179	36	1913-14	480	5
1906-7	157	29

CLASSIFICATION OF CRIMES.

Any attempt to classify the crimes of those in custody must be more or less arbitrary, but a general idea may be obtained in the following table:—

Offences against the person	590
Offences against property	1,186
Offences against public order, generally	227

In the case of a sentence that indicates offence against more than one of the above classes, it is classified according to the apparent object of the crime. For example "assault and robbery" is classified as an offence against property—the assault being merely incidental.

AGE.

Two per cent of the population are over 60 years of age, and 8 per cent under 20. Those under 20 are generally lads who have been "reformed" previously in provincial reformatories where the essential element of discipline or obedience to authority was not enforced. When supplied with the lacking essential they become fit subjects for parole.

DURATION OF SENTENCES.

Five per cent are serving life sentences, and twenty-five per cent are serving the minimum sentence of two years.

EDUCATION.

The illiterate constitute 12 per cent. The four western institutions show a better record of education than that of the eastern penitentiaries.

TREATMENT OF CONVICTS.

In view of the determined efforts of ill-informed critics who have sought various and questionable methods of discrediting the management of the Canadian penitentiaries, it seems necessary to refute the attempts by facts that are beyond question. In comparing different systems of treatment, it is necessary to remember that the paramount object of imprisonment is the protection of society by the repression of crime, and that the success of any system can be judged accurately by the results.

The result, in so far as Canadian penitentiary methods are concerned, is shown by the fact that but a small percentage of the present population were ever before in any of our institutions.

The allegation that our penitentiaries are "schools of crime" looks somewhat ludicrous in the light of actual facts.

In this connection it will be recalled that some recent experts have made the recommendation "that an arrangement be entered into with the provinces of the Dominion to take over the custody of first offenders and prisoners under 25 years of age." If the suggestion be adopted, it will leave but a small proportion of our present population remaining—the provinces taking over the others, including nearly all the life prisoners and the majority of other criminals who are physically dangerous. Such recommendations are obviously impracticable, and could emanate only from those who have no experience in the management of penal institutions or knowledge of criminal character.

The recommendations of the experts, as recently published, may be divided into three classes:—

(1) Practical suggestions abstracted from previously published official reports, without credit or reference to the reports from which they were taken.

(2) Reactionary suggestions regarding the reintroduction of practices and abuses that have been eliminated long since for good and sufficient cause and with benefit to the institutions.

(3) Original recommendations, of which the one before referred to is a fair sample.

URBAN CRIMINALITY.

Four cities contribute one-third of the entire penitentiary population. The following table indicates the number received from urban centres:—

Place.	No.	Place.	No.
Montreal	273	New Westminster	41
Vancouver	183	Sydney	40

In the methods pursued for the repression of crime, the pendulum of public opinion, for several centuries, has been oscillating from one extreme to another. Severity occasionally leads to a revulsion of sentiment that is followed by a period of sentimentalism equally dangerous to society—which in turn causes public opinion to revert to the "cat and the triangle."

In the conduct of Canadian penitentiaries it has been the policy to avoid both extremes as inconsistent with proper management, and to adopt methods of treatment that are humane and are also effective for the purpose intended by the sentence.

Brutality and coddling have been avoided as equally dangerous—the former because it incites revenge against society, and the latter because it invites and encourages criminality by making the way of the transgressor easy.

From time to time well-meaning enthusiasts have advocated moral suasion as the proper method of dealing with criminals. No matter how ancient the theory or how frequently it has been exploded, sentimentalism is still paraded as "modern" penology, "modern" methods, etc., as a catch cry. Ever since Eve was comforted by the false assurance "Ye shall not surely die," there have been those who have insisted that wrong-doing should not be followed by penalty, but that the criminal should be rewarded with comforts, privileges and advantages that tens of thousands of law-abiding citizens in this country do not enjoy. This agitation for the encouragement and propogation of crime can boast of its origin and antiquity, but is in no sense modern.

During the past three years a vigorous and determined effort has been made to discredit Canadian penitentiary management, and eventually, in desperation, methods were resorted to that have no precedent in the records of official investigation. In the absence of reliable evidence, the scum of Canadian criminality and even insane convicts were called, their sworn "evidence" recorded and published in the local press as facts. The publication of these scurrilous, false, and filthy statements was continued for days and weeks under the caption of "Startling Revelations," "Disgusting Disclosures," "Hell in a Hollow," and other hysterical headlines, with the obvious intention of discrediting the institution and injuring the reputation of its officials. It is only necessary to consider the character of the methods adopted to realize that whatever discredit may result will not attach to the institution.

An examination of the three books of revelation, labelled "evidence," which accompanied the report of the experts, fails to disclose a single case of cruelty, inhumanity, or wilful injustice to any convict, substantiated by evidence that would be accepted as such in any police court in the country. Any evidence of that character that might be admissible was fully rebutted and disproved by witnesses whose veracity is beyond question.

The allegation that there has been abuse in the infliction of prison punishments is met by the official records. No prison punishment can be inflicted except by the authority of the warden. No punishment was ever authorized or inflicted on an inmate of the insane ward, although false statements to that effect have been made and published. When an insane convict defies authority and refuses to take his periodical bath, sanitary reasons oblige the officers to compel him to submit. This is not punishment. To omit to enforce sanitary regulations would be deemed a serious neglect of duty on the part of the responsible officers.

As regards the general infliction of prison punishments the records show that during the past year, 60 per cent of the population received no punishment whatever—not even the minimum meal of bread and water. Convicts who are defiant of authority, and incorrigible, are subdued by application of the hose. Those who received this form of punishment during the year constitute one-half of 1 per cent of the population. If any one thinks that this record justifies the allegation of abuse they are entitled to another guess. Facts are stronger than fiction.

We place little reliance on the opinions of experts who are unable to distinguish between originality and plagiarism; between reform and reaction; between humanity and inanity; between sane suggestion and sloppy sentimentalism.

The administration of penal institutions is too important to be used as the object of political caprice or for the experiments of misguided enthusiasts. The recommendations that have been made from time to time by your officials were not based on the statements, opinions, or wishes of convicts, sane or insane, but upon observation and practical experience. In our last annual report we urged as fundamental reforms:—

1. That the penitentiaries shall be administered by the Minister, through his responsible officers, and free from local or other external interference.

2. That the Government shall utilize the obligatory labour of its wards in supplying, so far as possible, its own needs and requirements.

We are of opinion that the adoption of these basic reforms would remove any real grievances that may exist.

Respectfully submitted.

APPENDIX A.

DOMINION PAROLE OFFICER'S REPORT.

To the Honourable,

CHARLES J. DOHERTY, K.C., D.C.L., LL.D.,

Minister of Justice,

Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you the annual report on the parole system for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914.

ITINERARY.

During the past fiscal year I have visited the penitentiaries and several provincial institutions in connection with the parole system, and have interviewed 864 prisoners. I have also given those on parole the best encouragement and oversight I am capable of giving. I desire to thank the various Prison Aid Societies, the Salvation Army, the secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Associations, and the Reading Camp Association for their hearty co-operation in the placing of prisoners, especially those who have had no friends to assist them in the critical hour of their leaving a prison and being placed upon their honour. Also I have been able (through correspondence principally) to place over 600 of those released on parole with friends or patrons, in addition to those assisted by societies, and it is gratifying to know that so many released on their honour have responded to the various efforts made for their uplift, and are proving good.

PAROLE STATISTICS OF FISCAL YEAR.

During the past fiscal year, 486 prisoners were released on parole from the penitentiaries, and 558 from the prisons, jails, and reformatories of the Dominion —in total, 1,044. The number of revocations for non-compliance with conditions of license for the past fiscal year was 57, or $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, and the number of forfeitures for subsequent convictions was 47, or $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. The total number of delinquents for the past fiscal year is 104, or 10 per cent. The number of prisoners who completed their paroles during the fiscal year was 455, and the number who have not completed, and who are still reporting, is 485.

The delinquency percentage for the past year looms rather large. Following up the comment suggested in a previous report a few year ago, when citing the increased number of releases, it was demonstrated that the percentage of losses must naturally grow larger as the system is extended. Considering all the facts connected with giving these prisoners a chance to redeem themselves on parole, the percentage of deliquency is not yet abnormally large. Even if 90 per cent demonstrate themselves worthy of a trust, the parole movement still has a magnificent showing; but should the parole system be extended to every prisoner in our penal and reformative institutions, I do not think over 55 or 60 per cent would prove satisfactory.

Take, for an illustration, the penitentiaries which have a population now of nearly 2,000. In the early years of the parole movement, when 150 or 200 inmates were released the percentage of delinquency aggregated a much smaller percentage than at the present time, when nearly 500 are released annually. The discrimination or consideration given could not be expected to be as effective in the releasing of a larger number in proportion to the few selected in the early days of the administration, hence the larger increase this year in the number of revocations and forfeitures over any previous years. But it is hardly fair to take one year as a criterion or opinion. Quite a number of the cancellations revealed in the figures of this year revert to the year previous, or to several previous years. Especially is this found in the penitentiary cases, where they are expected to report up to the expiration of their sentence. I beg to suggest that prisoners at large, after reporting from two to three years, and living within the law, be relieved from reporting, and the parole extended to a full pardon. To my knowledge, some of the prisoners at large have been reporting regularly for five or six years, and are doing well. The parole, under these circumstances, while it has been a safeguard in the early stages of the prisoner's probation, ceases to be a protection after a number of years, and produces, without a shadow of a doubt, a serious handicap if held too long over the prisoner. I have repeatedly urged the authorities to grant prisoners at large the clemency of a full pardon after they have been reporting for two or three years, if their conduct be exemplary.

STATISTICS SINCE THE INCEPTION OF THE ACT, 15 YEARS AGO.

Since the inception of the Act, fifteen years ago, 6,540 prisoners were released on parole. Of this number, 3,454 were from the penitentiaries, and the balance (3,086) from the prisons, reformatories, and jails. The number of paroled prisoners who have completed their sentences at large is 5,418, and we still have 704 reporting. The number of forfeitures for subsequent convictions is 192, or 2.9 per cent, and the number of revocations for non-compliance with conditions of license is 226, or 3.5 per cent.

The correct criterion in summing up the effective work of the parole system must be taken from the entire figures. These figures reveal that 192 have committed offences and were returned on subsequent conviction, and forfeited their license; also that 226 prisoners were not altogether satisfactory in their reporting, and consequently their licenses were revoked for breach of regulation. The entire loss to the system thus far is 418, or 6·4 per cent.

The above figures are identical with those furnished by the Commissioner of Dominion Police.

NOTE.—The divergency (3) in my figures from the penitentiary reports is caused by paroles being issued and refused by prisoners in the last few days or months of their sentence.

There is considerable variation this year in the numbers returned to the penitentiaries on forfeitures and revocations, and I beg to submit the following figures:—

	Releases.	Number returned.	Per-centage.
St. Vincent de Paul	84	14	16·6
Kingston	116	14	12·0
Dorchester	50	5	10·6
Alberta	62	3	4·8
Saskatchewan	35	1	2·8
British Columbia	76	2	2·6
Manitoba	63	.....	..

Five women were released from the various penitentiaries, and it is creditable that not one violated her parole during the year.

I beg to suggest a few changes in connection with the operation of the parole system. In the working of the ticket-of-leave at the present time we place the convicts almost absolutely under the control of the police authorities in their reporting. I beg to suggest the appointment of parole officers, in the leading centres, who would gradually replace the police officers in the oversight of paroled prisoners, and only appeal to the police in cases of neglect or failure of the prisoner to respond to a moral or reasonable restraint. The ticket-of-leave system brands a man in calling his license a "ticket-of-leave," and this attaches a stigma and a handicap in his endeavour to reinstate himself in society outside of a prison. Where the reforms of the convict is earnestly and honestly sought in almost all civilized countries, the word "parole" or "conditional liberation" has been substituted for "ticket-of-leave." I have repeatedly urged, in my memoranda, the authorities to change this unnecessary handicap attached to a prisoner's license. He has sufficient of an uphill struggle without this added disadvantage. History demonstrates that the old system of "ticket-of-leave" in several countries has been associated with the most diabolical cruelty and suffering ever imposed on a penalized humanity, and the term "ticket-of-leave" can never be mentioned by the public without the knowledge of its past record. The word "parole" signifies that a man is placed on his honour and trusted to a certain extent. For these reasons, I humbly beg to suggest that the word "parole" be inserted wherever the words "ticket-of-leave" have been placed on the license and in the Act.

Under a well-organized parole system, the reporting could be managed through federal parole officers, appointed to various provinces requiring the time and oversight of such officers. The work imposed on the police in receiving all the reports of men on parole is very arduous and, as a rule, they do not care to be responsible for the prisoners' reporting. They seldom undertake to look after a man on parole or discover the reasons for his non-reporting or delinquency. Should he commit a crime they then feel it their duty to deal with him. Under these circumstances, I beg to suggest that federal parole officers be appointed in several provinces where the work would demand their full time and attention in the oversight of the parole system, and held under federal authority. That officers have been needed in this capacity, I beg to call attention to my report in 1905 making a suggestion that the provinces appoint parole officers to look after the prisoners released from the prisons, jails, and all provincial institutions, but I have found the provincial authorities indifferent in this matter, and they state that all releases or pardons are in the hands of the Minister of Justice, under federal authority, and that those who take the responsibility of the liberation of a prisoner from any jail, prison, or penitentiary, should be responsible to provide qualified officers for the oversight of all such prisoners while on parole. Many prisoners serving a first term may be released with safety under the supervision of a patron or the society interested providing him with employment. Federal parole officers appointed in a province would have within their jurisdiction ample scope for their energies in visiting these men and keeping them within their conditions of license, and supervising the work carried on by the societies in connection with the parole system. In event of lapses or any paroled prisoner becoming unmanageable and violating the obligation under which he is held by the parole license, the authorities or patron should report him immediately to the police, and hand him over to be dealt with according to the law. Should the suggested system be carefully organized it would save the police a large amount of work, and make the parole system much more effective in its oversight.

Although the conduct of a prisoner while in custody cannot be accepted as a safe criterion or index of character, I think that no man should be released on parole who has openly defied the prison regulations and failed to respond to penitentiary treatment. The inspectors of penitentiaries have informed me that the wardens have been very much embarrassed in their management of their institutions where releases have been ordered when the prisoner at that time was undergoing punishment for infractions of the discipline and regulations of the institution. The release of a man who defies discipline discourages well-behaved prisoners. The warden's recommendation should be very carefully considered under these circumstances.

Parole officers, eventually, would have the nucleus of a very strong organization which could be operated in connection with the "suspended-sentence system." Some years ago I had occasion to make inquiries into the probationary system in the state of Massachusetts, where probation officers are attached to the state and receive all men and women who are given, what we in Canada term, a suspended sentence. The clause in the Canadian Criminal Code authorizing the judge or magistrate to exercise the suspended sentence on a first offender is one of the best reform movements we have, but to make it effective the system needs the probationary officer to receive at the court all such cases and give them a careful oversight. It is the duty of the probationary officer to arrange for all prisoners given over by the court on suspended sentence, their employment and social environment; also to see that they make restitution, as far as they possibly can, for any wrongs inflicted on a community or individual by their anti-social act. Ninety-five per cent of the men and women released during the past ten years in the state of Massachusetts on a suspended sentence, as we term it, or the probationary system, when embracing the oversight by officers especially appointed by the Government, proved satisfactory. I have often met cases in our penitentaries and jails where I felt, as far as the reformation of the convict was concerned, that the very apprehension of his offence and subsequent trouble from the loss of character and social status, inflicted a sufficient punishment and would act as a deterrent to his ever committing an offence of this character again. Had we a thoroughly organized probationary system so that a judge or magistrate could feel that the man would have a strict supervision and be held to the terms of his suspended sentence, many cases from the court could be handed over to the parole or probationary officers, and thus save the stigma attached to his name of having once been in a prison or penitentiary. I am satisfied, after years of service and personal contact with our prisoners, and in the study of these men from a criminological and psychological viewpoint, that many of our prisoners (had they never been sent to a jail, reformatory, or penitentiary) could have been reclaimed and made good citizens without weakening the arm of the law in its operation, by a thoroughly organized suspended-sentence auxiliary to the parole system, which is now beyond any experimental state in reform movements. If there is, as demonstrated, a percentage of men in our prisons who can be trusted, and especially for the minor offences of the law coming under a provincial institution for treatment in a prison farm, etc., and placed on their honour, without the supervision of guards, a pertinent and vital question affecting political economics might reasonably be asked, to wit: If prisoners respond to treatment of this character while under custody for minor offences, why should they be incarcerated at all, or punishment inflicted upon them by the disgrace attached to serving of a criminal sentence. Under the probation system, restitution as far as possible could be made for their wrong inflicted on society, and they could be placed, not in a prison farm or reformatory institution for treatment, but on their honour with their old employers or some patron that has taken an interest in their behalf. I have gone carefully into the working of this law where it is in force, and I honestly believe it can be made a safe means, if adopted by our country, for the reconstruction and economic treatment of delinquents, and I earnestly beg the thoughtful attention of the minister to consider the advisablity of appointing parole officers under this office and the adoption of the probationary system to work in conjunction with the courts (especially in our larger cities) where men might be placed on probation rather than be sent to a prison farm or a penitentiary for their first offence. I also beg to suggest that all prisoners now on parole who have been reporting for some two and a half to three years satisfactorily, and observing their license, be relieved from the responsibility of reporting and, where the minister considers it judicious, a full pardon granted.

PAROLE OR DISCHARGE FROM PRISON.

The most critical period or crisis in the life of a prisoner is reached on the day of his discharge from prison. During his service of sentence he has been required to obey, but not required to plan or decide upon his occupation outside. Day after day he has marched to his work, his clothes have been furnished, his food provided, and he has had no struggle for a living, as many have outside of prison walls. He has not been called upon to exercise any thought or care about the smallest necessities of life. The longer his imprisonment is the more wholly dependent is he when set at liberty. For months, nay, years, he has looked forward to this day as one of unalloyed happiness. Visions of the employment with which he would again earn his way have visited his pillow many a night in his lonely cell. Waking dreams of what he would do when he was his own master have come to him day after day, and now this day of days for him has come, and he changes the prison suit, and turns his back upon the walls that have so long circumscribed his view, eager to drink in the free air of heaven and taste to the full the happy freedom and liberty of the outside world. The sun never shone so bright, the air never filled his lungs with such a sense of health and relief as it now comes pure from the fields and forests of his native land. He fairly shakes himself with delight as he realizes that no warden can hold him and no guard can call to him "halt!" when he turns his face toward his old home. Perhaps he has a few friends left in the neighbourhood who will welcome him, to whom he hastens. Perhaps a mother waiting to clasp her wayward boy to her sorrowed heart, and pillow that sinning head upon a bosom that beats but to pity and love. If so, there is an abundant hope for his future. She may be very old and poor, but the mother's love remains and still serves to win the wayward boy back to the ways of rectitude and honest living. But all mothers, unfortunately, are not what they ought to be to their children. Some time ago I accompanied a broken-hearted mother to one of our penal institutions where she was having an interview with her boy who had gone astray, and was serving a sentence. The mother's grief was pitiful. She stated that she never felt that she had done her duty to her boy, and the boy in his conversation at that time, referred to the days of his boyhood and said "Oh mother, if I had only known." What a wonderful influence for good or bad a mother can wield. Canada needs more good mothers if the tide of our criminal population is to be checked. The neglect of early training is often reaped in the after life of the child, producing a broken heart, with scalding, bitter tears. Millions have proved a mother's love both a mantle and a shield. If a remnant of the true man remains, the paroled prisoner needs no outside aid, but in many cases the unfortunate person coming from the prison has no mother living, and very few friends, if any, to help him in his hour of need. This is where the parole system proves a potent factor in assisting men. In almost every case, employment and friends are provided before the prisoner is released, for I have always felt that no person should be discharged from a prison without a patron or a friend to go to, and employment or a good prospect of employment in view before discharge. I have known many to fall into temptation who truly intended to live an honest life when discharged from prison, but when looking for employment, discouragements came which they little expected. This past year I have placed 675 prisoners, released on parole, with friends.

We still have people inquire: "What is the parole system?" as many confound a "conditional liberation" with a "pardon." We are also met on the threshold of every discussion on the parole system with the statement that a parole is, in fact, a pardon, as the granting of a parole involves the highest power or prerogative of the Crown. This objection loses its force when we reflect that a pardon by the Crown is an absolute act of grace, not based upon such prior conditions as are necessary in the case of a parole. Again, a pardon is a complete act, the recipient of it goes absolutely free, acquitted of a crime, and vested again with the rights of full citizenship. The paroled person goes merely from one state of discipline and test into an enlarged one, where he must again show his fitness for further confidence and final liberation. He may be returned any time to custody on the violation of the conditions of his license.

Examination of the various methods for the release of prisoners demonstrates that the parole system produces a gradual restoration of liberty and citizenship to persons who have forfeited it by crime, under which the offender is trained and qualified by prison treatment for conditional liberty, and it stands second to none as a restorative and reformative method.

It is coming to be generally believed that, as a class, so-called criminals are not so wilfully criminous as they are weak, and we find the weak ones need to be strengthened and invigorated with manhood. The criminal cannot be deterred from crime by punishment alone. The object of imprisonment is not only the protection of society, but the ultimate restoration of the criminal. A system that strengthens the wayward and holds an oversight of them till strength has been gained, may properly be designated a parole system.

The prisoners on parole for the past year in Canada have been earning, on an average, $12.84 per capita per week as wage-earners, supporting their families and themselves, and living, as a rule, upright lives. Have you ever considered what it costs the country (over two thousand dollars, some one has figured out) for every man sent to prison in Canada. In the penitentiaries it means an annual cost of $350 per capita while in custody. Yet there are some who object to spending a few dollars on the man discharged, with the object to help him regain his citizenship, keep away from prison, and earn an honest living. The primary object of the parole system is to prevent men from going further in crime, and to encourage them in honest pursuits of life; and results demonstrate, from the fifteen years' operation of this movement, that the money is well spent and the efforts for the uplift of prisoners beneficial to the community or state.

A question is often asked, "To what extent is the reformation of a criminal dependent upon religion?" I would answer that it is dependent to the extent of the completeness and security of the reform. Reform may begin with various different points of character. It may be of low origin. It may at the beginning be without religious motives or stimulus, but somewhere en route from its origin to its culmination, it must embrace religion. It must embrace the heart in order to make whole its work. "For out of the heart are the issues of life." The religion or reformation is not a form of doctrine or the work of a church or a religious organization, but an individual work of the heart accomplished by Divine Grace when the man turns his face toward his Maker. He will then remember his neighbour.

The parole system has been the means of working out many a heart reformation, for the system is based upon a belief in the essential oneness of criminal and non-criminal persons as sentient beings. Its methods proceed from the belief that the crimes of criminals are, in origin, development, and continuance, like the offences of any other persons; and for all defilement there must be, essentially, the same cleansing for each one, in order that every one may become correct in life. All criminality is of one origin, and its remedy is the same as that for perversity, turpitude, or waywardness, whenever and however found. Parole movements are then, essentially, operated along the line of a common humanity.

Within the purview of the parole system are the great number and variety of persons who have offended against property and persons, who have violated public morals and whom the law has designated as criminals. They have been given many names. Penology classifies them as professional, habitual, and accidental criminals. While a few of the first two classes are sometimes granted a parole under special conditions or circumstances, the great majority of those released on parole represent the accidental offender, and it is among this class that the parole movement is most potent and helpful in reconstruction. I have known quite a number of old offenders who have reached the crisis of life and have been bridged into good citizenship by the parole system. To the parole system they all are, as a body, a people of needs, entering into criminality by reason of mental, moral, physical, or industrial lack. It is generally found that they are to a certain extent barren of the very things which abound in good strong people who have enriched their lives with honesty, honour, and truth. Therefore the parole method is that of implanting, uprooting the wrong, and the enrightment of the better forces found in all men. The system is one of hope and encouragement. The endeavour is to make paroled persons robust with integrity rather feeble in criminality; to implant a true conception of living, giving the expulsive force to the individual which will drive out the wrong. The parole system looks for the real man in every prisoner paroled, and when finding him seeks to qualify him with that liberty wherewith other men have been made free from that which was wrong in their lives and purposes. The parole system deals with the offender rather than his offence. It embraces each phase of character, his moral and physical needs. The parole plan does not proceed upon the fact alone that the man has been or is a murderer, or thief, or drunkard, but more upon the fact that he is a man gone wrong, astray from the path of rectitude and good citizenship, and may be brought back; that he is a person gone wrong but who can be made right and one whose trend of life may be changed. It seeks to have prisoners leave a prison with a hope and purpose, strengthened in will, equipped with skill, and endowed with industry from the lessons begun in the penitentiary, and to habilitate them as the case may be treated with the qualities and forces of good citizenship.

PENOLOGICAL.

There is considerable error in the general opinion of imprisonments in the modern prison, for many still think that it is actually a condition of painful punishment. Doubtless many prisoners would prefer not to go to a prison. As a child dislikes to take medicine intended for its benefit or health, so criminals, as a rule, prefer not to undergo curative treatment for their criminous characters. But the modern prison is not what the mind of the average citizen, who has given but little thought or attention to penological matters, thinks it is. The fact is, convicts in our penitentiaries have more and better food than the average working man outside, who has committed no crime, can have or afford to have. They have to be supplied with the best of medical attention absolutely free, and they receive both moral and industrial education gratis. Their rooms are generally well ventilated and provided with a comfortable bed. While their clothing may not be to their own taste, yet they are dressed warmly. The labour provided may not be of the higher grades of industrial service, yet many profitable trades have been taught the men, and hundreds of them have, on their discharge on parole or on expiration of sentence, been better equipped to earn an honest living than on entering.

Another popular error abroad is about prisoners themselves. There are two theories about a prisoner which largely determines the plan of his treatment in the light of modern penology. One view which is generally held by the major portion of our communities in Canada is that when a man is about to commit a crime he sees clearly the moral wrong of it, feels also the monitions of a healthy conscience, and is absolutely free to choose his course of conduct, choosing, out of the depravity of his heart, to commit a crime. This view may have led to retributive penalties in the administration of justice, but it still has a rational claim on all intelligent and sound-thinking people. Another view taken by professional criminologists differs somewhat in essence from the above. A synopsis of their argument might be cited as follows: Human conduct is the result of human organisms and energy. The apparatus by which purposive movements are actuated is found in the nervous system, and also the muscles, into which the nerve fibre is so intimately interlaced. These act only when stimulated by some form or force not steadily applied, but in a shock or a succession of shocks of force. The brain is rated as an accumulator and distributor, while the nerves and channels are vehicles and avenues in which it is conveyed. Energy is stored in the nerve cells and transmitted along the series of molecules in like manner as the impulse is communicated from one to the other. The channels into which currents frequently pass are channels which have become, from the fact of this frequent passage, scoured out to the appropriate calibre, and are able to convey the accustomed currents without leakage. The repetition of impressions stimulating the flow of energy between centres, enlarges and adjusts the channel until the connection between them becomes thoroughly organized and the course of action becomes habitual, increasing the facility of action, making new centres, and through combined action resulting in new modes of reaction, producing a new course of conduct.

The activity of the highest nerve centres by a nerve current set in motion by sense-perception, is attended by a corresponding variation in the mental processes. Molecular changes and nerve currents are attended by a change in what modern thinkers call mind; change of ideas, feelings, volitions, and it is constantly affirmed that there is no mental condition without a nerve process. The evolution of character, then, under the system of modern thought, and the reformation of it, is but the creation of habits or habitudes.

The doctrine of tissue degeneration, whether atavistic or formed by environment, as a cause of anti-social conduct is now attracting much attention, particularly in the different schools of criminal anthropology in Europe; and they all quite agree that the source of conduct, including criminal conduct, is to be sought for in the material substance of the being, in an undeveloped, dormant, or diseased nerve tissue. Reformers who follow these schools of science begin their reformative process by attention and treatment to the physical life, by the scientific renovation and training with modern appliances and by other more ordinary means for the large majority of prisoners.

The real criminal, if of subjective criminous character, must be treated scientifically. I care not at what viewpoint or angle we may approach the criminal, he requires the very wisest and best treatment any school or science can produce if an ultimate and lasting reformation is earnestly sought. Without any further comment on various systems, to avoid misapprehension, permit me to say that all systems of reformative treatment are aiming at the same practical results, but proceeding by different avenues of approach. All efforts are for the reformation of character, and the same inaudible voice that moves to reformation endeavour, urges work with every scientific and administrative skill that humans can summon and which is needed so much for the reformation of character and the reconstruction of human life. My thought is this: That the Great Master Mind who has created and inspired human effort for the uplift of our fallen fellows is truly in every process we wield, from the humblest and simplest method to the highest scientific movement of this modern age, and we must be strong enough as men and broad enough in our vision of action to acknowledge every effort made to rehabilitate human life.

It is difficult to understand our modern terms, especially in reviewing the methods or phases of the reconstruction of the criminal from the scientific view-point. To-day, there is altogether too much of a tendency to confound moral will with disease, which movement borders on maudlin sentimentality, and to my mind is dangerous. The moment we consider a man irresponsible for crime we will find it a serious matter to apply restorative or curative methods apart from the treatment of the insane. I have always regarded criminals, individually, as having a degree of moral reliability, and on this ground the state justifies itself in administering curative methods, with the hope that a strong discipline and well-regulated habits of industry and care of physical life will correct the wrong impressions which the criminal has formed concerning right and wrong and his standard of society. We must not for a moment entertain the thought that criminals are an irresponsible creation and require nothing but an asylum treatment. The whole man must be dealt with, for very few prisoners are wholly abandoned to criminal instincts of a criminal life.

DISCIPLINE.

A proper discipline has for its object the adaptation of character to circumstances, a training to self-command and respect, the adjustment of habits to environment, the development of the faculties and an education or culture which fits the individual for the duties of life. Whenever you find discipline eliminated from the home life, parental control ceases to be a virtue, and is followed, generally, by a fearful wreck and the dissector of the family life. Weakness, over-indulgence, severity and cruelty have worked out many criminal instincts in the lives of children. Very seldom has a well-regulated home produced a criminal. The state has then to undertake the instruction and discipline so often neglected in the home, and lessons of this character come hard to the individual in after-life. The duties to be taught by prison discipline are the general duties of life and good citizenship.

The primary object of imprisonment is the protection of society, and there cannot be any other sane or just object. The economical management of police departments and criminal courts must depend, in a measure, upon the management and treatment given in the penal institutions where we confine our criminals. The police arrest the offender, the court tries him and the trial judge or magistrate sentences him to a term of imprisonment. The expenses of the first two will be measurably affected during the term of imprisonment by the ability of the prison authorities to change the prisoner's character, during the time named, from a law-breaking to a law-abiding citizen. It is not uncommon in our large Canadian cities that an habitual law-breaker is tried and sentenced thirty, forty, or even seventy times (I know a man in one of our city prisons at the present time who is serving his hundred and second term) all at an enormous expense to the country and apparently to no purpose. The time of sentence in many cases is too short to afford an opportunity for the betterment of the prisoner. It would almost seem that none was even expected by the authorities, yet a stated time sentence can scarcely be considered rational, except on the ground that the prisoner will likely be discharged at the end of his sentence a better man or a good citizen. Whether judges or magistrates are able to determine, by their observations of the prisoner during trial, just how long it will take to change the habits of a life-time so as to make the man into a proper citizen, is one of the very vital questions of the day, for certain it is that it is not agreable to the advanced civilization in which we live, nor is it likely to be long tolerated or permitted by our intelligent and thinking Canadian communities, that habitual and recidivist criminals should be turned loose upon society to continue their life of crime after imprisonment. I have always thought favourably of the Swiss system of treatment of criminals. That is, as far as I can ascertain, no man is discharged from custody without friends or employment, and the prisoner must go to his employment and behave himself or he goes immediately back to prison. The real interests of society and of the criminal cannot be separated. He is part of ourselves, part of our civilization. Conditions that contribute to his well-being will equally aid all of us. No man is made happier by the suffering of another man. True, a surgeon's knife sometimes inflicts great suffering but, because it performs great uses in the service of humanity, it is honoured. All punishment should be inflicted with the idea of use or service, as a benefit to the sufferer and, like the knife, should never pass the line of necessity, because in either case it would be wrong and brutal. Exemplary punishment inflicted as a deterrent should not pass the correctional line to produce the desired effect. Fear is a powerful restraint in this world, but is effective only so far as the operation of the law impresses the public mind with the idea of justice. Unjust punishment creates sympathy for the culprit and destroys the dignity of rule and regulation. I have never known cruelty and brutality to result from a strong and healthy discipline, but they are produced from a lack of this important element in prison administration. Correctional punishment is the only safe and proper example of a just administration. Maudlin sentimentality would do away with all discipline and consequent punishments which follow in a well-regulated institution. Can we conceive of the state of a penal institution where the inmates rule and their conceptions of justice govern the management? When punishments begin with a single deprivation of privilege and an admonition which fails in the effect (if it is certain that the man is sane and his perversity is born of a real stubborness and a vicious wilfulness) then severity must be added or the man wins out, and the administration and discipline of the institution receives a setback from which it cannot recover. The vital principle necessary to form a good discipline among prisons is the employment—work—hard work at that, work just the same as is done outside, work in which the prisoner can see something grow under his hands and form a perfect article, as the production of his mind and labour. The higher the class of industry the better for the man. I consider that work which will not produce good results is not any better than idleness.

CONCLUSION.

Many persons become criminal because of their dependent natures and habits. They are brought up practically ignorant of the fact that even the things for personal subistence and use are not free, and that they can only come into the possession of these by earning them. They have been unmindful of the necessity and mercy of work in some capacity or other. Thousands of children live and grow into manhood or womanhood, disobedient to the natural laws for man's industrial, social, and moral welfare, and the provision of the great privilege which is written: "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread till thou return unto the ground." There are many who study to get food, clothes, and shelter without earning them and without the expenditure of any real toil or brain sweat. It is absolutely necessary for us to have a clear conception of life, and know that the things which we earn produce the right of citizenship. People who have this knowledge generally keep clear of a prison. In these days when fierce struggles exist between the man who has accumulated wealth and the man who has muscle; between the law-abiding and the law-breaking class; between the heated partisans of differing policies of government; one is lead to seek the universal solvent for human ills and trouble, the one element so often sought in the complex issues of life and so seldom found or understood, that will bring to erring humanity—cleanness of life and a proper respect for law and order. Is it not found in the great but simple truth propounded by the Great Master—"Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself"? All our estimates of human nature are in proportion to the best or worst specimens of it which we have witnessed. This, then, is the solvent which is needed to raise the feelings of our humanity into an enthusiasm from the precept of love which has been given. An ideal must be set before the eyes of the mind for those who are called upon to obey it, an ideal or type of man which may be noble and good enough to raise the whole race and make the meanest of it sacred with reflected strength, the glory of a true manhood. Did not the Master do this for all mankind? Did the command refer to those who had never seen a human being they could revere? Could any of His followers turn on Him and say "How can we love a creature so criminal and degraded in all his ways?" Of the human race the Master was a member; and to this day is not the best answer to those who blaspheme the human species by saying there is no hope for the criminal, no reformation, no change of conduct or character; yes, the best answer to all such, even when our sense of its degradation is the keenest, is that the Master had a human brain behind His forehead, a human heart beating in His breast, and that nothing more elevating or attractive has ever been found than in His attribute from His wonderful and beautiful life among men. We may rightly have our penological systems, our criminological sciences, but in and through them all, if we are to expect results from our efforts, we must bring the human life in contact with its Author, for in and through Him only is found the vital force of a redeemed and regenerated humanity. The religious force in human nature is, then, one of the greatest factors in the prisoner's redemption, and the vital force which lifts up men must be of a Divine origin to give lasting and beneficial results.

There was once a prisoner towards whom the tenderest feelings of our heart are now drawn, but in the hour of His trial he trod the wine-press alone, despised and rejected of men, who stood staring and looking at Him, houseless, friendless, and scorned by thieves, spat upon by outcasts, outraged in every sanctity of soul and body, the victim of vicious cruelty, tyranny, and malice, beaten, crucified, and dishonoured, He who cried aloud to the children of men for sympathy and affection in His voiceless woe. In that tumultuous throng that closed upon Him there was no one to pity. A few friends may have stood at a distance, but near at hand there was only the hate of the poor, the loathing of the educated and official classes, before that awful injustice, that fierce blast of passion when He bowed Himself and gave up His life. Over this great tragedy generation upon generation of the best of humanity have shed their tenderest tears, and the instrument of His torture has become the symbol of power and grace. The illustrious Victim and Victor has by His sacrifice consecrated all suffering and sorrow and given a dignity to all prisoners and captives. He is the Chief of that long line of captives whose miseries the world to-day deplores. Other illustrious prisoners like Joseph, Daniel, Jeremiah, Socrates, Paul, Cicero and Chrysostom have all in their day and generation felt the agony and sorrow of a prison cell, and have sometimes had added torture. We sigh over their stories, but would it have been different had we lived in the days of our fathers? I think not. Are there no prisoners who suffer now? Are there not people in your community who have never heard a kind word or felt human sympathy in their distress? Have we not in our penitentaries to-day nearly two thousand man and women from whom society shuns and shrinks as from a pestilence? And so little is done to reconstruct their wasted lives and welcome them back to human society on their release. I am afraid we stand in the light of this wonderful command, "Love thy neighbour as thyself," condemned, yes, as thoroughly condemned as those who were swift to shed the innocent blood of the Christ.

Respectfully submitted,

W. P. ARCHIBALD,
Dominion Parole Officer.

APPENDIX B.

WARDENS' REPORTS.

KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, ONT., July 4, 1914.

Inspectors of Penitentiaries,
Ottawa.

SIRS,—I have the honour to submit my annual report, together with crime statistics and other reports, in connection with this penitentiary, for the year ended March 31, 1914:—

There were in custody March 31, 1913		516
Received during the year		199
		715
Discharged:—
By expiration of sentence	64
By parole	114
By deportation	15
By death	8
By removal to reformatory	1
By return to provincial authorities	2
		204
Remaining March 31, 1914		511

The daily average for the year was 499.

In October we sustained loss by fire in the laundry and change room, and a full report of the circumstances connected with the matter was made to you at the time. The greatest loss was the damage to the roof of the building, which was repaired and is again occupied.

The masons were employed during the summer at building the new boundary wall, and during the winter in making cement blocks to be used in the reconstruction of the north wing.

The stone cutters were busy getting the stone ready for the wall and towers, also cutting jambs, etc., for the north wing.

The blacksmiths made new barriers and wove wire beds for the hospital, which have been placed in position, improving the cells very much; also barriers for the keeper's hall, four cage barriers for the isolated ward, and 140 barriers and ninety-six beds for the Saskatchewan penitentiary, and 152 barriers and 152 beds for Alberta penitentiary. Iron grates and transoms, grills, and locking bars for Manitoba penitentiary.

The carpenters were employed at the new Roman Catholic chapel, keepers' hall, new cold storage plant for kitchen, new roof in change room building, and the usual repairs.

The tailors and shoemakers made clothing and shoes for the Indians in the North-west, officers' uniforms, and convict clothing.

The tinsmiths and painters were employed on the change-room roof, making tinware for the kitchen, general repairs, and weaving wire beds.

The quarry gang got out the stone for the various works, including the stone-breakers.

There are at present forty-nine inmates, classed as insane, and the building called the insane ward cannot accommodate all of them. I would recommend to your considerarion the removal of all the insane to a separate institution.

Nine female prisoners were recently transferred from Alberta penitentiary, making our present total nineteen. It is interesting to note that these are all the female prisoners west of the Maritime Provinces. They are confined in a separate building inside the boundary wall, but while the building is new and suitable the ground space is limited.

Respectfully submitted,

A. G. IRVINE,
Warden.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL, April 1, 1914.

SIRS,—I have the honour to submit my third annual report, together with crime statistics and other reports in connection with this penitentiary for the year ending the 31st March, 1914.

The conduct of the convicts has been very good. No serious breach of discipline has occurred, and we had no escape, neither attempt of escape.

The undermentioned work done during the year, namely:—

New North Wing.—The reconstruction of this dormitory was completed and occupied in January last. The work of reconstruction involved the removal of the interior construction, the excavation in rock for water pipes, sewers, steam pipes, and the building of a new cell block on a modern line.

Concrete Culvert.—A concrete culvert 80 feet in length was constructed during the summer. The difficulty arising from the rapid water flow in the creek during the course of construction made the work arduous; this, however, was remedied by the construction of a temporary drain. Teams were occupied during the fall and winter carting stones and earth to extend the embankments. When the filling-in is accomplished and the trestle removed we will have then a direct road on our own property to the root cellar and barns, thus eliminating the necessity to use the village streets.

Ornamental Grounds.—The unsightly appearance of the front reserve has been greatly improved during the summer. A gang was employed excavating and grading. Fully 10,000 loads of stones and earth were carted to level up, and the portion of the terrace was sodded. The approach to the institution presents a tidy and ornamental front to our building.

Farm Drain.—A stone drain 400 feet in length was laid in St. Francois road to drain the farm; this drain connects with the creek on the reserve.

Piggery Building.—A gang of masons was engaged for about two months during the summer repairing the brick walls of this building, and the roof was also repaired and painted.

New Hospital.—This work was pushed along during the year, and I venture to hope will be completed and ready for occupation this summer.

We had the misfortune on the 26th February last of having a fire, which broke out in the store oil-room and which caused very considerable damage. The store, north lodge, and Roman Catholic chapel were totally destroyed, but I desire to remark that the improvement which will be caused by the demolition of the Roman Catholic chapel, originally built in such a position that it obstructed a large portion of the yard will in a great measure compensate for the loss. In fact, the removal of the Roman Catholic chapel alone in creating a new and improved aspect in the yard mostly covers this loss. As a matter of fact, new plans would evidently have had to be drawn up for the remodelling of the front portion of the penitentiary, the oldest part of the prison, and the fire has hastened the matter forward.

Temporary Cell Block.—The entire block of cells was removed and the room converted into a temporary Roman Catholic chapel, with a sitting capacity for one hundred and ninety-two men: as this number is about one-half of the Roman Catholic congregation, two services are held every Sunday and holiday. This will be continued until the new chapel is built.

In finishing my report, I beg to say, as a rule, I wish to thank my officers for their hearty support during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

G. S. MALEPART,
Warden.

DORCHESTER.

DORCHESTER, N.B., May 4, 1914

SIRS,—I have the honour to present the statistical and other reports of the Dorchester penitentiary for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914.

During the year the prison population has increased. On March 31, 1914, the total was 231 against 195 on March 31, 1913, showing thirty-six of an increase.

I have to report the removal by death during the year of our surgeon, the late Dr. D. D. McDonald, of whom it can be said "a good man has fallen." Near the end of the fiscal year the Roman Catholic chaplain, Rev. A. D. Cormier, resigned, his position here on account of failing health, after a long and faithful service. His optimistic presence will be much missed by the entire staff.

The discipline has been good, and the officers faithful in the discharge of their duties, and to them I beg to extend my thanks for the zeal and faithfulness manifested.

In conclusion, I again desire to express my sincere thanks to yourselves for the courtesy extended to me.

Respectfully submitted,

A. B. PIPES,
Warden.

MANITOBA.

STONY MOUNTAIN, April 1, 1914.

SIRS,—I have the honour to submit the annual report of this penitentiary for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914, together with reports from the various departments, including the surgeon, chaplains, school instructor, farm instructor, and the crime statistics.

From the statistics it will be seen that the convict population decreased twenty-eight during the year, the figures being as follows:—

Remaining on register, March 31, 1913		200
" "	March 31, 1914	172
		28

The convicts were all employed advantageously during the year, and for the most part in the open air.

The work done during the year included the following:—

Considerable progress was made in the construction of the road from here to Winnipeg. During the seasonable weather we had from five to eight teams working daily on the road, ditching, grading, repairing, and hauling gravel and broken stone. We delivered on the road during the year, 1,845 yards of broken stone and gravel, and completed a mile and a half of standard macadamized road, which has been inspected by the Manitoba Government Roads Commissoner, Mr. McGillivray, and declared to be as good, or the best, in the province.

Practically all of the broken stone, and all the gravel was supplied by the prison, the exact amounts being as follows:—

Stone broken by convicts at the prison	1,164	yards.
Gravel taken from prison gravel pit	609	"
Crushed rock taken from city quarry	72	"
Making the total supplied to the road	1,845	"

In reply to an advertisement of the municipality of Rosser, the lowest price they received for broken stone or gravel, delivered on the road, was $2.50 per yard, therefore the contribution of 1,845 yards made by this institution, at $2.50 per yard, would amount to $4,612.50, as well as a large amount of repairs we made on the roads in the early spring after the thaws.

In placing the gravel on the road we commenced at a distance of 6 miles south of the gravel pit, and are working our way back to the penitentiary. We have done repairs on this road at as great a distance as 10 miles from the institution.

The brickyard was operated for part of the season, and 340,000 bricks were manufactured, which will be used in the erection of the new stables and east wing.

The concrete boundary wall was completed, and the cement coping, which is a very heavy one, placed on the south wall, leaving only the east wall to be plastered and the coping to be put on. The new entrance gate and office building will be completed in about two weeks.

Some 23,584 square feet of cement plastering were put on the south boundary wall, and 10,456 square feet on the entrance gate and office building; 850 yards of plaster were put on the interior of the offices in the gate entrance building.

A new bastion tower, including masonry, was built on the northeast corner of the wall.

The sewer was extended about 200 feet to the offices at the new entrance; this sewer is 8 feet deep through solid rock.

The engineer's, blacksmith's, and tinsmith's departments were removed from the small temporary buildings in the enclosure to the new shops, and the necessary machinery installed.

We have commenced to instal the wiring and conduits for the electric lighting of the institution. This work will be carried to a hasty conclusion, consistent with security and good workmanship.

Repairs were made to the roof of the warden's residence, and the usual amount of repairs to the officers' quarters.

The products of the farm during the year consisted of 4,500 bushels oats, 750 bushels barley, and 3,000 bushels potatoes, as well as turnips and other small vegetables sufficient for the supply of the institution.

The operations on the farm were not as successful as I would have liked to have seen, owing to the fact that the farm was overrun with sow thistles, and, on account of which, we had to summer-fallow 100 acres.

During the winter we cut and stored 77 tons of ice, which is considered sufficient for the requirements of the institution for the coming summer. The ice was procured from Poplar Springs, which is situated 5 miles from the penitentiary.

The general health of the convicts during the year, as shown by the surgeon's report, was good. There were two deaths, and two accidents of a minor nature.

The conduct of the prisoners has been good throughout the year, the offences and violations of the prison regulations being confined to a very small number.

We had two attempted, and five escapes during the year, four of these being recaptured, one man having made a clean getaway. In this connection I wish to draw your attention to the difference in the penalties meted out to prisoners who escape from this penitentiary and those who escape from a common jail.

It has been the practice for the last twenty one years to take convicts who escape, or attempt to escape, from this penitentiary before the King's Bench Court at Winnipeg, whose sympathies or inclinations do not seem to be in the direction of assisting to maintain discipline.

I below give a comparative list of the last twelve convicts taken from here to the King's Bench Court for trial for escaping, or attempting to escape, from the penitentiary, and the last twelve prisoners received from other courts, who were sentenced for escape or attempting to escape from jails:—

Penitentiary (all tried at Winnipeg)—
1637	Bonnar		12 months
744	Freitag		12 "
1657	Copeland		6 "
1529	Gilboy		6 "
1523	Acton		6 "
1672	Foster	Suspended sentence	6 "
929	Wright		4 "
1136	Williams		4 "
1689	Miles		3 "
1336	Stephens		3 "
1227	von Vellen		3 "
1157	Bloszszak		2 "

From jails				Tried at:
873	Hamelin	36	months	Edmonton.
1789	Newby	24	"	Kenora.
1780	Murphy	24	"	Fort William.
1722	McCullough	24	"	Portage la Prairie.
1604	McMillan	24	"	Rainy River.
1601	Ryan	24	"	"
1602	Hassard	24	"	"
1527	Nikel	24	"	Morden.
1257	Peterson	24	"	Portage la Prairie.
1075	Theriault	24	"	Prince Albert.
866	Coe	24	"	Lethbridge.
1123	Minner	12	"	"

From the above comparisons you will easily understand that a convict having only a few months to do does not hesitate to take a chance at escape, as he feels that his punishment, should he be caught, would be very light, and, as some convicts have said, it was only an even break.

A number of the convicts taken to Winnipeg for trial pleaded not guilty for the purpose of making a lot of lying statements in an endeavour to work on the sympathy of the jury and the public. These statements, being taken down by the newspaper reporters, are scattered broadcast as facts, and such statements usually reflect discredit on the management of the institution and hold it up to public scorn, whereas, if the law was amended and we were permitted to take a convict before a police magistrate, a great deal of this kind of nonsense would be stopped, and a more adequate punishment meted out.

I wish to thank all the officers for their fidelity and hearty support; also Chief Macpherson and Deputy Chief Newton, of the Winnipeg police force, for their kindness and services at all times when required, and, in conclusion, to express my deep gratitude to yourselves for the various courtesies and assistance extended to me during the year.

I have the honour to be, sirs,

Your obedient servant,

J. C. PONSFORD,
Warden.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 11, 1914.

SIRS,—I have the honour to present herewith the statistical and other reports of the British Columbia penitentiary for the year ended March 31, 1914.

The year is notable as witnessing a visit of inspection to the penitentiary (only the second, I believe, in the thirty-six years of its history) by the head of the service—the Minister of Justice. The officers were glad of the opportunity to bring certain points to his attention, and the fact that the minister has the personal knowledge of local conditions which his visit would give him, is a source of satisfaction to those who serve under him in this outlying section of his department.

The prison population when the year closed was greater by twenty-five than when it began; and the increase in daily average population over last year was twenty-four.

The year has been as free from unpleasant incident as any year in the history of a penitentiary could well be. There has been no death, no serious accident, no escape, and (except that one man was detected in a futile attempt to dig through a wall) not even an attempt to escape.

We have among the prisoners eight or nine idle talkative fellows, and these, with others whose craving for tobacco leads them to break rules in their efforts to obtain it, are responsible for a very large percentage of the offences and punishments reported. The majority of the prisoners have behaved well and worked with fair industry. Of 376 in custody at the close of the year, 190 had "clean sheets"—no breach or rules had been recorded against them—and sixty-nine had only one such report.

A point to which attention may be drawn is the recent introduction of a new element in our prison population. The year 1910-11 saw the reception of our first Hindu prisoner; the close of 1913-14 finds eight of these people in custody.

The increase in the pay of the officers has, among other good results, given a more permanent character to the prison staff. Formerly the position of guard was often sought merely as a temporary expedient until something better could be secured, and of course the interests of the prison suffered; but since the increase in pay came into effect, officers feel that the position is, in emolument and other conditions, quite equal to any of the positions which formerly induced men to leave the service. Therefore it is easier to get and to keep properly qualified men. Resignations are less frequent. Taking the staff as a whole, I have reason to be very well satisfied with the loyalty to the service and the general harmony and absence of complaint which marks the everyday discharge of duty. With support and assistance given me by the superior officers, I am more than satisfied.

Work has, of course, gone on steadily during the year. All the usual industries have been in operation, progress has been made in the work of improving the grounds through which the public approach to the prison lies, and the construction of the new cell block has been pushed on as rapidly as possible. We hope that another year will see it almost, if not quite, ready for occupation.

The chaplains continue to make the future of discharged convicts a matter of deep concern, and the Salvation Army officers are, as always, ready to do what they can in aid of any deserving case, irrespective of creed or colour. All have, during the year, been cheered by reports of the steady continuance in honest work and decent living of some who have been under their care.

I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,

JOHN C. BROWN,

Warden.

ALBERTA.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, May 8, 1914.

SIRS,—Having been transferred here at the end of the fiscal year, I am unable to speak personally regarding the work and improvements accomplished at this penitentiary during the past year.

I therefore have the honour to attach herewith the reports and statistics of the various departments which include the surgeon, chaplains, matron, school instructor, farm, and the crime statistics.

By the statistics you will see that the convict population here decreased three during the year:—

Remaining on the register, March 31, 1913.....	206
" " March 31, 1914.....	203

Showing a decrease for the year of three.

There were no deaths or accidents during the year, and only one case of a contagious nature treated in the hospital. Ninety-eight convicts were received during the year, sixty-one let out on parole, eleven deported, and twenty-five by expiration of sentence; there were four escapes and one recaptured.

Respectfully submitted,

J. C. PONSFORD,
Warden.

SASKATCHEWAN.

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK. March 31, 1914.

GENTLEMEN,—I have the honour to submit the annual report, together with crime statistics and other reports in connection with this penitentiary, for the year ended March 31, 1914.

Remaining at midnight, March 31, 1913	95
Received since:—
From common jails	65
Forfeiture of license	1
Total	161	161
Discharged since:—
By expiration of sentence	8
By parole	8
By deportation	4
By order of the court	1
Transferred to Alberta penitentiary (females)	5
Total	53	53
Remaining on hand March 31, 1914		108

This shows an increase in our population of thirteen (13).

As you are aware, Inspector Hughes was in charge of this penitentiary from the middle of May until the middle of September. In this connection I desire to draw attention to the large amount of work which was done, and was put under way by him.

Some one hundred and fifty (150) acres of our farm was cleared, broken, and is ready to seed this year.

Some eighteen (18) sloughs were drained and a number of acres of the best of land were reclaimed. A new granary, 50 feet by 30 feet, with concrete foundation and floors, six cross-walls all of brick, forming the bins, was built; also, a new brick pump-house was built.

The deputy warden's house was also under way and was completed this winter; it is now occupied by myself.

Two large wells were sunk within the enclosure, and our pump brought in from the outside and connection was made with the wells.

The walls of the extension on to the present temporary cell wing are about half way up; this work was started last fall, and it is expected to have the brick work completed by the end of May.

The trench for the foundation of the new permanent cell wing was dug during the first part of the winter, and we started driving piles the last week in March.

During the month of January we hauled enough sand, from our sand pits across the river, for all building purposes during the coming summer.

During the month of February we started cutting piles, fence posts, and dry wood on our timber reserve across the river, and I am pleased to be able to report that we cut and hauled over four hundred (400) 18-foot piles, 1,500 fence posts, and a considerable quantity of dry tamarack for use in burning brick. We were only able to do about one month's work in the woods owing to the very mild weather during the first part of March.

Our brick industry has turned out 700,000 bricks of good quality. We have over three hundred (300) cords of wood, all cut off the prison farm, which was sawed into cord wood lengths during the winter, ready for burning brick this summer.

I regret to have to say that two convicts escaped into the woods off the reserve, but were recaptured in a very short time by the officer in whose charge they were.

I wish to thank the officers for the support they have given me; they have diligently and faithfully performed the duties assigned them.

I have the honour to be, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

W. J. MACLEOD,
Warden.

APPENDIX C.

SURGEONS' REPORTS.

KINGSTON.

To the Warden,—

SIR,—I herewith submit my annual report of the medical department of the Kingston penitentiary for the year ending March 31, 1914.

It is extremely gratifying to be able to report that the sanitary condition of the institution has been maintained, as in former years, in a most satisfactory condition during the year just past. Foul sanitary conditions do not, and could not, exist; otherwise we would have unfavourable results due to them, such as epidemics of contagious diseases. There is no record of any disease due to bad sanitation; indeed the sanitary record of the Kingston penitentiary is unimpeachable. Go where you may, cleanliness as a rule prevails, and cleanliness is not only "next to godliness," but is sanitation, pure and simple. However, in conjunction with this strict cleanliness which is constantly supervised by those in charge, a liberal supply of disinfectant material is daily utilized to reinforce the work of absolute cleanliness and sanitation. The closets and bath-rooms have been regularly inspected, and it has been quite the exception to find anything in connection with them to remedy, cold water has been always available, and no unpleasant odours can be discovered.

The ventilation in the sleeping apartments, workshops and other buildings on the prison premises has been all that could be desired for maintaining the good health of the prisoners. The sewage works have been operated with much care, and the sewers are flushed out at regular intervals so as to prevent the accumulation of disagreeable odours and the dissemination of any disease-producing germs which might find their abode in these localities. The filtering beds have been always found in a satisfactory condition and the ground surrounding them has been kept in good order.

The food has been of good quality, cooked with a relish, and served in abundance. On my frequent visitations to the kitchen during the year it always appeared to me to be perfectly clean, and the cooking utensils were bright and well kept. Vegetables, when available, are supplied the prisoners in liberal quantities, thus adding to the relish of the mid-day meal. The luxury of prison fare has indeed many attractions for a certain class of prisoners, especially that class whose methods of existence or of earning a livelihood are most uncertain. Nevertheless, the food question is a constant grievance with many prisoners of the habitual class particularly. This class is always implacable; they want hotel fare, no work, and to be immune to disciplinary regulations. The fact, however, that a number of prisoners return from time to time to prison, is a fair evidence that the life in the penal institution is not attended with so much misery as usually depicted by literary ex-prisoners, by those in custody, and others. The misery from which a certain class of prisoners suffer is due altogether to their own temperament and their evil thoughts.

The water supply for drinking purposes is abundant, and repeated examinations of it during the year by me failed to disclose the presence of any organic or other materials likely to affect its purity. The water is available for drinking in all parts of the prison.

The heating of the prison has been satisfactory, and comfort in that regard has usually prevailed during the cold season. This has been particularly in evidence in the hospital department, where the new method of distributing the heat has given unprecedented results as regards comfort. The hospital, as in former years, has been kept immaculate as regards cleanliness and sanitation. The Minister of Justice, when on a visit to this department, expressed his extreme satisfaction with the methods of its management, the absolute cleanliness of its cells and corridors, and the care and attention given the patients. It would be, indeed, difficult to find anywhere a ward in any public hospital maintained in such a spotless condition, due regard, of course, being given to the character of the patients and their absolute custody. Trained and selected orderlies are in constant attendance, night and day, to wait upon those who are ill; the orderlies being directed in their duties by the overseer. Every patient receives the best of care, and it is doubtful if patients in general hospitals receive the amount of care and attention accorded those in the prison hospital, due allowance being made for the criminal class who are always difficult to manage as well as to treat, and who, possessing imaginary grievances, are at enmity with society, and therefore do not possess that cheerful disposition which is an important aid in effecting a speedy restoration to health. Daily sponge baths are usually administered to those confined to bed, when necessary, and where patients are sufficiently strong to bathe in the regular bath tub, they are permitted to do so under guardianship of the disciplinary officer in charge. With few exceptions, the sick are always grateful for the attention accorded them; and many of them when discharged from prison have repeatedly written to the surgeon and others, expressing their grateful thanks for the attention and care bestowed upon them in the prison hospital during their illness. These letters of approval and commendation have been received from time to time from ex-prisoners, and have been most gratifying to the management.

The adjustment of spectacles for those prisoners requiring them is no small problem, but in this matter the method by numbers is usually pursued, and as a rule, unless in special cases of astigmatism and other severe ocular abnormalities where the services of a specialist are evoked, is convenient if not always satisfactory. Many prisoners, as the result of observing others with spectacles, become suddenly under the impression that they also require the services of an optician; this may be accounted for by the fact that their range of vision become somewhat abbreviated within the confines of the prison wal' until they become accustomed to their new surroundings and the range of their visual axis.

Every prisoner is vaccinated as soon as possible, and at the time of writing this report, every prisoner has a mark as the result of vaccination. This is carefully noted, as well as any other defect such as rupture when a truss is at once adjusted if possible. As all prisoners come charged with a medical certificate that they are not suffering from any contagious disease, it is of course rare to find one with any evidence externally of any disease which might be communicated to others, and there has never been any evidence of any infection from one prisoner to another; this would be impossible under the circumstances and directions. It is doubtful if it could occur in any case unless absolute contact. Every prisoner is given a careful examination as to his mental condition, and the facts noted. A recommendation is then made according to the result of the examination, and the prisoner is disposed of to a department best suited to his condition.

The general health of the prisoners has been as good as in former years, and there have been no contagious diseases. Several important surgical operations have been performed by me, and they have been most successful, the patients returning to work again in good health.

The number of deaths for the year may be regarded as small in view of the fact that so many broken-down prisoners, both physically and mentally, come to prison. There were only eight deaths recorded during the year, some of them being from the chronic insane type. The number treated in the hospital has been on a par with that of former years.

There were ninety-two cases of sickness amongst the officers during the year, this number being somewhat less than in former years. The officers receive my best attention at their homes, both day and night, as required. Some of them have suffered from long and severe illness. They are, as a rule, most anxious to return to duty as soon as possible, and are invariably thankful for the attention given them.

Insane Ward.—There were forty-one in this ward at the end of the fiscal year. The admissions to, and the discharges from, this ward have been a little over those of former years. The health of the inmates has been, as a rule, good. This department has been looked after carefully by those in charge, and has been kept in a sanitary condition. The bath-rooms have been renovated during the year, and ample facilities for bathing are afforded. Each inmate receives his weekly bath, and if he refuses through a contumacious attitude to comply with directions, he is compelled to take it for sanitary reasons. The insane are inclined to be careless about their person, and if not given their ablutions regularly, there would be danger of unpleasant odours, and perhaps disease. It may be remarked that the inmates of this ward are as carefully looked after as are the inmates in any ward of a regular asylum where a dangerous class of inmates are in custody. Despite the accounts of reputed cures in the asylums of the country, the asylums are at all times filled to overflowing with all kinds of incurables, numbering up in the thousands. An occasional one does perhaps recover, but suffers from permanent mental derangement afterwards; they recover but are not cured. Thus it is, as has been remarked by a writer, that, "the criminal has not been reformed nor the insane cured to the extent recorded in statistics."

Female Ward.—The inmates enjoyed good health in their new quarters, and there was very little sickness, with the exception of the "grippe." There were ten inmates in the ward at the end of the fiscal year.

Isolation Ward.—This ward is kept bright and cheery, and the incorrigible classes which are kept there appear to enjoy good health. There were eleven prisoners in the ward at the end of the fiscal year. There is no reason to believe that separate confinement has a tendency to induce a state of morbid introspection, or that it has a bad effect; indeed, experience proves that the quietude of the ward has a soothing effect on the nerves of a certain class of incorrigibles, and it is therefore difficult to imagine why this ward, which was erected for this class, had been kept closed so long. The re-opening of it has marked a new era in prison management.

The usual returns of the hospital overseers are transmitted herewith.

DANIEL PHELAN,
Surgeon.

H. A. WILSON,
Hospital Visitor.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, May 7, 1914

Sir,—I have the honour of submitting to you my report for the fiscal year ending the 31st March, 1914. I state with pleasure that no accident happened this year, in spite of the extra work done by the convicts in demolishing the buildings attacked by the fire which grieved us so much.

I thank you, for the zeal and kindness you have shown in putting at my disposal large cells to which we removed my patients while the fire was ravaging our hospital.

The health of the convicts, in general, has been satisfactory. Four convicts died; one died from a cancer of the stomach, one from general paralysis and two others from typhoid fever.

In reference to these two deaths, I would suggest that a large filter be installed, because I fear that our intake of water from Rivière des Prairies is contaminated by the drains of the north part of the city of Montreal and of Bordeaux jail.

Three convicts were transferred to Kingston hospital, being insane.

I have given nine thousand one hundred and forty one consultations, say, a decrease of near two thousand on the preceding year, also one hundred and thirty-two convicts were treated at the hospital.

In conclusion, I beg to thank especially the hospital assistant, also all the staff of this institution for the courtesy they have always shown me in the performance of my duties.

Yours faithfully,

J. A. POMINVILLE, M.D.
Surgeon.

DORCHESTER, N.B., April 25, 1914.

SIR:—I have the honour to submit my report for the three months ending March 31, 1914. The general health of the convicts has been excellent, though there have been some cases of inflammatory rheumatism and tonsilitis of severe types. The records show two deaths during the year. The sanitary condition of this penitentiary is good.

STONY MOUNTAIN, April 1, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit report of the medical department of Manitoba penitentiary for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914.

Excepting a comparatively few cases, the health of the convicts has been good during the past year. There have been no epidemics or infectious diseases, and no serious accidents except a sprained ankle and a case of fractured ribs, both of which made a good recovery.

I regret to report two deaths: one (McCulloch) dying of tuberculosis, and the other (King) dying after amputation of thigh necessitated by failure of union in a spontaneous fracture of the femur.

The health of the officers has been good, only eighty-seven days being lost through illness by the entire staff.

Statements of cases treated at dispensary and in hospital are appended.

Respectfully submitted.

ALBERTA.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA., March 31, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my annual report as surgeon of this penitentiary for the year ending March 31, 1914.

The health of the convicts and officers has been better than any previous year, considering the increase in population.

There was one case of diphtheria during the year, which is all the infectious disease I have to report.

There were no deaths in the prison during the year.

The following table will show the number of cases treated in the hospital and dispensary during the year.

SASKATCHEWAN.

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK., March 31, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my annual report as surgeon to the Saskatchewan penitentiary, for the year ending March 31st, 1914.

The health of the convicts generally has been good, there not having occurred any serious cases of sickness.

There have been several minor accidents, such as puncture of feet on nails, incised feet and toes, and one major accident, the latter making necessary the amputation of a left arm about four inches below the elbow.

The health of the officers also has been good with one exception, a case of typhoid fever, with good recovery.

The food served to the convicts has been good in both quantity and quality, and has been very well cooked.

Respectfully submitted,

J. S. CHISHOLM,
Surgeon.

CHAPLAINS' REPORTS.

KINGSTON.

PORTSMOUTH, April 6, 1914.

To the Warden,—

SIR,—I have much pleasure in presenting this my fifteenth annual report as Catholic chaplain at the Kingston penitentiary.

Undivided attention has been given to the performance of the duties devolving upon me among such a heterogenous congregation as is met with in this institution. The chaplain's position has for its object the meeting with individuals who, through unfortunate circumstances, everyday mistakes or evil habits have become "Ishamaels" in society, and through constant vigilance and repeated admonitions endeavour to remove the stumbling blocks of by-gone days, and launch them once more on the ocean of life as law-abiding citizens for the rest of their lives.

Much importance is attached to the ceremonies of Catholic worship, the beneficent influence of which is seen everywhere, but nowhere more manifestly than in a prison chapel. The vestments of the officiating priest, the decoration of the altar, the glare of the lights, the peals of the organ, the Church's beautiful chant, all tend to impart to our grand ritual a solemnity which touches, as a rule, the hardest hearts, and leads them to amendment. It is consequently all important that every attention should be given to the beautification of the chapel, and thus help to make the inmates forget there at least, that they are still in prison.

Another great agent that helps not a little in the betterment of men is the prison library. Every man who leaves prison precincts behind him should go forth armed with a better equipment for earning his living, better standards of conduct, and greater confidence in his ability to make good. Almost every day, we perceive men leaving our penitentiary gates with the prison label still upon them, for the new clothes taken from the shelves of the outfitting room are recognized immediately by both the policeman and the saloon-keeper. It is more often the rule than the exception, that, untrained and uncontrolled, the discharged ones entered prison smarting at the hard luck or the spite which had put them behind the bars. Detaining them for a few years makes little difference if they go away with the same standards of conduct and the same ignorance. Hence the prison library should not be any longer the dumping ground of literary rubbish, cheap in tone as well as in price. If the language is vulgar the characters of the books suggestive, the prison is providing bad company and poor ideals for the parties who are sent here for reformation. It is surprising that detective stories figure more or less in the fiction list of our institutions, a very dubious policy indeed, for such books furnish stories of crime, which suggest ingenious plans, and point out the weak spots in the method of their execution.

It is therefore more than gratifying to know that you have given this question close study and serious reflection since your appointment as warden of this institution, and that ere long we hope to see our general and chapel libraries thoroughly purged of unsuitable matter, and the shelves replenished with works of history, biography, and travel, written by standard authors in the English, French, and Italian languages, to meet local wants and supply good mental food for our prison population taken out of normal human intercourse and shut away with their thoughts for several years.

Before closing this report, I desire especially to acknowledge with sincere gratitude your uniform kindness and courtesy in my intercourse with you throughout the past year and to offer, moreover, to the officers generally, my thanks for the services they were ready to lend me when occasion required same.

I remain, Sir, yours respectfully,

M. McDONALD,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

KINGSTON, March 31, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour of herewith submitting my first annual report as Protestant chaplain, and I desire, at the outset, to express my sincere appreciation of your kindness and consideration, and also of the courtesy shown me by the members of the staff.

Religious services have been regularly conducted on Sundays and holy days, and the conduct of the men has been, on the whole, excellent. Of course in such a gathering one need not look for a manifestation of interest on the part of all, but of the great bulk of the men I have no complaint to make. On the other hand, I have been particularly encouraged by the large number of those with whom I have conversed from time to time who seem to have profited by their troubles, and to be sincerely striving to live Christian lives under difficult and trying circumstances. It appears to me that the "indeterminate sentence" would be a splendid thing in the case of many such men, and that if these could be allowed out after a short prison term, a far more lasting impression would be left upon their minds.

Our choir has rendered excellent service throughout the year, and their singing and responding have added a heartiness and impressiveness to the services which many visitors have remarked upon.

We have been favoured with addresses by a number of ministers of the various denominations in the city; by several of the professors of the university; as well as by some missionaries and other visitors to the city. The bishops of Ontario and Kingston have also most kindly given addresses which have been much appreciated. In our monthly "service of song" we have been greatly assisted through the kind help of many of our musical friends from the city.

I have been conducting Bible classes for the men bi-weekly, and for the women once a month. For the latter a Bible class has also been held on Saturdays, under the leadership of Miss van Straubenzie, or one of the ladies of the W.C.T.U., and their kindness in this respect has been much appreciated by the women.

The Salvation Army officers continue to give valuable practical assistance to men leaving the prison.

Three times a week in the vestry of the chapel I have been present to receive and talk with the new arrivals and any others who might desire to consult me, and this opportunity, I am glad to say, has been taken advantage of by a large number of men.

I have regularly visited the sick in the hospital, and also the men in the isolation prison. I have not been altogether satisfied in my mind with the work I seem able to do in the asylum, and I trust some way may yet be found whereby I may be able to do something more for these unfortunates.

I have visited all the men in their cells at night, and have begun a second visitation of the kind, as such calls seem to be appreciated by a large proportion of the men.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

SIR,—I herewith have the honour of submitting my report of the fiscal year ending 31st March, 1914, being my nineteenth annual report as Protestant chaplain of this institution.

Beyond the disastrous fire of the 26th February, which will doubtless be fully reported elsewhere, there has been little out of the usual routine during the year. One of my flock died after a long illness. The library has been increased by a large number of valuable books, and will therefore be a greater boon to the men, by not only relieving the tedium of their hours of enforced idleness, but also by enabling them to improve their minds. The behaviour of the men in chapel has been good, and a large proportion of them join heartily in the services.

Thanking you, sir, and the officers of the staff generally, for the courteous assistance accorded me in the performance of my duties.

I beg to remain, with all respect,

Yours faithfully,

JOHN ROLLIT,
Chaplain.

St. Vincent de Paul, April 1, 1914.

Sir,—The end of this second year of my minstry in this institution was marked by an event, I should say rather a catastrophe, which it is not easy to forget in presenting you this second annual report.

Our splendid chapel is a thing of the past, and the magnificent organization of divine worship which with your kind and zealous assistance we had tried to inaugurate and keep up in this chapel has been reduced through this disastrous fire to the state of the humblest and poorest mission.

Whilst on this subject, I cannot but mention with gratitude the sincere sympathy and practical devotedness which the officers and all the staff of the institution have shown to us, as well as the generous help of the citizens who kept in their houses and returned so faithfully what had been saved from the fire.

It is thanks to you, Sir, and to the rapidity with which the temporary chapel was opened and furnished that we were not deprived of a single service nor prevented from fulfilling with fidelity the precept of the Lord's Day.

And what edification in the respectful behaviour and silent recollection of the congregation. It is a remarkable fact and admitted by all. The Reverend Father Marsolais, the parish priest, by giving us a beautiful altar for our temporary chapel rendered us a signal service, which I am pleased to acknowledge here.

Finally, the Reverend Sisters of Providence, to whose lot it fell to restore the sacristy upset by the rescuers deserve great credit for their work on this occasion.

And now we are waiting for the erection of a new chapel. It will be more beautiful, vaster and still better furnished than the old one. Such is the promise made to us by Mr. W. S. Hughes, inspector of penitentiaries, and I must say here how grateful I am to him for his friendliness under these trying circumstances, as well as for the freedom he allowed the chaplain in determining the plans of the new sanctuary and sacristy. It seems that the organization of the library was very satisfactory this year. More than a hundred new volumes as well as several subscriptions to monthly reviews have been added to our literary collection. However, I do not believe that the care of the library together with the teaching of the convicts can produce the desired results unless a special position be created and confined to an officer who would perform the functions of both librarian and teacher.

This officer, who should be the possessor of certificates for the teaching of both languages, would have the exclusive charge of the school and the library. The classification and care of the books remaining as to choice and moral control under the supervision of the chaplains and the distribution of these books would be made with every guarantee of impartiality for the men and with a view to the particular needs of each individual.

Three of our men died this year. Their preparation for this terrible passage, their dispositions of mind and heart, as well as the revival of the christian spirit in this last extremity are subjects of consolation for our holy mother the Church.

There are actually under our care in the Roman Catholic chapel, on the 1st April of this year, 335 convicts.

Believe me, dear sir,

Yours faithfully,

A. MARTIN,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

DORCHESTER.

Dorchester, N.B., March 31, 1914.

Sir,—With the closing of the fiscal year comes the reminder that the annual report of the Protestant chaplain should be placed in your hands.

It is an easy task to tabulate a summary of the year's statistics and events as they affect the duties of this office. But to form an estimate, or make a record of the possible good accomplished, from a moral or spiritual standpoint, during the year now closing, is in an emphatic sense an impossible undertaking.

We herewith submit the following:—

SUMMARY OF THE REGISTRATION.

Total number of Protestant prisoners in custody, March 31, 1913		102

The year has not been without instances of very real encouragement. There have been at least two noteworthy cases of conversion. One of these individuals received the sacred rite of baptism, and with others partook of the Holy Communion.

In connection with personal interviews which are granted each week, we have had some most uplifting experiences, and our faith in the Old Gospel greatly strengthened.

Sickness in serious form, with two or three exceptions, has not been in evidence during the year.

Death invaded our ranks once during the year; we refer to the case of suicide, the body was interred in the government burial plot, after brief religious exercises, conducted by the chaplain.

The discipline of the institution is held at a high standard, as is evidenced by the utmost decorum at all the gatherings in our chapel.

Our choir is stronger than usual, and the singing under the direction of our efficient organist has never been excelled in the past seven years.

We miss the genial presence of our colleague, the Roman Catholic chaplain, Rev. A. D. Cormier, who resigned the latter part of the fiscal year, after a term of service extending over a period of twenty-nine years. He was a good man, and displayed much zeal in the labours of the sacred office.

A celebrated divine, standing upon the piazza of a summer hotel, and gazing into the black clouds of a passing thunder-storm, was asked by a guest what he saw; he immediately replied: "I see the hand of the Eternal God, who has woven the rainbow into a scarf of many colours, and thrust it upon the shoulders of the dying storm."

If asked, as I stand looking into the faces of a hundred and twenty or more, men and women, sin blighted and sorrowful, what I see, my answer is immediate: "I see the unchangeable Son of God, who stands with outstretched hands, ready to thrust the garments of righteousness upon the shoulders of earth's most needy sons and daughters."

With the spirit of unbounded optimism, we face the duties of the incoming year, with all our hopes centered upon the ever-conquering gospel of Jesus Christ.

We are grateful to you and every member of the staff, for unnumbered courtesies shown the writer throughout the history of the year.

Yours obediently,

BYRON H. THOMAS,
Protestant Chaplain.

St. Joseph, N.B., May 8, 1914.

Sir,—My appointment as chaplain to the inmates of Dorchester penitentiary, dating only from April 1st, accounts for the delay of this year's report.

Such a brief period in active service barely gives time to grasp fully the moral state of the inmates; but I must confess that, whether it be due to the Rev. A. D. Cormier, or to the happy influence of the officers in charge, the moral disposition of the convicts is very satisfactory. It is pleasing to note that my worthy predecessor has to his credit, from the part of the inmates, a lasting memory of his stay amongst them, in the form of respect toward religion and authority. Their attention, conduct, and general demeanour in all instances relative to my duty are most commendable. I feel indebted to your kindness to me on all occasions, whether in connection with the exercise of my duty or otherwise. I will add that I feel no less obliged to the courteous manners on the part of every member of the staff.

The number of Roman Catholic convicts detained on March 31, 1914, was 106, as against 93 for the preceding year; one death occurred during the year, this being under the Rev. A. D. Cormier's chaplainship.

Yours respectfully,

D. J. LEBLANC, C.S.C.,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

MANITOBA.

April 1, 1914.

SIR,—During the past year services have been held regularly. Hospital and cell visitation has been conducted as opportunity allowed. Instruction in religious matters has also been carried on. In this connection I desire to mention that some who, on entering this institution, were unable to read a word, since attending the school here have learned to read, and have become deeply interested in reading the scriptures.

I commend your effort to extend the usefulness of the school, and would urge that it be enlarged to its greatest possible scope.

I must still deplore the moral effects of the stone shed; the utter lack of mental employment in stone-breaking tends to cause mental degeneracy and moral corruption, and I long for the day when the stone shed will be for disciplinary purposes only.

The greatest hope in moral reformation lies in healthy, useful employment for both body and mind; and in this hope we are encouraged by the report of the inspectors on the labour question in our last annual report.

The following has been the movement and classification of prisoners under my care for the past fiscal year:—

STONY MOUNTAIN, Man., April 4, 1914

SIR,—Having the pleasure to report for the first time as Roman Catholic chaplain of this institution, I beg to submit the following items:—

On March 31, there were seventy-four convicts under my care, the great majority of whom are foreign born. The remarks of the last chaplain, now the Right Reverend Bishop Beliveau, with reference to such a numerous foreign element, in my opinion, still hold good. They can be read in the 1913 report.

I am pleased to say that our dear inmates have been anxious to take advantage of the spiritual help given them so freely by their Holy Mother the Church and rendered possible by the kind co-operation of a Christian State. They are not satisfied with attending Holy Mass and other services with true piety, but they are also zealous in going to confession and receiving Holy Communion frequently, which has been for me a source of comfort and deep satisfaction. For I believe more than ever in the reformation and betterment of those who are willing to employ the most efficacious means therefor.

Thanking you and your worthy officers for the courtesy shown to me in the discharge of my duties, I remain,

Truly yours,

JOSEPH VICTOR JOUBERT,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., April 1, 1914.

The foregoing figures show an increase of twelve in the number of men received during the year, and an increase of thirty-two in the number of prisoners under my charge at present.

The usual religious services have been conducted every Sunday morning. The conduct of the men in chapel, their quiet reverence and attention, indicates clearly their appreciation of the privilege.

The presence of a small orchestra on Christmas morning rendered the service particularly bright and cheerful.

I wish to thank our organist and the gentlemen who so kindly contributed to this result.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed twice during the year, and the attendance was encouraging.

During the year the hospital has been visited regularly, and many men have had private interviews with me in my office.

In every way possible, consistent with the regulations, I have endeavoured to be of assistance to the men under my charge.

I have to thank the members of the staff for the courtesy extended to me in the discharge of my duties.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT EDWARD VERT,
Protestant Chaplain.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., March 31, 1914.

SIR,—I submit herewith report for the year ending March 31, 1914:—

At the beginning of the year, 120 Catholic convicts were enrolled; at the end there are 111.

Among the forty-two admitted, one was well-grounded in his faith, a few had imperfect knowledge, but the majority were perfectly ignorant of Catholic doctrine.

The singing during divine service has been greatly improved, thanks to the efforts of the new organist.

I can, once more, only deplore the fact of the admission of young offenders into this institution, who find themselves mixed with criminals of the lowest type.

From my personal observation during these three years, I am more than ever inclined to think that the work of reform in the penitentiary will be really effective when the system of segregation will be adopted.

Yours respectfully,

E. MAILLARD, O.M.I.,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

ALBERTA.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, April 1, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you my report for the year ended March 31, 1914.

Religious services have been conducted every Sunday morning, and I have reason to believe that these and other ministrations have benefited many of the men under my care during their confinement, but especially while out on parole or after their term has expired has the most fruitful work been done.

The organist and choir, composed entirely of prisoners, still continues to render valuable assistance in the service.

The Church of England and the Salvation Army, by special request, have assisted in the services, and the latter give valuable assistance in looking after the men when their term expires.

The women of the W.C.T.U. regularly hold a service on Sunday afternoon among the prisoners in the female ward, which is much appreciated by the unfortunate women.

In conclusion, I wish to thank the warden and all the officials for their uniform kindness and courtesy to me in the discharge of my duties.

Yours respectfully,

D. G. McQUEEN,
Protestant Chaplain.

EDMONTON, ALBERTA, April 1, 1914.

SIR,—I have the honour to present to you my report for the year ending March 31, 1914.

The actual number of Catholic convicts stands as follows: men 64, women 6; of different nationalities, English, Irish, French, German, Half-breed, and Ruthenian.

Mass and sermon are given on every Sunday and feast day of obligation, and attended by all the Catholic convicts, who assist at the divine services with respect and attention. About all the Catholic convicts have this year fulfilled their Easter duties.

At the request of a few Catholics, unfamilair with the English or French languages, German or Ruthenian priests at different times during the year exercised their ministry with those people.

Allow me to tender my hearty thanks to the warden and to all his officers for the delicate attention that they have at all times extended to me.

Yours respectfully,

J. A. ETHIER,
Roman Catholic Chaplain.

In presenting this my third annual report permit me to extend to you hearty greetings, more than ever, since your arrival, and more particularly under the direction of Colonel W. S. Hughes, Inspector of Penitentiaries, I consider our local place of detention as a truly corrective measure for the purpose of helping our fallen fellow-beings, by developing whatever good may be in them.

Every Sunday, services have been conducted. Visits have been made regularly and the more I come in contact with those unfortunate inmates, the more I understand the influence of the church for those derelicts of society.

I am glad to say I endeavoured in my conversations, as well as in my instructions on each Sunday, to help this, our institution, in its work for the uplift of those confined therein, most particularly in the hope of amendment.

Practically all Catholics here have made their Easter duty, and it was a consolation for me to distribute the Holy Communion to the majority of them at Christmas and on other occasions.

I thank the department for sending, with your approval, French books, they being a great help to our French-speaking inmates.

In conclusion, I have to say, nearly all convicts under my charge seem to appreciate the Word of God as preached to them.

Thanking you for your kindness and appreciative of the gentlemanly demeanour of my fellow officers.

Respectfully submitted,

EMILE PASCAL, O.M.I.
Chaplain.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit to you my annual report for the English school of this penitentiary for the year ended March 31, 1914.

During the year thirty-five pupils were enrolled for the English class. They were taught reading, writing, spelling and arithmetic.

The convicts behaved very well in the class-room.

Convicts who wished to study in their cells were supplied with the necessary books, etc.

I beg to tender thanks to my superiors for their assistance in the discharge of my duties.

Yours respectfully,

D. O'SHEA,
English School Instructor.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my annual report for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914.

During the year, twenty-seven convicts were admitted to be taught French. At the end of the year, eleven were still attending school. The pupils were taught spelling, reading, writing and arithmetic. The convicts were very attentive to lessons, and their conduct has been very good. Books and slates were supplied to convicts who wished to study in their cells.

I must offer my sincere thanks to the authorities of this institution for their kind support in the discharge of my duties.

I remain, sir,

Your obedient servant,

G. J. RENEAULT,
French School Instructor.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

To the Warden,—

SIR,—I beg to submit herewith my second annual report for the year ending March 31, 1914. The crops in general have been very good. I have, during the year, supplied mostly all the vegetables for the kitchen and also a great quantity were sold outside of the institution. Many improvements have been made on the farm during the year. Amongst these I had 1,000 loads of stone pulled out to be employed for drainage, also 20 acres of drainage have been dug up in the fall. These said improvements are very promising for the future.

I am more than satisfied with the results obtained from the piggery, which has furnished a great quantity of pork that has been sold to the steward and also outside of the institution, as my statement will show

I have now on hand 212 hogs and eighteen horses, all in good condition. I wish to state that if the farm has not given sufficient results it is due to high prices I have to pay for my stock; and also that I had been put to numerous expenses for other departments. If my products had been sold at the market prices, the loss would not have been so great.

In closing I wish to state that I still have an extensive amount of ground to improve and if I am provided with manure, as formerly, I can foresee that in a few years the farm will give surprising results.

I want to thank you personally for your kind assistance and also for the zeal displayed by the farm officers in the execution of their various duties.

Respectfully submitted,

JOS. LATOUR,
Farm Instructor.

DORCHESTER.

To the Warden,—

Sir,—I herewith submit my report for the year ending March 31, 1914.

The past summer was favourable to the growth of crops, and all were fully up to the average, except hay on the marsh, broad-leaf being especially light. With the exception of a wet spell at the commencement of haying, the weather was good, and hay and grain went into the barns in good condition.

During the year, 15 acres of new marsh was purchased, on which a gang of men worked for a considerable part of the summer. This piece of marsh had no work done on it for years, and the ditches were in a bad condition; these had to be cleaned out and straightened to correspond with the adjoining marsh and facilitate the removal of surplus water. A great deal of work has yet to be done before it is put in shape.

Owing to the new marsh taking so much time, there was not much done towards improving the upland, and the rough pasture land we started to break up over a year ago is still unfinished. We hope to be in a position during the coming summer to finish this necessary work.

At all seasons of the year the piggery is overcrowded, and additional room is needed. The new root cellar also requires some attention to make it frost-proof. Two of the horses have outlived their usefulness, and will have to be replaced; one of them is about 25 years old, and the other badly spavined.

Thanking you for your continued support in carrying the work successfully along.

Respectfully submitted.

Andrew McPherson,
Farm Instructor.

MANITOBA.

April 1, 1914.

To the Warden,—

SIR,—I inclose herewith my balance sheet for the past year for the farm in connection with this institution.

The amount of grain produced was 4,451 bushels of oats and 692 bushels of barley, not so large a crop as that of the previous year, it being necessary to summer-fallow about 100 acres of land on account of the strong growth of noxious weeds.

In addition to the grain, a large quantity of turnips and other vegetables were supplied for prison use. Over a thousand dollars' worth of pork was supplied, and nearly a thousand dollars' worth of hogs were raised and sold. The hay season produced about 140 tons.

Our horses have been kept busy during the year on the road and general farm work. I have paid particular attention to the land with a view to future production, and it is at present in first-class shape, and, with favourable weather, we should have a large crop next year.

Respectfully submitted,

J. P. ROBERTSON,

Farm Instructor.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

To the Warden,—

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my annual report for the year ending March 31, 1914.

The crops on the whole this year were of a very fair average, the potatoes being very good, indeed. I am pleased to state that I have been able to supply the penitentiary with all the pork required, and when the new piggery, which is now under construction, is completed, I anticipate more satisfactory results—the old piggery was too small and of antiquated construction.

I have again to call your attention to the necessity of clearing and cultivating more land, in order that the farm may be able to meet all requirements of the penitentiary. The crops this year were not sufficient to supply the demand, more vegetables could be used by the convicts.

The soil being of a gravelly nature requires considerably more manure than we at present are able to give it.

Respectfully submitted,

R. DYNES,
Farm Instructor.

SASKATCHEWAN.

To the Warden,—

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my annual report for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914.

The crop taken from the farm was not as good as might have been.

The greater portion of the land cropped was originally in an extremely dirty condition, and up to the time of seeding it had not been possible to get it in a fit and proper condition whereby a good crop could be expected. It is proposed during the coming year, however, to seed this old land down with timothy and rye grass, which will greatly improve its productiveness in the future, and at the same time give us a considerable supply of hay.

We have during the past year had some 100 acres cleared and broken, and this land will be cropped this season.

Considerable land previously under water has been drained this fall, and will be broken and put into crop this year.

During the winter the teams have been kept busy hauling sand and gravel for the completion of the new cell block and also sufficient tamarac piles for the foundations.

Enough tamarac posts have also been hauled in to give us a good start on the fencing of the reservation.

Some 300 cords of wood have been cut on the reserve and brought in for use in the brickyard.

Respectfully submitted,

P. D. Chapman,

for Farm Instructor.

OF

THE MILITIA COUNCIL

Year Ending March 31, 1914

The Militia Council present, herewith, their report on the work of the Militia during the twelve months ending March 31, 1914.

MILITARY POLICY.

Since the presentation of the report for the year ending March 31, 1913, there has been no alteration in the military policy of the department.

DEFENCE.

In the general scheme of defence, no change of importance has been introduced; but details, including the allotment of units, have been revised and corrected up to date.

With regard to field formations, gradual effect is being given to the arrangements proposed by Sir John French and subsequently endorsed by Sir Ian Hamilton.

In Eastern Canada, six divisions and four mounted brigades are in process of formation; and in the West (where the divisional system has not yet been applied) three mounted brigades and three brigades of infantry have been organized.

With regard to fixed defences, Halifax is increasing both in commercial and in strategical importance. New docks and railway terminals are under construction; and to some extent they have deranged the system of defence, which will require readjustment.

Below Quebec there is work that needs to be taken in hand; but it will have to stand over until other more urgent services have been completed elsewhere.

At Esquimalt, defence arrangements are very far from perfect; but it has been decided, before incurring more than normal expenditure on the up-keep of the fortress, to await the formulation of a definite policy in regard to the defence of the Pacific Coast.

INTERDEPARTMENTAL COMMITTEE.

During the year the Interdepartmental Committee has continued to co-ordinate the work of the Militia Department and the Department of the Naval Service, particularly when dealing with questions which relate to the subject of coast defence.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

There has been circulated and filed for reference a great deal of useful information, in the collection of which very valuable assistance has been rendered by officers of the Corps of Guides; and of certain areas and districts of special importance from the standpoint of national defence, systematic reconnaissances have been started or arranged.

TRAINING.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The following is a brief description of the training carried out by the Canadian Militia during the season of 1913. The report of the late Inspector General on the results of that training is printed herein as Appendix F page 82; and the numbers of officers and men of the Active (Non-Permanent) Militia who were actually trained, are tabulated in Appendix A, statement No. 3, page 44.

The training was carried out in accordance with a memorandum "Instruction for Training, 1913," issued early in the year for the guidance of instructors and of officers and non-commissioned officers of the Active (Non-Permanent) Militia. The instructions were practically the same as those issued in 1912.

This year all arms trained for twelve days, except the artillery and infantry (city corps) which trained for sixteen days.

Owing to the cost of transport it was found impracticable to bring artillery and engineer units from the Maritime Provinces to Petawawa, as was done last year, and they trained instead at Sussex and Aldershot.

Additional manoeuvre areas, suitable for combined training, are much needed. The cost of bringing units to Petawawa is excessive; yet, in Eastern Canada, it is the only manoeuvre area where there is sufficient room for the training of all arms, and it is the only artillery practice ground which is at present available.

Instructors from the Permanent Force were provided on the following scale (so far as the numbers available would permit): One officer to each cavalry, artillery, or infantry brigade; one non-commissioned officer to each cavalry regiment, battery of artillery, or infantry battalion.

Owing to the shortness of time and the large proportion of recruits who attend the annual camps, but little field training is possible, the greater portion of the period available being of necessity allotted to work of a more elementary description.

PERMANENT FORCE.

With the exception of batteries of horse and heavy artillery, which trained at Petawawa, all units of the Permanent Force carried out training in their respective areas, under arrangements made by divisional and district commanders.

No. 5 Company, Royal Canadian Garrison Artillery, was employed on duty in aid of the civil power at Nanaimo, B.C., from August 13, 1913, to January 19, 1914, in consequence of which this unit was unable to carry out gun practice at Esquimalt.

ACTIVE (NON-PERMANENT) MILITIA.

Cavalry.

With the exception of one mounted brigade, which trained at Petawawa, cavalry units carried out twelve days' training in their respective areas at the authorized camps of instruction.

Artillery.

Field and Heavy.—Batteries carried out training and gun practice at the following stations:—

Petawawa—
Seven brigades, Canadian Field Artillery.
One battery, Canadian Field Artillery.

Sewell—
Three batteries, Canadian Field Artillery.

Calgary—
One battery, Canadian Field Artillery.

Other units carried out training partly in camp and partly at local headquarters, as below, and sent details for gun practice to Petawawa:—

Two brigades, Canadian Field Artillery	Camp Aldershot, N.S.
One brigade, Canadian Field Artillery	Camp Sussex, N.B.
Two heavy brigades	Local Headquarters.
One heavy battery	" "
One regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery (movable armament)	" "

The artillery training and practice camp at Petawawa was held during the months of June and July; and the results were satisfactory, having regard to the shortness of time available. Great keenness was displayed by all ranks, and general improvement was noticeable. The standard of efficiency attained by batteries which trained at local headquarters and only sent detachments for gun practice to Petawawa, was not quite satisfactory; the difference between them and the batteries which trained for the full period at Petawawa was very marked.

To enable them to acquire knowledge of the fire-power of artillery, a few selected officers of other arms of the service were permitted to attend the artillery practice camp at Petawawa.

The general report on gun practice, including general and detailed criticisms by Commandants of the Royal Schools of Artillery, has been published in pamphlet form and issued to all concerned.

Coast Defence.—Units carried out gun practice at Halifax or Esquimalt as below, in addition to training at local headquarters:—

Halifax.—Two regiments, Canadian Garrison Artillery (7 days).

Esquimalt.—One regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery (5 days).

Specialists received one week's additional training, and derived much benefit therefrom; although in some cases the full number authorized did not attend.

Siege Artillery.—The two siege companies carried out training and gun practice at Halifax.

Engineers.

Engineer training, generally speaking, was efficiently performed; all ranks were very keen; and the practice (commoner than it used to be) of working in combination with other arms is found to be mutually advantageous.

The instructors provided by the Permanent Force performed their duties in a satisfactory manner. Their work consisted of instruction in field works, engineer drill, equitation, cable and wireless telegraphy. One instructor was allotted to each unit.

Engineer units require instruction during the winter months to enable them to turn out specialists for field training. In order that the best results may be obtained, telegraph operators, engine drivers and electricians must be proficient before going into camp; and, with that object in view, schools of instruction, conducted by the Royal Canadian Engineers, are held during the winter season.

Troops and companies trained at the undermentioned camps:—

1st Field Troop, Canadian Engineers	Petawawa.
3rd " "	Sewell.
1st (Brighton) Field Company, Canadian Engineers	Sussex.

2nd	Field Company,	Canadian Engineers	Niagara.
3rd	"	"	Petawawa.
4th	"	"	"
5th	"	"	Barriefield.
6th	"	"	North Vancouver.
7th	"	"	Petawawa.

Corps of Guides.

Detachments of two sections each were trained in the 1st, 4th, 5th and 6th Divisional Areas, and in Military Districts Nos. 11 and 13. In the 2nd Divisional Area a complete company went into camp; in Military District No. 10, a detachment of one section.

In the 4th Divisional Area a reconnaissance ride was carried out in the vicinity of lake Champlain, the period of training being completed in Farnham Camp; and in the 5th Divisional Area a reconnaissance ride took place in the Chaudière valley. With the foregoing exceptions, the whole period of training was spent in camp.

A total of 217, all ranks, including 47 officers, were trained; and, in addition, five officers attended courses of instruction or carried out duties of a special nature.

Infantry.

Rural regiments trained as usual.

In the case of city corps, the following statement shows the training they performed in camp. The number of days includes one day "marching in" and one day "marching out" and, in most cases, a Sunday.

Army Service Corps.

Army Service Corps companies trained in their respective areas.

In camp, they are required to assist in administrative (supply and transport) duties; and it is difficult, in the short time available, to fit them for the work which, as mobile field units, they would be required to perform on active service.

Medical Services.

Field ambulances trained with their respective divisions; cavalry field ambulances with their respective mounted brigades. Medical units from the 2nd and 4th Divisional Areas did particularly good work in conjunction with other troops.

The prizes offered by the Association of Officers of the Medical Services act as powerful incentives towards the attainment of efficiency.

A number of regiments failed to meet requirements so far as their stretcher bearers were concerned; but the coming season, it is hoped, will show an improvement in this respect.

Musketry.

During the season of 1913, training was carried out along the usual lines; interest in musketry has been well maintained, and the results on the whole are encouraging. By this time the necessity for preliminary instruction is generally recognized; and in the camps, as well as at regimental headquarters, conditions are improving.

Interest was stimulated by awarding individual prizes of $3 and $2 respectively to the best and second best shot in each squadron and company.

As in other years, the large percentage of recruits requiring elementary instruction prevented anything in the nature of advanced training. In most of the camps there was no range practice at distances beyond 200 yards. This is unsatisfactory; but unless the period of training is extended, and until more ranges are available, it will be hard to raise the standard of efficiency.

During the year, target practice rods have been added to the equipment, and have been found most useful in the training of recruits.

Increased target accommodation is urgently required at most of the camps of instruction—particularly at Sussex, Lévis, Niagara, London, and Calgary; and at each of the last two places the distance of the ranges from the camp entails the loss of a great deal of valuable time.

In addition to the above, more targets are required at Halifax and Montreal; while the means of transportation to the ranges at Winnipeg are so inconvenient as to discourage a large number of the local militiamen from attending.

On the other hand, shooting with gallery or ·22 ammunition is becoming increasingly popular; and the erection of armouries, affording facilities for indoor target practice, will have a good effect.

Provision has been made for 1914-15 whereby recruits in the first year of training may qualify for efficiency pay on indoor ranges. This concession, it is hoped, will increase the percentage of men exercised in musketry, a percentage which in the case of units training at local headquarters, is often far too low.

The value of landscape targets is gradually being better understood; and from their more extended use, good results may be anticipated.

During 1912-13, exclusive of the Permanent Force, 26,168 men were exercised in musketry—a total which in 1913-14 has been raised to 31,661.

Record attendances at the meetings of the Provincial and Dominion Rifle Associations go to prove that interest in rifle shooting is increasing.

Sixty-two rifle associations (military and civilian) were organized during the year, and 78 were disbanded—a decrease of 16; but there has been an increase in membership of 308. The figures for March 31, 1914, were:—

Rifle Associations.	Number.	Membership.
Military	166	24,903
Civilian	417	23,884
Total	583	48,787

Signalling.

At the annual camps the Canadian Signal Corps, with few exceptions, proved its value, not only by providing means of inter-communication but by furnishing assistant instructors for the Cavalry, Artillery, and Infantry.

The sections of the Canadian Signal Corps most to be commended are (in order of merit) the following:—

No. 6 Signal Company, No. 2 Section, St. John, N.B.
No. 3 Signal Company, No. 3 Section, Ottawa, Ont.
No. 11 Independent Section, Victoria, B.C.
No. 6 Signal Company, No. 4 Section, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

As to regimental signallers, good progress has been made; especially in the case of rural corps which, as regards annual inspections in signalling, are now on the same footing as city corps.

Regimental officers are taking an increased amount of interest in the subject, with the result that their signalling sections are more complete, more carefully selected, more intelligently trained; and, with the co-operation of divisional and district commanders, still further improvement may be expected.

In the Cavalry, good work has been done, the following regiments deserving special mention: 31st British Columbia Horse, 19th Alberta Dragoons, 5th Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, 30th British Columbia Horse, 4th Hussars.

In the Artillery, as a whole, there has been a marked improvement, but there are battery commanders who still exercise too little care in the selection of their signallers.

In the Infantry, the results obtained are very encouraging. The following are the regiments (arranged in order of merit) which have most distinguished themselves:—

21st Essex Fusiliers.
59th Stormont and Glengarry Regiment.
72nd Seaforth Highlanders of Canada
22nd Oxford Rifles.
77th Wentworth Regiment.
63rd Halifax Rifles.
82nd Abegweit Light Infantry.
38th Dufferin Rifles of Canada.
91st Canadian Highlanders.
13th Royal Regiment.

The following table shows by Divisional Areas and Military Districts the classification of signallers inspected during the year:—

Major H. T. Hughes, Royal Canadian Engineers.
Lieutenant A. G. Lawson, Royal Canadian Engineers.
" K. Stuart, Royal Canadian Engineers.
" F. R. Henshaw, Royal Canadian Engineers.

Officers' Long Course—

Ten officers attended at the Royal Military College the Long Course (7 months) which terminated in May, 1913, and the following received certificates:—

Captain D. C. Davis, 23rd Alberta Rangers.
Lieut. J. A. Critchley, 15th Light Horse.
" H. R. Hendy, 9th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery.
" G. L. P. Grant-Suttie, 36th Regiment.
" A. H. W. Landon, 53rd Regiment.
" G. E. Franeklyn, 66th Regiment.

Five of them have since been granted commissions in the Permanent Force.

There were three officers attending the Long Course in progress at the end of the fiscal year.

Militia Staff Course—

Twenty-one officers, all of whom had previously passed in the theoretical portion, successfully completed the practical portion of the Course in August, 1913—sixteen at the Royal Military College and five at Calgary.

Lectures in the theoretical portion of the Course were given at various centres during the winter of 1913-14. Eighty-three officers underwent instruction; seventy-two attended the examination; and forty-four passed.

Artillery Staff Course—

The Artillery Staff Course (1913), was attended by four officers of the Permanent Force and one officer of the Active (non-permanent) Militia.

One officer (of the Permanent Force) is attending the Course which is now in progress.

Preparatory Course for the Staff College—

This Course is held at the Royal Military College, Kingston, to prepare candidates for the Staff College entrance examination.

In 1913, it was attended by two officers (one of whom, Captain J. S. Brown, Royal Canadian Regiment, was admitted to the Staff College in January, 1914); and it is now being attended by two more prospective competitors—Major C. H. Hill, Royal Canadian Regiment and Captain H. C. Greer, Canadian Permanent Army Service Corps.

Refresher Course—Permanent Force—

The undermentioned officers went through this year's Refresher Course, held at the Royal Military College, Kingston, in conjunction with the Preparatory Course for the Staff College.

Major A. C. S. Hamilton-Gray, Royal Canadian Regiment.
" A. H. Powell, Permanent Staff.
" W. T. Lawless, Permanent Staff.
" D. D. Young, Royal Canadian Dragoons.
Captain F. L. Cartwright, D.S.O., Lord Strathcona's Horse, (R.C.)

Refresher Courses—Active (non-permanent) Militia—

The object of these Courses, which are held at the various Permanent Schools of Instruction, is to afford cavalry, artillery, and infantry field officers, also brigade-majors and adjutants, an opportunity of bringing themselves up to date before the opening of the camps of instruction.

Twenty-two officers availed themselves of the opportunity and attended for a period of one week.

EXAMINATIONS.

Promotion Examinations—Permanent Staff and Permanent Force.—

The examination of officers in the practical subjects required for promotion was carried out under divisional or district arrangements.

The semi-annual written examinations were held, as usual, in May and December; and forty-five candidates presented themselves for examination in one or more subjects or sub-heads.

Literary Examination—

Two candidates presented themselves for the Literary Examination, held in May, to qualify for appointment to the Permanent Force, but neither was successful.

Royal Military College Entrance Examination—

Of one hundred and fourteen competitors for the Royal Military College, King-ston, fifty suceeeded in reaching the required standard and were admitted.

STAFF TOURS, WAR GAMES, ETC.

Staff tours, war games, and tactical exercises involving the employment of troops were carried out at various times and places, much to the advantage of all concerned, under arrangements made by divisional and district commanders.

PROVISIONAL SCHOOLS.

Seventy-four Provisional Schools (as under) were held at various centres for the qualification of officers and non-commissioned officers:—

Arms and Branches.	Eastern Canada.	Western Canada.	Total.
Cavalry	2	6	8
Artillery	5	1	6
Engineers	8	1	9
Infantry	26	9	35
Army Service Corps	7		7
Army Medical Corps	6	2	8
Army Veterinary Corps	1		1
Total	55	19	74

The foregoing Schools were attended by 615 officers and 1,614 non-commissioned officers.

REGIMENTAL CLASSES.

Regimental classes were held in the several Divisional Areas and Military Districts with a view to assisting officers, non-commissioned officers and men to obtain certificates of qualification, and as "brush-up" courses.

SCHOOL OF MUSKETRY.

Courses of from two to six weeks duration were carried out by the Canadian School of Musketry at London, Ottawa, and Halifax; and voluntary classes were held at Hamilton, Brantford, Peterborough, Ottawa and Montreal.

The above courses and classes were attended by 332 officers, cadet instructors and non-commissioned officers.

SCHOOL OF SIGNALLING.

A special course in signalling was held at Petawawa during July and August. It was attended by 31 officers and non-commissioned officers of the Active Militia (permanent and non-permanent) from all parts of the Dominion. The object of the course was to train officers and non-commissioned officers as instructors, and to afford them practical opportunities of studying the work which on active service would fall to the lot of signal units (troops and companies).

One or more classes were held for the benefit of the Active Militia, at each of the following stations:—

1st Divisional Area.—London, St. Thomas, Windsor, Galt, Chatham and Walkerton, Ont.

2nd Divisional Area.—Toronto, Hamilton, Brantford, St. Catharines, Elk Lake, Barrie, Niagara Falls, Parry Sound and Owen Sound, Ont.

3rd Divisional Area.—Kingston, Ottawa, Port Hope, Peterborough, Belleville, and Lindsay, Ont.

4th Divisional Area.—Montreal, Que.

5th Divisional Area.—Quebec and St. Flavie, Que.

6th Divisional Area.—Halifax, Truro and Melvern Square, N.S.; St. John, Moncton, Florenceville, Cambellton, N.B.; Charlottetown and Little York, P.E.I.

Military District No. 10.—Winnipeg and Brandon, Man.; Port Arthur, Ont.; Regina, Saskatoon, and Prince Albert, Sask.

Military District No. 11.—Victoria, Vancouver, Vernon, Kamloops, B.C.

Military District No. 13.—Calgary, Lethbridge, and Pincher Creek, Alta.

For the benefit of cadets, classes were held at the following places:—

COURTS MARTIAL.

The number of non-commissioned officers and men tried by courts-martial during the year ending March 31, 1914, was 89.

CADET SERVICES.

NUMBER OF COMPANIES.

On April 1, 1913, the number of companies was 759 and the number of cadets 30,300, while, on March 31, 1914, the number of companies was 1,117 and the number of cadets 44,680, or an increase of 358 companies and 14,380 cadets during the year.

TEACHERS WHO HAVE QUALIFIED.

During 1913, 316 male school teachers qualified as Cadet Instructors, and, in addition, 133 took the School of Musketry certificate.

CADET SIGNALLING.

In addition to the Corps of School Cadet Instructors, who all have to qualify in elementary signalling, 27 Cadet classes were held last year, and 290 cadets obtained military signalling certificates.

MUSKETRY.

In May, 1913, six Canadian cadets went to England and shot at the Imperial Cadet Rifle Meeting, and won a number of cups and trophies, including:—

1. The Duke of Wellington's Cup.
2. Grand Aggregate.

3. Clementine Fessenden Cup and Gold Medal, won by Cadet Bradley of Quebec.
4. Bronze medallion of Lord Roberts, won by Cadet Huggins of Ottawa.
5. Bronze Medal, won by Cadet McNabb of Ottawa.

Each member of the team won a match rifle and gold medal for grand aggregate, competing against nine other teams.

During the Dominion of Canada Rifle Assocation Meeting in Ottawa, 1913, the Canadian Cadets won the Lord Roberts' Shield, defeating cadets from all parts of the British Empire. This Shield was presented by His Royal Highness The Governor General to Major-General The Honourable Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence at the annual meeting of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, in February, and, at the request of Major-General Hughes, is being kept at Government House by His Royal Highness The Governor General, for the year.

His Royal Highness at the same time also presented the medals to the two Ottawa Cadets, Huggins and McNabb, who were members of the Canadian team.

In August, 1913, ten cadets, representing the Mother Country, with two officers and a sergeant-major, visited Canada, as guests of the Dominion Government, and took part in the matches of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. They also visited Petawawa Military Camp, Niagara, and other places, as guests of the Canadian Government.

The Province of Alberta won the Governor General's Challenge Shield for the greatest number of cadets in the province, according to the school population.

PHYSICAL TRAINING.

At a special eight weeks' course at Toronto in 1913, fifty teachers qualified to become instructors of school teachers at Normal School centres, and, in addition, about 7,000 school teachers qualified for the "B" Grade, Physical Traning Certificate to instruct children in school.

ARMAMENT.

HORSE AND FIELD ARTILLERY.

Progress has been made in the provision of the necessary guns and equipment to complete the Divisional organization recommended by Sir Ian Hamilton.

A number of machine guns are under order.

SMALL ARMS.

The output of rifles and bayonets by the Ross Rifle Factory has been satisfactory.

Fourteen hundred of the ten thousand ·22 Cadet Ross Rifles ordered during the year have been completed. Nine hundred (900) were issued in lots of one hundred (100) each to the different Divisions and Districts for test and report, previous to the final approval of the pattern.

BRIGADE TELEPHONE EQUIPMENT.

After extensive tests a portable brigade telephone set has been adopted and a number ordered for the equipment of the Artillery Brigade Telephone wagons. Arrangements have also been made for the issue of portable telephone sets to all field artillery brigades and field batteries.

DOMINION ARSENAL.

Certain changes were made in the administration of the Dominion Arsenal.

The Mark VII. ammunition now being turned out is equal to the best British standard. Improvements have also been made in the manufacture of shells. A proof butt is being constructed for the testing of guns and cases up to six-inch. It is expected that the butt will be completed in the early summer.

NEW DANGER BUILDINGS.

Steps are now being taken with a view to the construction of danger buildings of the most up-to-date type.

VEHICLES AND STORES.

The customary inspection of vehicles and stores was made by the Inspector of Carriages during the year.

ENGINEER SERVICES.

GENERALLY.

In the various Divisional Areas and Military Districts, the existing drill halls, rifle ranges, camp grounds and other military properties, were repaired as far as funds allowed.

It is pointed out, however, that the funds available for maintenance and repairs are quite inadequate to keep these buildings, etc. in proper condition.

It must be realized that as the number of buildings, rifle ranges, and new works generally are added each year, a corresponding annual increase in the funds for maintenance is absolutely necessary.

DRILL HALLS.

During the fiscal year 1913-14, the construction of drill halls for the accommodation of the Canadian Militia was a larger factor in the policy of the Department of Militia and Defence than at any previous time in the history of the department.

The policy of the department was to have certain standard designs for drill halls prepared and approved, so that, according to the size and requirements of the different places at which drill halls were to be constructed, each would be dealt with on an exactly equal footing. This policy has been found to work very satisfactorily.

The types of building were designed with a view to getting the greatest possible value out of the amount voted, at the same time conforming to the best type of building in the various towns to which drill halls were allotted.

The following drill halls were constructed or under construction by the Department of Militia and Defence during the year:—

Kincardine, Ont.
Mount Forest, Ont.
Port Elgin, Ont.
Markdale, Ont.
Brampton, Ont.
Lindsay, Ont.
Norwood, Ont.
Millbrook, Ont.
Orono, Ont.
Alexandria, Ont.

RIFLE RANGES.

New rifle ranges are being built each year as rapidly as the acquisition of land for them will allow. It is evident that this becomes more difficult each year, as land increases in value in the vicinity of growing towns, and the area required for safety is now much greater owing to the increased range of modern rifles.

The following is a list of the rifle ranges constructed or repaired during the year:—

St. John, N.B.—Repairs.
Pointe-aux-Trembles, Que.—Completion of extension to range, 5 targets.
Lévis, Que.—Extension to range (600 x), 6 targets.
Three Rivers, Que.—Repairs to stop butt.

SURVEYS.

FIELD WORK.

The field work of the Survey Division was performed from April 22 to December 5, 1913 and from January 3 to March 29, 1914.

Two parties, of five men each, ran 978 miles of chained transit traverse, partly in the vicinity of Halifax and partly south of the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and Quebec, their periods of employment being equivalent to one party for 35⅝ weeks.

In the latter district two parties, of three men each, ran a total of 1,350 miles of secondary traverse, their period of employment being equivalent to one party for 51¼ weeks, and a party of two traversed 40 miles of railway in 1⅝ weeks.

In the vicinity of Quebec one level party of two men, employed for 20½ weeks, ran 580 miles of levels.

TOPOGRAPHY.

The topography, which was carried out during the summer in the Eastern Townships and along the St. Lawrence river, covered an area of 1,709 square miles. The topography of seven sheets of the regular series was completed.

Eighteen men in all were employed as topographers, viz.: two civil servants, nine non-commissioned officers and men of the Royal Engineers, five non-commissioned officers of the Royal Canadian Engineers and two temporary employees. A staff officer, with headquarters at Lennoxville, was in charge. The field sheets as completed were checked on the ground by an independent examiner, the result showing satisfactory work on the part of all topographers.

During the winter two parties, of five men each, were employed upon topography in the Halifax district, principally in mapping lakes. During their period of employment, equivalent to one party for 24 weeks, they covered an area of 310 square miles, and mapped the 249 lakes therein.

LITHOGRAPHING AND PRINTING.

The lithographing and printing plant is now running and several maps have been reproduced.

During the year nineteen sheets of the 1 inch to 1 mile series were published. In all, seventy-three sheets of the 1 inch to 1 mile series covering an area of 23,417 square miles, have now been completely surveyed. Of these, fifty-one have been published, five are in the hands of the lithographers in England, and seventeen are in course of preparation in the Survey Division. Four one-half inch to 1 mile sheets have also been published.

Twelve special maps, for use at camps of instruction and other purposes, were printed by the Survey Division, and 1,884 copies issued. Of the sheets of the regular 1 inch series, 583 were sold, and 3,698 were issued free; while of the one-half inch series, 73 were sold and 290 issued free, making for the year a total distribution of 6,528.

EXPENDITURE.

The financial statement (see Appropriation Account, Appendix A, statement No. 1, page 42) shows a total expenditure under Militia Votes for the year 1913-14 of $10,966,561.91, an increase compared with the previous year of $1,875,766, charged as follows:—

(a) Due to the completion and occupation of a larger number of new drill halls during the year than was estimated for and consequently more fuel and light bills.

(b) Larger expenditure for lodging allowances especially at Winnipeg where, owing to the sale of the barracks, many of the troops had to be provided with rented quarters

(c) Owing to a large number of new corps having been formed, there was a large increase in the printing and stationery bills.

APPENDIX B.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR GENERAL OF MEDICAL SERVICES.

OTTAWA, March 31, 1914.

From the Director-General, Medical Services, Canadian Militia to the Adjutant-General, Canadian Militia.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit my report upon the Medical Services for the year ending March 31, 1914.

PERMANENT ARMY MEDICAL CORPS.

Owing to the general development of medical work and organization in the Militia, the work of the Permanent Army Medical Corps, especially along scientific lines, has been, and will be, increased. The standard of sanitary efficiency demanded is high and it devolves on the Permanent Army Medical Corps to maintain that standard. The general increase in sanitary knowledge throughout the country means that the public will not be satisfied with any measures adopted to protect the health of its Militia and Cadets, while in camp, unless they are the very latest and accepted methods of sanitation. The sanitary work done in the Militia Camps has had no small effect upon producing this knowledge on the part of the general public.

The limited personnel of the Permanent Army Medical Corps has made it difficult to carry out all its duties, but, in spite of this small number, the duties have been well performed; and it is hoped that the conditions will shortly permit a large increase in the establishment of this corps.

ARMY MEDICAL CORPS.

It is regretted that circumstances have not permitted the Army Medical Corps keeping pace with the rest of the Militia as regards the establishment of new units.

The following are the Divisions short of units for mobilization:—

First Division—

One Field Ambulance.

Third Division—

Two Field Ambulances.

Fifth Division—

Two Field Ambulances and a Cavalry Field Ambulance. As far as the personnel and technical equipment is concerned these can at once be organized.

In my last report I stated that it would seem hopeless to suppose that medical units could be raised in the Fifth Divisional Area. I am glad to be able to say that there has been a great increase in interest, recently, amongst the medical profession, in this Area, in militia medical work. No. VII Field Ambulance has been reorganized with new officers, and the officers have been gazetted into the Army Medical Corps to form the detail for a new Field Ambulance at Lévis, just as soon as the same is authorized. In the Western Districts the same condition exists, officers and men, in plenty, available if only financial conditions would permit the organization of new units.

REGIMENTAL MEDICAL SERVICE.

All medical officers detailed to units, other than medical, are now first gazetted to the Army Medical Corps. This system is working well, even under the somewhat trying conditions of peace training; on mobilization its advantages would be so apparent that any existing opposition to it would at once evaporate.

EFFICIENCY AWARDS.

The Association of Officers of the Medical Services granted, from the funds received from the Department, efficiency prizes to Regimental Stretcher Bearer Sections, Cavalry Field Ambulances, Field Ambulances and to Clearing Hospitals. In spite of the apparent difficulties in arriving at a fair system of marking, the awards were made in a manner satisfactory to all. The importance of the bearing of this generous gift of the Association, on the general efficiency of the Medical Service, cannot be overestimated. A magnificent cup was given by Colonel G. Sterling Ryerson for competition amongst the Field Ambulances, it was won by XIV Field Ambulance commanded by Major Bentley, with Headquarters at Sarnia, Ont. Major E. R. Brown, 5th Regiment, "Royal Highlanders of Canada" has also given a handsome trophy for competition amongst the Regimental Stretcher Bearer Sections.

CONVENTIONS.

The Annual Meeting of the Association of Officers of the Medical Services was held, under the Presidency of Lt.-Col. J. T. Fotheringham, A.M.C., at Ottawa, in February, 1914. The annual dinner was honoured by the presence of H. R. H. The Governor General. Through the kindness of the Honourable The Minister the meeting had the privilege of being addressed by Colonel Sir William Leishman, Knt., F.R.S., K.H.P., R.A.M.C., Professor of Pathology at the Royal Army Medical College, London, on the subject so closely connected with his name and work, "Anti-typhoid Vaccination;" Sir William, also, under the auspices of the Department, addressed the medical profession of Montreal and Toronto.

I had the honour of attending the International Medical Congress held in London in August, 1913, and acted as Vice-president of the Army and Navy Section. A full report has been already submitted.

The Canadian Medical Association happened to meet at London, Ont., when the camp of the 1st Division was on, and thus the military side of medical work was brought to the notice of a very large and influential number of members of the Medical profession from all parts of Canada.

EDUCATION.

I am very pleased to report that a complete re-organization has been made in the Schools of Instruction. The following Schools have been authorized:—

(a) Central Army Medical School, Ottawa.

(b) Divisional Army Medical Schools at London, Toronto, St. Jean, Quebec, and Halifax.

(c) District Army Medical Schools at Winnipeg and Esquimalt.

For the short time this has been working, the results have been most encouraging and it is hoped that the custom of attending Schools of Instruction to qualify, instead of using-up time at camps, will find more favour with the medical officer in the future than it has done in the past.

Examination for promotion to the ranks of major and lieut-colonel have been carried out by papers issued from the Central Medical School, the high standard has been maintained, and the popularity of this method of examination is evident.

VOLUNTARY AID AND MEDICAL RESERVE.

The scheme for the development, from civil sources, of a system of Voluntary Aid to the Militia Medical organization has now been adopted. It is hoped that Voluntary Aid Centres, both male and female, will be established throughout the country through the agency of such organizations as the St. John Ambulance Association, the St. John Ambulance Brigade and the Canadian Red Cross Society.

It is hoped that a strong Medical Reserve will be built up from the men of the St. John Ambulance Brigade who are now being trained in considerable numbers, along the lines required for service in the hospitals of the lines of communication and with the mobile field medical units.

LABORATORIES.

Divisional Laboratories of Hygiene have been established at Halifax and Kingston, good work is being accomplished at both of them. The reports of the Central Laboratory and of the Divisional ones are attached.

As well as the above a very serviceable laboratory has been organized at Petawawa.

MANŒUVRES.

I was accorded the privilege of attending the Medical Manoeuvres at Aldershot, England, in August, and the Army Exercises in September. My reports on these have already been submitted.

DUTY IN ENGLAND.

I was, when not on manœuvres, on duty at the War Office, where I was able to study many questions of medical administration and especially questions dealing with the training, etc., of the Territorial Force, and the organization of voluntary medical aid. I have already submitted many recommendations as a result of my opportunities.

HEALTH OF THE TROOPS.

The health of the Active Militia (non-permanent) while in camps has been excellent. The returns show a marked decrease in all sickness in almost every camp. That of the Permanent Force has also been good, as will be seen by the following statements:—

APPENDIX C.

REPORT OF THE COMMANDANT OF THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

KINGSTON, ONT., June 25, 1914.

From the Commandant, Royal Military College, to the Secretary Militia Council, Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to report as follows on the result of the past College year:—

STRENGTH.

There were 129 Cadets at the College at the beginning of the year.

Four casualties have occurred:—One Cadet was removed for misconduct, one was discharged as medically unfit, one left at the request of his parents, and one, I deeply regret to say, was killed by an accident. This leaves a total at the College now of 125.

By the death by accident of Gentleman Cadet G. S. Fry, on March 20, last, a young life was cut off which was greatly respected and loved by all those who knew him, I take this opportunity of again expressing the deep sympathy of the whole College with his family.

DISCIPLINE.

With one individual exception the conduct and discipline of the Cadets has been highly satisfactory. I am much pleased with their general tone and the assistance which they all, and the 1st Class in particular, have given me and the rest of the Staff in maintaining the high standard of the College.

HEALTH.

The health of the Cadets has been very good. There have been only six cases of infectious disease, viz., five chicken pox and one measles.

STAFF.

Colonel Crowe, the late Commandant, left the College on July 2, 1913, at the expiration of his term of service. I succeeded him as Commandant on December 12, 1913, Lieut.-Col. T. Birchall Wood having acted as Commandant during the interval.

At the close of this term, I regret to say, the College will lose the specially valuable services as Professor of Survey, of Major A. J. Wolff, R.E. the period of his appointment having expired.

BUILDINGS.

During the past College year a new Gun and Model Shed has been taken into use; and the old Gun Shed has been removed, to the great improvement of the College. The new Dormitory has been completed except the furnishings, and some minor fittings; these are now in hand and it is hoped it will be occupied next term.

The building of the new Drill Hall is to begin shortly.

VISITORS.

On June 2nd last the College was honoured by a visit by His Royal Highness the Governor-General, who was accompanied by Their Royal Highnesses the Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia.

The Minister of Militia, with General Sir Ian Hamilton, visited the College on Diploma Day last year and gave away the prizes.

SPORT.

In the cricket week last year the Cadets were successful in all matches.

The College entered last year the Senior League of the Intercollegiate Football and were successful in two games.

The College again won the championship of the Intermediate Hockey Series.

Gentleman Cadet Morris was first home in the Harrier Intercollegiate Meeting.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.

Of the 89 candidates who competed at the Entrance Examination this year 56 qualified.

The number that can be admitted has not yet been decided.

COMMISSIONS.

The following will be recommended for commissions:—

Imperial Commissions—

Gentleman Cadet, C. V. Strong, Royal Engineers.
" C. W. A. Barwis, Indian Army.

Canadian Permanent Force Commissions—

Gentleman Cadet, J. F. Preston, Royal Canadian Artillery.
" J. H. Roberts, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

APPENDIX D.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF VISITORS, ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

OTTAWA, May 26, 1914.

From the Adjutant-General, Canadian Militia, to the Secretary, Militia Council, Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to forward herewith the Report of the Meetings of the Board of Visitors, Royal Military College, held at Kingston, Ont., on the 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th April last.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,

VICTOR A. S. WILLIAMS, Colonel, Adjutant-General, Chairman, Board of Visitors.

REPORT.

The Board held a preliminary meeting at 4.00 p.m. on the 27th March, 1914, and assembled at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., at 9.30 a.m. on the 28th idem and following days.

PRESENT.

Chairman.—Colonel V. A. S. Williams, A.D.C., Adjutant-General.

Members.—The Right Reverend C. L. Worrell, Bishop of Nova Scotia; Honorary Colonel J. A. M. Aikins, M.P., 99th Manitoba Rangers; Major R. W. Leonard, Corps of Guides.

Secretary.—Colonel J. S. Dunbar, Assistant Adjutant-General, Militia Headquarters.

Colonel W. G. Gwatkin, Chief of the General Staff, and Major G. B. Hughes, 50th Regiment Highlanders, were unavoidably unable to attend and Lieutenant-Colonels Ernest F. Wurtele, Commanding the 19th Infantry Brigade, H. J. Lamb, Corps of Guides, and Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel, the Reverend Canon Dauth, were absent on account of illness.

The Board inspected the buildings and grounds and enquired into the several departments of the institution and beg to report as follows:—

INSTRUCTIONAL STAFF.

Colonel L. R. Carleton, D.S.O., the Essex Regiment, succeeded Colonel J. H. V. Crowe as Commandant.

The Commandant reported that the following changes had been made in the Staff of the College during the past year: Captain S. A. Thompson, Northamptonshire Regiment, and Captain P. A. Meldon, Royal Artillery, replaced Major J. P

Shine, Royal Marine Light Infantry, and Major F. R. Sedgwick, Royal Artillery, respectively, as Professors of Military Topography, and Tactics;

Mr. W. L. Mulloy was appointed Assistant Instructor in English Literature;

Lieutenant-Colonel T. B. Wood, General Staff, was replaced by Captain C. A Kerr, Royal Artillery, and Captain V. E. Gwyer, 10th Jhats, Indian Army, succeeded Major Gardiner who returned to India at the conclusion of his year of deputation.

The Commandant stated that the Officers' Classes were:—

(a) One candidate prepared for the Staff College;

(b) 16 Officers attended the Practical Portion of the Militia Staff Course in August, all of whom qualified;

(c) 10 Officers attended the Long Course;

(d) 5 Officers attended the Refresher Course;

(e) 3 Officers attending the present Long Course;

(f) 2 Officers attending the present Staff College Course.

The Board for the third time again strongly urge that a second Instructor in Mathematics and in French be appointed before next term.

SUBORDINATE STAFF.

The Commandant reported that the Subordinate Staff continued to give satisfaction but that an extra clerk was required for the departments of the Paymaster and Quartermaster, owing to the larger number of cadets and to other causes. The Board recommend that one more be detailed to the College.

ATTENDANCE.

One hundred and twenty-five Gentleman Cadets were in attendance at the date of the Board's visit.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

Of the 114 candidates who competed at the last Entrance Examinations, 50 were successful and were admitted to the College. Eighty-eight have applied to undergo the examinations this year.

The Commandant considers that the educational qualifying standard for admission to the College is too low. The Board concur in his suggestion that the minimum of marks in the obligatory subjects be raised from 33 per cent to 50 per cent.

Representations have been made to the Board complaining of sudden changes in the syllabus and text books. The Board recommend that, as long a notice as possible should be given in future.

Representations have also been made to the Board concerning the announcements of the results of the Entrance Examinations, and the Board recommend that information concerning the results be mailed to all the colleges concerned concurrently with the notice to the Press.

The Board recommend for consideration the suggestion made by some colleges that, to suit their teaching and examination terms, the date of the Entrance Examinations should be changed from May to June.

The Board also recommend that great care be taken concerning strict compliance with the physical standard for entrance.

SYLLABUS OF INSTRUCTION.

In order that the College should keep abreast of the standards and requirements of the universities, the Board consider that it is advisable that an educationist from one of the universities, who would keep in constant touch with the Commandant throughout the year, be appointed a member of the Board of Visitors and respectfully suggest that one be selected from Queen's University.

The Commandant considered that a mistaken endeavour to specialize in Artillery (especially Garrison Artillery) and Military Engineering had been made at the cost of inadequate grounding in the Tactics of all arms and in Musketry, and stated that arrangements had been made to effect a change while still giving a good, practical course in Artillery and Military Engineering. The Board concur in this principle.

COURSE OF STUDIES.

The Commandant reported that the hours devoted to Military, Civil and Practical Subjects during the past year were as follows:—

Military—

*Tactics	70½
*Military Engineering	242
*Military History	41
*Artillery (including practical)	186
*Reconnaissance	80
*Field Sketching and Map Reading	140½
*Military Administration and Law	49

Civil—

Mathematics	675
Civil Engineering	393½
*Surveying	329½
Physics	184½
Chemistry	107
*English	171½
French	258½
Draughting	8
*Geometrical Drawing	99

Practical—

Infantry	164½
Gymnastics	266
Musketry	62
Signalling	42
Stables and Equitation	215
Workshops	43

* In these subjects the professors concerned correct their own examination papers.

COMMISSIONS.

Six commissions in the Imperial Army and four in the Permanent Force were given to last year's graduates.

PERSONNEL.

Part of the first class were seen mounted, the second class at artillery drill in the new gun shed and the third class at work in the gymnasium. The following medical statistics show the average increase by classes since the last visit of the Board of Visitors:—

First Class.—No. in class, 38—

Average age, 20 years 6 months.
Height, 1/11-inch.
Weight, 7 lbs.
Chest, ⅜-inch.
Fore Arm, ⅜-inch.
Upper Arm, ⅜-inch.

Second Class.—No. in Class, 34—

Average age, 20 years 1 month.
Height, 1/11-inch.
Weight, 6 lbs.
Chest, ⅜-inch.
Fore Arm, ½ inch.
Upper Arm, ½ inch.

Third Class.—No. in Class, 53—

Average age, 18 years 6 months.
Height, ¼-inch.
Weight, 8¾ lbs.
Chest, 2½ inches.
Fore Arm, 1 inch.
Upper Arm, 1¼ inches.

EQUITATION.

The Board strongly urge that the recommendations of the Boards of the past three years that a covered riding school be built within the College grounds be acted upon. In winter, the Cadets lose a great deal of training in riding owing to the want of one.

DISCIPLINE.

The Commandant reported that while the discipline of the Cadets had been generally good, he had considered it necessary to make certain changes in the character development, system of discipline and training of the Cadets. These were explained to the members of the Board, who declared that they were in full accord with them, they being according to the latest British principles and in the best interests of the College.

MESSING.

Although it was understood that the messing arrangements were completely worked by the Canadian Permanent Army Service Corps, it was ascertained on enquiry that this unit's present duties consisted solely of keeping the accounts in connection with the supplies furnished to the College and not in having the requisitions filled by the contractors and in inspecting the quality and quantity ordered in proportion to the number of Cadets to be fed. Complaints were made by some of the senior Cadets that at times the quantity of food was insufficient and the quality poor. The Board therefore recommend that the messing arrangements in connection with the College be made by the Canadian Permanent Army Service Corps in the same manner as is done by it with units of the Permanent Force.

CLOTHING.

The Commandant reported that there had been delay again this year in the supply of the Cadets' clothing, chiefly that of the recruits, and that he had reason to find fault with some of the fitting and workmanship. Complaints were also made by some of the Cadets that while the tan boots issued from Stores were good, the black boots were unsatisfactory and did not wear well. The Board were pleased to learn that the khaki uniform was to be done away with and recommend that the tendency should be towards simplifying the uniforms so as to avoid an increase in expenditure to the Cadets.

The Board further recommend that the former system of keeping a stock of clothing, boots and gloves in the Quartermasters' Stores be revived

MUSKETRY.

The Cadets are still without an outdoor rifle range and the Board recommend that one be built within the College grounds. Very good work was again done on the miniature rifle range. The Commandant reported that the classification of musketry for 1913-14 was as follows:—

CLASSIFICATION OF MUSKETRY.—TRAINED SOLDIERS COURSES.

Company Classification.

Class.	Marksmen.	First Class Shots.	Second Class Shots.	Figure of Merit.	Number in Company.	Number fully Exercised.	Percentage of Points Obtained.	Best Shot in Company.
B	5	3	9	148·8	17	17	66·1	No. 929, Sgt. Barwis.
A	3	6	10	148·2	19	19	65·8	No. 905, Sgt. Fessenden.
D	2	5	13	139·2	20	20	61·8	No. 957, Gentleman Cadet Clarke.
C	2	3	13	136·4	18	18	60·6	No. 916, Sgt. Cronyn.

Class Classification.

Company.	Marksmen.	First Class Shots.	Second Class Shots.	Figure of Merit.	Number in Company.	Number fully Exercised.	Percentage of Points Obtained.	Best Shot in Class.
1st.	6	10	24	145·1	40	40	64·5	No. 905, Sgt. Fessenden.
2nd	6	7	21	140·6	34	34	62·5	No. 975, Gentleman Cadet Cook.

Best shot in R.M.C., No. 905, Sgt. Fessenden.

HEALTH AND SANITATION.

The health of the Cadets during the past year was reported as having been good.

The two Forbes Sterilizing Plants, which were installed last year in the Educational and old Dormitory buildings give satisfaction. It is regretted that the recommendation of the Board last year that a similar plant be installed in the new dormitory building has not been acted upon.

Although last year's Board drew particular attention to the unsatisfactory and inadequate ventilation of the class rooms during the winter months, nothing whatever has been done to remedy matters. Owing to all the class rooms being over-crowded, it is most important that something be done in this regard before next term.

The lavatories and bath-rooms were clean and in good order.

HOSPITAL.

The hospital was inspected and found to be in a satisfactory condition and fully equipped.

WORKSHOP.

The workshop was found to be up to date and in good order.

KITCHENS.

The kitchens and pantries were neat and well kept. One of the ranges, however, requires to be repaired if not renewed. The new steam cooking apparatus recently installed was reported to be very satisfactory.

LIBRARY.

Owing to its being so cramped, the library is not patronized as much as it should be. The Board regret that the recommendations of previous Boards that it be enlarged have not been acted upon.

HOLIDAYS.

The holidays are the same as in former years, viz.: 2 weeks at Christmas, four days at Easter and a little over 2 months in summer.

RECREATION.

The College again did well in the athletic competitions for which it entered, having won the Intercollegiate Hockey Championship and all its cricket matches but one. The want of suitable row boats is still apparent.

LANDS AND GROUNDS.

The renewal of the sidewalks is a marked improvement, but it was noted by the Board that some of the concrete walks appeared to be of poor quality as they were not wearing well.

The Tennis Courts were in good order for the season of the year and the additional Football ground will be much appreciated.

The appearance of the grounds generally is much enhanced by the removal of the old Gun and Model Shed.

The grounds near the new stables and grooms' quarters were tidy and well kept.

GUN SHED.

The new Gun and Model Shed, which has just been completed, is a great improvement.

ACCOMMODATION.

The new Dormitory Building, which is now almost ready for occupation, was found to be commodious and up to date in every particular.

For the fifth year in succession, the Board cannot urge too strongly that increased accommodation in the Educational Building be provided without delay. The following buildings are most urgently needed and without them, the good work of the College is being hindered to a very great extent:—

(a) Quarters for the six additional Subordinate Staff who will be required when the new Dormitory is occupied in September.

(b) Extension of the Educational Building (to include more class rooms, Laboratory, Lecture Hall, Ante-Room, Mess Room, Library, Staff Reading Room, etc.).

(c) Officers' Quarters.

(d) Riding School.

(e) Renovation of the interior of the present Educational Building and of the old Dormitory.

(f) Quarters for the Riding Master.

PENSIONS FOR CIVIL STAFF.

The Board can only regret that nothing has been done on the recommendations of previous Boards that provision be made for a retiring allowance for members of the Civil Staff. They, therefore, recommend that these gentlemen be appointed in future for one year or for a short term of years and not indefinitely as at present. This course of annual employment being that followed effectively in high schools, collegiate institutes and universities.

The Board also regret that the Pension Act of 1901 has so far not been amended so as to provide that the time spent at the College by Cadets shall count towards pension should they become officers of the Permanent Staff or Permanent Force of Canada.

REGULATIONS.

The Board suggest that the syllabus of subjects for the Entrance Examinations be included in the Regulations for the Royal Military College, as an appendix.

VISITORS.

The College was visited during the year by the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence and by General Sir I. S. M. Hamilton, G.C.B., D.S.O., Inspector General of the Oversea Forces.

The Chairman and Members of the Board desire to express their thanks to the Commandant and the Staff Adjutant for their kind assistance during their visit to the College

APPENDIX E.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT, DOMINION ARSENAL.

QUEBEC, October 27, 1914.

To the Secretary Militia Council,

SIR,—I have the honour to submit the following report upon the Dominion Arsenal for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914.

CHANGE IN ADMINISTRATION.

On August 15, Colonel Gaudet was granted leave of absence, pending retirement, and I was instructed to act as Superintendent. On October 15, 1914, Colonel Gaudet was retired upon pension, and I was appointed Superintendent.

On September 8, 1913, Major A. de L. Panet, C.O.C., vacated the appointment of Assistant Superintendent and was returned to duty, and Major S. S. Weatherbie, C.O.C., appointed in his stead.

APPROPRIATION ACCOUNT.

The appropriations voted by Parliament and expenditure during the year were as follows:—

Amount of appropriation for fiscal year, ended March 31, 1914	$ 300,000 00
Supplementary appropriation	60,000 00
Amount refunded as per balance sheet (p. 77)	1,175 91
Total	$ 361,175 91
Amount of expenditure for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1914, as per balance sheet (p. 77)	$ 359,685 49
Amount in Treasury to credit of appropriation on March 31, 1914.	1,490 42
Total	$ 361,175 91

EMPLOYEES AND PAY-ROLL.

The average number of employees for the year was 303. The total amount of expenditure on salaries and wages was $171,767.11.

AUDIT OF BOOKS.

An audit of the books and examination of public property on charge was completed by Lt.-Col. E. F. Würtele, Chartered Accountant, on July 11, 1913.

A Board of Officers was appointed to make a transfer of all Arsenal properties, equipment and stores, at the time of the change of Administration. The report of this Board was forwarded to Headquarters on August 16.

APPENDIX F.

REPORT OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL.

OTTAWA, February 2, 1914.

From the Inspector-General Canadian Militia, to the Secretary, Militia Council.

SIR,—In reporting upon the Militia for the year ending December 31, 1913, little remains to be said, as the voluminous and comprehensive report of the Inspector General of the Oversea Forces covers the entire general situation.

There are, however, points to be touched on which may impress themselves on the attention of the Honourable the Minister of Militia, and the Militia Council.

THE PERMANENT CORPS.

Generally.

The reduction of the Establishment of the Corps has greatly interfered with its usefulness and almost entirely prevented its own annual training.. While all are animated with a desire to maintain the status of their several units in an efficient condition, and to prove themselves capable of imparting instruction to the Active Militia, their small numerical strength greatly interferes.

Their clothing and personal equipment should be most complete and correct, and a larger margin of reserve held on regimental charge.

New Dress Regulations are urgently needed.

Whenever the Permanent Corps have been called on to afford instruction and instructors, the greatest satisfaction has been given.

Barracks.

The barrack accommodation in many places is unsuitable and obselete.

Stanley Barracks, Toronto, while yet occupied, has been given over to the Exhibition authorities and is embraced in their grounds. Until new barracks are ready, the troops could be transferred to London, Ont.

The Tête-du-pont Barracks, Kingston, is beyond further repair, and is unfit for occupation.

The same may be said of the St. Louis Barracks, Quebec. The company of the Royal Canadian Regiment stationed there, might with advantage be sent to rejoin the Regiment at Halifax, particularly as the number of officers and non-commissioned officers joining for instruction at this Station, is small.

In the Royal Canadian Regiment changes of Station of the companies should be made periodically, and on a prepared roster.

ACTIVE (NON-PERMANENT) MILITIA.

Generally.

The efficiency and general condition of the Active Militia, remains much as heretofore, except in the case of the Artillery, Engineers, and Army Medical Corps, who have wonderfully improved. The system of administration and instruction is sound enough, but the number of recruits, year after year, prevents any permanent advance.

Some remedy must be sought, and I desire to suggest that the lax method of enrolment is primarily to blame. Officers responsible for the enlistment and enrolment, should be impressed with the necessity of fully explaining to their men the conditions involved and the obligations undertaken on enlistment. In the Cavalry and Infantry, the supervision of commanding officers and majors, would be of direct advantage, and these officers should be given to understand that it is expected of them. In the Infantry as in the Cavalry, the companies should be treated as the units.

To further aid in the inducements to enroll in the Militia, I strongly urge that local inexpensive armouries be provided at company headquarters. Renting a mere shelter for the arms is insufficient. A good armoury would provide a comfortable meeting place for the men, and give them a permanent interest in their corps. Provision should also be made in armouries for Mobilization stores.

The Militia is enlisted in many scattered localities, consequently the people never see the unit in which they are interested. To remedy this, I suggest that infantry regiments train at local headquarters every third year. In all probability a rifle range can be obtained, so that the all-important musketry training could be carried out. It may be advanced that the instruction imparted would not be as complete as if attending a large camp. Possibly this may be so, but the general welfare of the force would be promoted amongst those whose good-will it is most important to have.

The personal equipment of the troops requires early attention. All troops going into camps of instruction should have with them a complete equipment. The "Oliver" equipment already issued to the Infantry, with some modifications can be made most satisfactory. For the alterations necessary the equipment should be returned to Stores and re-issued, or proper artificers sent to regimental headquarters.

Officers.

All officers should realize more than they do the responsibility assumed by them in accepting commissions. They should make it a point to attend at the Royal Schools of Instruction maintained for the purpose.

Commanding officers would much advance the efficiency and standing of their corps, if care is exercised in the selection of officers in the first place. A distribution to commanding officers of the blank Forms on which reports to Divisions and Headquarters are made, would enable officers to realize what is expected of them.

City Corps (Infantry).

The City Corps training in the evenings for many days in the year, maintain a fairly high proficiency, but their knowledge of camp life and tactical exercises is necessarily limited.

The five days advanced training in Camp, inaugurated for them three years ago, is now appreciated and understood. The larger number attending every year is a satisfactory indication of the benefits derived.

CADETS.

The increase in the number of cadets enrolled is very gratifying, signifying as it does the approval of the movement and the sympathy of the parents. The direct result in the increase of the Militia from this source, cannot be felt for a few years yet, but it will come and will be of a decided advantage. At the Cadet Camp at Niagara, the improvement over the previous and first year was most marked. A rather advanced tactical exercise was carried out with surprising intelligence. As an early military training it will not be forgotten.

TRAINING GROUNDS.

With the exception of Petawawa, and possibly Aldershot, the training grounds are entirely too limited. After camping space is provided, little or nothing remains for drill and tactical exercises.

MOBILIZATION.

A scheme governing the mobilization of the militia force has been prepared and issued to those concerned.

While this scheme is comprehensive, it would be of much value and interest were it applied to a selected portion of the troops, thus affording a test and demonstration of its practical application.

That expense would be involved is, of course, to be understood. For a test, the mobilization of a brigade of infantry might be ordered, or, if still greater economy is desired, one regiment. Such mobilization of a selected unit could form part of the annual training, and take place at that period. Such selected unit to be given sixteen days' drill pay, as they would be under arms for fully that period.

Were this carried out, many shortcomings would be manifested, affording a valuable lesson to the brigadier and the regimental staff, as well as the company commanders.

For a succeeding year a squadron of cavalry might be selected.

TRANSPORT.

Naturally following on mobilization is the question of transport by rail, water, and road.

The transport of the troops and stores in the event of active service conditions in the Country, would be of great difficulty, as the movement must necessarily be of an Easterly and Westerly direction by rail, along our entire frontier. This frontier is much exposed. The entire transport west of Montreal is dependent on a coal supply coming entirely from a foreign country. On a previous industrial dispute, the central portion of Canada was entirely cut off from its normal supply. Railways were left in a precarious condition, and had the mine conditions lasted two days longer, some trains would have been cancelled.

Consideration should be given this, and the question of large military coal depots receive attention. A turn over in this coal could be had by selling at market price to the general public.

Our Ordnance Stores, ammunition and supplies are at present concentrated in large centres, and even now in time of peace, moved with difficulty. The remedy for this is, small reserves at mobilization or regimental headquarters.

DIVISIONAL AND DISTRICT STAFFS.

In the administration of the Divisions and Districts, the centralization at Headquarters tends to hamper action and prevent individual responsibility. As an instance: when Engineer Estimates have been approved and allotted, the divisional commanders might be, without detriment, permitted to dispose of detail expenditure.

SIGNALLING.

Signalling has much improved and certain selected units are very efficient. It is regretted, however, that three or four units of the Permanent Force, are reported to be "Very Bad."

SUMMARY.

Attached is a classification of units and percentages trained in 1913.

The shortage of men trained was undoubtedly due to the economic conditions of the Country, and the difficulty of labour keeping pace with productioin.

In rural units, county limits should be adhered to, and absentee officers placed on the Reserve.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,

W. H. COTTON, Major-General,
Inspector-General.
